Alfred University

The H. M. S. Pinafore, or The Captain and the Carpenter, a comic opera in two acts by Gilbert and Sullivan, presented at Fireman's Hall last Thursday evening by the University chorus under the direction of Roy. Winthrop Wingate, proved itself as one of the most unique presentations of the year, and was heartily enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience.

The raise of the curtain showed the deck of H. M. S. Pinafore. The captain was in a mournful mood because his daughter did not favor his plan to marry her to Sir Joseph Porter. The young lady was in love with an ordinary seaman. Soon afterward she met Ralph who tells her of his love but is haughtily repulsed. The sailor, in desperation, threatened to shoot himself, and Josephine then confesses that she cares for him. Their plans go ashore and he married were overheard by Dick Deadeye, a comedy villain, who threatened to prevent their elopement.

In the second act Little Buttercup, the humboat woman, naively revealed her affection for the captain, but he told her that he could only be her friend. This angered her, and she prophesied a change in his fortunes. Sir Joseph on entering complained to the captain that Josephine had disappointed him. The captain stated that in all probability his daughter was dazzled by the station of her suitor, and suggested that he head his cause on the ground that love levelled all rank. Sir Joseph, in accepting the suggestion, only strengthened his rival's cause, as Josephine became more firmly resolved to wed Ralph. Dick Deadeye now revealed the elopement, and the couple were stopped as they were planning to leave the ship.

Ralph confessed his love, which so angered the Captain that he swears a hearty oath. Sir Joseph overheard him, and ordered him to the cabin, but after being told the cause of the excitement, ordered Ralph also to be confined. Little Buttercup then states how the captain and Ralph were accidentally interchanged when they were infants. Ralph was given command of the ship, and the captain automatically relegated to the sphere of a common seaman. All things end happily, for the cap-

Clubs Not Immune

The Syracuse Post-Standard of recent date announced that the Police Commissioner of that city had ruled that private clubs are no more immune from police raids than saloons or other places of business, and that the clubs of the city had been so notified. The ruling was given out as the result of a raid on a German Turn Verein Hall in that city and every club which has in the past maintained a bar in Syracuse has been notified that a search may be expected at any time.

KEEP YOUNG

People with bad backs and weak kidneys are apt to feel old at sixty. Many old folks say Doan's Kidney Pills help them keep young. Here's an Andover case:

Mrs. Samuel Coats, says: "I was all run-down and suffered from kidney trouble. Often my back pained so badly in the morning I couldn't take any comfort until I got out of bed. Then when I got up my back was so lame it made me feel miserable. I was so nervous I could fly and I suffered from severe headaches. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and three boxes from the Brundage Drug Co. gave me great relief. (Statement given October 15, 1916)

On August 3, 1919, Mrs. Coats said: "I have felt well and strong and my kidneys have been in good condition ever since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble some years ago. Doan's are certainly a reliable kidney and bladder medicine and I most heartily recommend them"

MR. GLOOM KNEW

"Musicians are badly underpaid," earned the wild-haired man, "I play trombone in a jazz orchestra, and what do you suppose my salary is? Have you any idea what an expert jazz trombonist should get?" "Oh, yes," replied J. Fuller Gloom. "The wages of sin are death."
