MRS. CHARLES CHURCH

Mary McKey Church was born in Almond fifty-two years ago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McKey. She was united in marriage to Charles Church of Andover in 1885, and died at the Jones Memorial Hospital in Wellsville, Tuesday morning, July 12th, 1921, following an operation performed the day previous for the removal of gall stones. Mrs. Church had been in ill health some years, but the disease had reached an acute stage but a short time ago.

liately and the commotion was immediately noticed until some into the water but the fact that an overturned toboggan was in the water is pretty good evidence that he went down in the usual way.

The water is not deep where the toboggans strike, possibly a little over five feet, and it is quite likely that the Thorne struck the surface that he swallowed considerable water, causing him to strangle. In the confusion he floundered into deeper water instead of going shoreward. There were a number of people in the water nearby and on the shore, but as so often happens, no one fully sealizes that a person is drowning until it is too late.

The body was removed to the Grieve & Esten undertaking rooms and latter to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hervey S. Thorne, of Andows.

as published this week in his paper as follows:

"George Raymond Thorne of Andover was drowned in Silver Lake Saturday morning, at the Otto bathing beach. He came to the lake to attend the Epworth League Institute and was a member of a party headed by Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Andover, occupying a cottage on the Assembly grounds, near the M. J. Rershaw cottage.

"The chutes along the lake front are always an attractive place for bathers and young Thorne went to the Chts."

Raymond was an only child of Me and Mrs. Hervey S. Thorne, who have the sympathy of the entire communication.

A FREAK POTATO

A FREAK POTATO

Ralph Kemp brought to the News a freak in the potato line the first of the week. It was a potato which had been planted but which had put forth no stalks, but had developed three small potatoes, without any signs of growth above the ground. Three perfect potatoes were attached to the seed potato, growing finely and would undoubtedly have grown to good sized tubers had they been left in the ground.

The potato was taken from a field of potatoes planted by Harry Kemp.
