

Time Has Changed Methods IN Money Matters

Not so many years ago, men carried long wallets and in many instances considerable cash, or kept money hidden in their homes at much risk of loss. Styles in pocket books have changed.

To-day, men careful with their money, keep their working capital and surplus funds in the bank, subject to their personal check, so that it will be safe and at the same time instantly available for use. They carry a bank check book in place of the long wallet, which plan has decided advantages in addition to safeguarding their funds.

POPPIES OF FLANDERS ENDANGER FARMS HERE

Boston, July 11.—The poppies that grow in Flanders' fields, dear to thousands of mothers, sisters, fathers and wives whose loved ones sleep beneath them, are a source of danger in so far as agriculture is concerned, according to Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Massachusetts commissioner of agriculture, who "views with alarm" the practice of importing seeds and plants here for sentimental reasons.

The only reason the poppies were ever allowed to grow in Flanders' fields, according to Gilbert, is because their growth got beyond the control of the authorities there. The plant is not cultivated for its beauty or cherished for its sentiment, he said. He fears losses in the agricultural sections will result if the importation of the poppy goes on.

WOMAN NEARLY LOSES HER LIFE

Canaseraga, July 18.—Mrs. Archie Gemmel came very near losing her life while learning to swim at the electric light dam. She was holding on to a log when she slipped off into the water, the log holding her under the water. Mr. Swart who runs the plant and who is an expert swimmer, rescued her after making two attempts at diving. The water is over forty feet deep at the point where she fell in and it was a narrow escape from drowning.

Little Girl Would Have Had Sweet Revenge if She Had Reached That Toupee

A prominent Vigo county business man wears a toupee. Only his family and closest friends know. But recently it almost became a public fact. He was dining with his wife and some friends at a large hotel, when an walked another friend with his four-year-old daughter. The business man likes to tease children, so he immediately began on this one. He called her a little boy, and persisted in addressing her in that way.

It was evident she was not enjoying the incident, and the Vigo county man's wife came to the child's rescue. "If he doesn't stop calling you names I'll pull his hair, if I were you," she advised.

The little girl started to follow that advice, and then fun did begin. The way that man ducked and begged the "poppies" to leave, threw the crowd into a state of confusion.

Scoundrels and Sights

"That motion picture theater has beautiful music."
"Yes," rejoined Miss Cayenne. "At present we listen to the picture and look at the musical notes."

IN THESE GOOD OLD TIMES!

One Will No Longer Wonder Why Our Forefathers Gladly Entered into Bonds of Matrimony.

I have lately been shown (writes a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian) the first account book of a couple who set up housekeeping nearly fifty years ago. Many of the entries are interesting reading now, and certain items especially are warranted to make the modern housekeeper's outh water. The first servant's wages for instance, were £3 (£40) a year—a servant, too, I was given to understand, who did all the washing, plain cooking and evidently had none of her successors' objection to children, for in due course she added to her duties that of pushing the baby carriage out every afternoon. It is worthy of note that the bedroom for this treasure was furnished entirely at a cost of £2 10s (£12.50). Food prices, unfortunately, cannot be readily compared with those of today, as provisions were entered simply as "grocer, butcher, etc." But what should we feel now, I wonder, on receiving a (winter) quarter's gas bill amounting to $8 4d ($2.38). It is interesting to see that butcher's meat bulked far more largely in proportion than it would in household books today, after the frugal years of war, and that the young couple considered food of another sort worth paying for is shown by the entry: "Two tickets for concert (Patti and Sims Reeves), £1 10s ($7.50).
