South Hill

The weather is quite a reminder of fall. Leo Moran and Mike Lynch drove over the hill Monday soliciting for the Harvest Home dinner.

The attendance at the Wellsville Fair from this section was light, as it was a busy week for farmers.

Howard Healey, of Wellsville, and Francis Coyle, of Scio, are spending a few days at the home of Wm. Dean.

Mrs. Jim Dean and children were guests of Mrs. Margaret Garvin of Andover, from Saturday until Monday.

Clarence Briggs, of Fulmer Valley, is doing some pumping on the Atwood lease for Frank Holmes, who is now recovering nicely from his recent injuries.

Miss May Dean came home from Lorain, Ohio, Monday night for a vacation visit with her parents and friends. Miss Anna O'Leary accompanied her from Dunkirk for her annual vacation in Andover and vicinity.

The families of P. A., Wm. and John Dean attended the Baker-Dean wedding in Wellsville Wednesday.

Messrs. Traak, of Fulmer Valley, are harvesting Arthur-Mingus' oat crop.

Next in order is the annual Harvest Home in Andover Thursday.

A "Sand-Bow"

The unusual optical phenomenon of a rainbow produced by the sun shining not on rain-drops, but on particles of sand suspended in the air by wind, was witnessed over a part of the Great Salt Lake by some surveying parties. The colors were very brilliant, and there was a secondary bow visible. The main bow was fully double the width of an ordinary rainbow. Only a segment of it was seen. The sand was coarse, consisting of calcareous spherules of fairly uniform size, ranging between the limits of No. 8 and No. 10 shot, which are polished and exhibit a pearly luster. It is pointed out that the production of the bow must have been due to reflection from the outer surfaces of the spherules, and cannot be explained on the rule of refraction and total reflection, generally applied in the explanation of the rainbow.

Selenium a Rare Element

Selenium is a rare and little-used element described by the United States Geological Survey Department of the Interior, as having its greatest use in giving a red color to glass, such as that used in railroad signal lights and in coloring enameled ware red. It is also used to overcome the natural green color of ordinary glass. Selenium is peculiar in being a very poor conductor of electricity in the dark and a fairly good conductor in the light and is used in several electric devices whose utility depends on this peculiarity. It has been used in telephoning along a ray of light and in transmitting sounds and photographs from one place to another over a wire.

Laura Kenyon was a week-end guest of Kathleen Fitz Gerald.

Elevated Railroad for Cuba.

Why anyone in Cuba wants an elevated railroad thrusting its steel props through the palm fronds and making the tropic night hideous with shrieking and rumbling is a puzzle to an inhabitant of a northern city, but one thing is clear from an item in a Havana newspaper. Controversy has begun long before the first rivet has put the lustiest tom-tom beaters of the island to shame. The question now under discussion is: Shall state, province and municipality share the expense of construction with the traction company? Strikes, legislative inquiries and franchise suits may follow.
