LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 130.

AN ACT to repeal section three hundred and fifty-two of the vehicle and traffic law, relating to certain villages.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-two of the vehicle and traffic law, as added by chapter six hundred and twenty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby repealed.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 131.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 132.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 133.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 134.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 135.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 136.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 137.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 138.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 139.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 140.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 141.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 142.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 143.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 144.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 145.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 146.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 147.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 148.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 149.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 150.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the dedication of private streets to the public.

Became a law April 10, 1921, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section three hundred and fifty-one of the village law, as added by chapter nine hundred and nine, laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 351. Dedication of private streets to the public. Any person, firm or corporation owning a private street in a village may dedicate the same to the public use by filing with the village clerk a written notice containing a description of such street, and a statement that it is dedicated to the public use. Upon the filing of such notice the street shall become a public street and shall be deemed to be dedicated to the public use.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

JOHN J. LYONS,
Secretary of State.