LIBRARY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Andover Free Library Association will be held at the Library, building at 8 o'clock, Monday evening, Oct. 3, 1921.

JOHN E. CANNON, Pres.

If you are hoping to buy a home soon, don't assume that you must wait until winter, but investigate the real estate ads, and then you'll know.

And now that he has his own little private war in West Virginia, Uncle Sam need no longer be considered a back number. He is still along with the best of them.

The winsome maiden dreams of the time when she will marry a millionaire, and as a mature woman she longs for the day when she will no longer have to break her back over a wash-tub.

There is a vast difference between Henry Ford and the other railroad magnates of the country. Henry has taught them how to reduce freight rates without reducing their net income, but they persistently refuse to be taught.

A good way to start business to buying again in this country is for every man to pull the strings to his money bags. There can be no appreciable resumption to business without plenty of money in circulation, and money cannot circulate while it is locked up.

The Classified Ads will help you to rent it if it's rentable, and to sell it if it's salable.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Mary Lamphier, of Belfast, now serving a thirty days' sentence in the county jail at Belmont, on the charge of passing a worthless check on Carl Jennings, a Belfast merchant, is held for the January Grand Jury on the charge of forgery. Charges have been made against Miss Lamphier of having passed worthless checks in several Allegany County towns.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE G. A. R.

Incidentally, the G. A. R. is growing old, and planning that during the 55th annual encampment now being held here arrangements shall be made for final disposition of the properties of the order. Bank statements of the G. A. R. are being arranged for placing at one of the business sections, perhaps to-day, a resolution which would provide for what he terms "the Last Will and Testament of the G. A. R." Provisions would be made for the disposal of all the property of the Grand Army when the last members are gone.

The first public session was held to-day. The address of Commander in Chief William A. Ketcham, of Indianapolis, and reports from other officials were the principal features of the morning program.

GARDNER & GALLAGHER

New Fall Clothing

There is no lack of variety in the new merchandise just received from our factory at FASHION PARK. You will like the new Fall Styles, which embrace a wide range of sturdy fabrics and tailored in values easily apparent.

The more prominent style features are the Kay-boas and Blawings. The former in quiet patterns — stripes, plaids and plain effects for the stouter built man. The Blawing is Scotch and American tweeds for sport and general wear.

May we have the pleasure of showing you?

Says the dealer — "Service"

"THE demand of the hour — service. Every body wants it, and when it comes to buying Socony Gasoline they get it.

"Socony Service was not made possible in a day or a year. It is the result of many years of constant striving to meet and even to anticipate the gasoline requirements of a great legion of motorists.

"Every highway and byway throughout New York and New England is part of the long 'Socony Trail.'"
