

WERE YOU IN ANDOVER IN 1894?

This was the year the Andover State Bank started to serve the people of this community.

For 27 years we have made our service and equipment useful to those associated with us. The results of our efforts are reflected in the growth of the institution, the permanent success of our patrons, their good will and loyalty.

We have grown because we have helped our patrons to go forward from one success to another. From the start we have held rigidly to this as our part of our creed:

NEVER TO FORGET THAT OUR CUSTOMERS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR OUR SUCCESS

JESSE SNYDER CLARKE

Jesse S. Clarke was born in Independence, September 16th, 1875, son of Herbert M. and the late Elveretta Austin-Clarke, and died Saturday evening, November 5th, 1921, at the Wellsville Memorial Hospital, where he was taken one week before suffering from internal injuries received while working as foreman at the Seager-Prindle shoe last mill, at Belvidere, when a piece of timber from a machine flew striking his side with great force.

Mr. Clarke grew to manhood in Independence. Later he resided in Little Genesee for ten years. He also lived at Belvidere two years. Nov. 1st, 1903 he was united in marriage with Mrs. Viola M. Freyermuth.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Thelma J. and Jesse M. Clarke, and a step-daughter, Gladys M. Freyermuth, also his father, Herbert M. Clarke, of Independence, four brothers and two sisters, namely, W. D. Clarke, R. A. Clarke, Independence; W. W. Clarke, Little Genesee; H. M. Clarke, Rochester; Mrs. Mary Crittenden, Whitesville; and Mrs. Hester Clarke, of Andover.

Deceased was a member of the Friendship Baptist Church. The body was taken to his home in that village where funeral services were conducted Tuesday, November 8th, by Dr. H. M. Lowry and interment made at Little Genesee, N. Y.

He did not go to the preacher's convention.

Rev. W. H. Smith met with what might have been a serious accident Monday morning. Preparing to attend the Preacher's Meeting, at Alfred, he entered his garage with two pails of water in his hands, slipped on the snow on the doorstep and plunged forward on his face breaking his glasses and badly blackening his left eye and cheek. Fortunately the glass did not enter the eye, but cut the lid slightly. Having preached the day before on "Disarmament" and "Prohibition" the black eye looks somewhat out of place and we hope it will soon regain its natural color.
