Hamilton B. Williams

He was a wise man who affirmed that every question between men is a religious matter — finally.

Technic comes from exercise. Christianity is designed to save the world, not to snatch a few fortunate souls out of the world for some hypothetical heaven.

The world will be enormously illuminated when there is general recognition that there is no religion — only a life.

If one knows that he fulfills the Will of God by falling in with God's program he is equipped for business so the fields, the shops, the office, school house, streets become holy places.

It is no more possible for a man to have one set of rules for his religious exercise, and another for his social, business and political exercise than it is to have two minds.

God asks that we fulfill His plan simply what man should give his fellow man. And we have a right to expect of God the fulness of His energy.

I am I. Scarpel Me down to wisp of wind, The very ghost of my breath declares Its immortality.

One of his most notable victims was a great New York banker many times a millionaire, a man who is a power today in the financial world.

I know where God is. He is at the end of the Trail Of Hunger and Thirst and Wanting.

Not in years has any series of newspaper articles created a more profound sensation than these confessions of how a former stable boy passed himself off as a nobleman, worked his way into the innermost circles of fashionable society, and then blackmailed and robbed his admiring patrons.

RICH BANKER BLACKMAILED Bogus Nobleman Tells How He and a Pretty Woman Lured Millionaire New Yorker Into a Wicked Trap

The bogus "Count" Gregory, who preyed for so many years on American fashionable society, did not bother with any small game.

One of his most notable victims was a great New York banker many times a millionaire, a man who is a power today in the financial world.

Don't forget that you get the confessions of this prince of adventure only in the NEW YORK AMERICAN.

All women are born beautiful — in the eyes of their mothers.

The modern woman never denies her age. She paints it out.

Faith, hope and charity — but the most expensive of all is charity.

That far eastern question is moving westward. Washington is a good place to half.

Any fool can offer criticism, but it takes brains to get into the class of the criticized.

Our birth rate exceeds our death rate by 670,000 a year. And Teddy not here to rejoice!

In the opinion of many people it will take a lot of fighting to restore peace to this world.

If You Can't Find It In Your Home Store — Come to Hornell

THANKSGIVING and we're mighty thankful

It isn't hard to find things to be grateful for this Thanksgiving. Dollars are not quite so plentiful as they were, to be sure, but a dollar will buy almost twice as much as it did a year ago.

High prices are vanishing. Nowhere is there better evidence of that than in the stores of Hornell. Hornell merchants were quick to take their losses and slash high-priced goods down to levels where people could afford to buy.

Thanksgiving means the holidays are near. Kin will gather from far and near — happy home-comings everywhere. The old house will surely need new furnishings, bits of furniture here and there, things to lend cheer for the merry holiday.

All the family will need new things, too. Shoes, wraps and clothing of winter weight must be had now. Can't put off fixing ourselves up if we want to. Hornell stores bid you a very hearty welcome this week.

They are loaded with new and interesting things modestly and fairly priced. You will enjoy a day spent in shopping in the bright, modern shops where courteous and helpful sales people will do their best to please you.

A visit to Hornell for a day of shopping will be as much fun as Thanksgiving Day itself.
