

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

Voorhees Hill

Feb. 21. — Our residents were a little backward about the gripe fad, but there are plenty of devotees now. Among them we find Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pantan and seven children, Mrs. B. Perkins and three children, Mrs. James Lewis and daughter, Thelma. Abram Slocum and James Lewis were on the list also, but are able to be about their work this week. The others are gaining slowly.

Mrs. Wm. Church and son, Carroll, of Proctor District, are at the Pantan home caring for the family and work.

There was no school Thursday on account of the cold weather.

J. J. McCarthy is a patient at the Wellsville hospital.

Mrs. Rae Wilcox, of Andover, was a guest at the home of Ray Church from Tuesday until Saturday.

Allison Baker is moving his family to a farm in Elm Valley, where they will work this year. We regret their going but wish them success in their new home.

Davis Hill

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis received word that their grandson, Robert Davis, of Rochester, has been seriously ill but is gaining at present.

Emmett Robinson and daughter, Ruth, spent Wednesday afternoon on the farm.

Several of the farmers are drawing potatoes and logs this week.

Veterinary J. J. Regan, of Auburn, inspected part of the dairies who are selling milk, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor, of Greenwood, are visiting at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Childs.

There is one time when a wife is willing to let her husband do all of the talking — when he is asleep.

We don't envy the fellow with a single track mind. There are so many tracks he is at a loss which one to take.

What we can't understand, is why women refrain from wearing their new spring millinery now. Winter is more than half gone.
