K. O. T. M. WINS FROM ANOTHER HORNELL OUTFIT

Beat Hornell Huguets, Sunday by a 12 to 6 Score.

The local boys sent another bunch of Hornell ball tossers back to the Maple City with long faces Sunday, when they defeated the crack Huguets team at a tune of 12 to 6.

Andover clinched the game in the first frame when they stormed the Hornell bunch for 8 scores. After the initial inning the game was very evenly matched, each team getting 4 runs.

Howland started the game for Andover after an enforced absence of two seasons. "Pete" showed the fans that his accident didn't effect his pitching arm in the least. Bloss relieved him in the sixth and held the visitors hitless for the remainder of the game.

Dawson also staged a come-back by leading the hitting, getting 3; one of them going to run extra base.

Rude Rural Rhymes JOHNNY APPLESEED

This rhyme sings Johnny Appleseed by whom the wilds were apple treed. The settler and the pioneer, they called him cracked, they called him queer. He left the settlements behind him, the wild beasts saw but did not mind him, and only Indians could find him. A bag upon his back he bore of apple seed and apple core. His frame yet stout, he legged it limber, out through the brush and taller timber, the seeds he carried through the wood, each one a prayer God understood. When seedlings sprang up far and near, he fenced them from the wandering deer. The man was old, his eye was dim, along the frontier's utmost rim, the fruit he stuck was not for him. But when the settler's westward breaking, found new rich land and free for taking, there too were apples for their baking, yea, there amid the forest covers bloomed apple blossoms for young lovers. We know not where he closed his eyes, nor where our votive stone should rise. Sure somewhere in the forest dim, like one of old, God buried him. What does it matter, O my brothers, where lie his bones who lived for others? Wherever orchards blossom bonny, there stands a monument to Johnny. BOB ADAMS.

CAR WRECKED

Olean Parties Badly Used When Wheel Breaks Crossing Erie

A light touring car came to grief early Sunday morning at Stearns' crossing, the car turning turtle several times and was badly demolished. The occupants were William Kenouth, Arthur Holtz, Richard Malone, all of Olean.

They were coming down the hill from Wellsville. A train passed just ahead of them so they let the machine coast down the hill at its own will. As the wheels hit the railroad rails one of them smashed into fragments. The car was overturned and the occupants badly bruised.

Mr. Kenouth, the owner of the car, was driving. He sustained a cut finger, a scalp wound and bruised eye. Malone had several ribs fractured and a sprained wrist. Holtz got by with a few bruises.

Mr. Kenouth sold the wrecked car to George Mattison for $25. It was driven on its own power to town.

OBSERVED FLAG DAY

Gov. Parker Speaks to Elks at Roosevelt Grave

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 14.—Governor Parker, of Louisiana, and 500 Elks from Long Island lodges, to-day conducted Flag Day services in a natural amphitheatre, sloping down from the grave of Theodore Roosevelt.

The crowd listened to Governor Parker and other speakers eulogize the former President, and call upon the country to adhere more closely to his principles of Americanism, lest the anarchists, Bolsheviks and "the hordes working under the cover of masks and cowls utterly destroy the foundations of democracy laid by the founders of the country."

Governor Parker drew tremendous applause when he declared that some things should be done immediately to fight the enemies within the country, which he declared were far more dangerous than any outside.

"The minute men must be put back on their guard," he said. "The men under the mask and the cowl are undermining the foundations of democracy in this country, and by trying to create religious prejudice, while an indifferent public is engaged in riotous jazz celebrations."

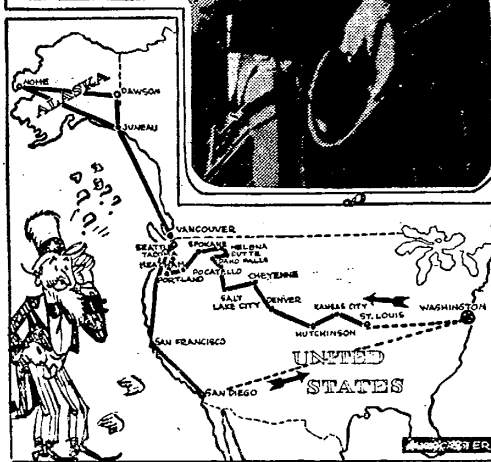

"The only way to remedy this is to start a great campaign to supplant this destructiveness with constructive Americanism."

ANDOVER PEOPLE AT SHRINE CONVENTION

Curtis Burdick, of Andover, and Mrs. S. E. Hurd and Mrs. Maude Miner, of Wellsville, arrived home Saturday evening from attending the Shriner's National Convention at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Burdick reports that it was the banner convention of the Shriners with an estimate of four hundred thousand Nobles in attendance. They were there from Porto Rico, Hawaiian Islands, Havana, Cuba and Canada. The decorations were certainly wonderful, the finest in the history of Washington, is what some of the people said who live there.

Tuesday's parade was twelve miles long. It took four hours to pass a given point. Tuesday afternoon they put on the water pageant on the Potomac River in front of Potomac Park, which was enjoyed by a large number of the nobility and friends. Wednesday the largest number of aeroplanes that ever visited Washington in one day, gave their maneuvers for the benefit of the Shriners, while Wednesday evening another parade which took three hours and forty-five minutes to pass with 120 bands in line. Their caps and shoes were lit with Electric lights of Shrine colors.

On Thursday the Marines gave an exhibition drill in the afternoon, and in the evening there was another parade which took two hours and thirty minutes to pass and included thirty massed bands, the Marine Band, the Marines, the Red Cavalry, one Company of Soldiers, machine gun and large field pieces and Red Cross followed by a large number of floats.

After the parade there was several tons of meal sprinkled on the streets and a dance was on for more than two miles, and at midnight the music played "America" while everybody sang, closing the convention.

ADVERTISING IS THE FARMERS' GAIN

Because of it Milk is Bringing Something Near a Fair Price Now.

According to an announcement made by the Dairymen's Co-Operative Association to-day, the net pool price which its member will receive for May milk is $1.82. This is the base pool price for one-two hundred ten mile zone. The price which individual poolers will receive in each case will vary according to the butter fat and freight differentials.

This price is fifty-two cents higher than the pool price for May a year ago. One of the principal reasons for this according to officials of the association is the fact that during recent months a larger proportion of the milk of the association has been marketed in the three higher classifications, that is, as fluid milk, sweet cream, condensed and evaporated milk and ice cream. The League is now receiving the full market prices for its manufactured products as a result of the extensive advertising and sales campaign carried on for the past three months.

During May 90 per cent. of the milk which went thru the League plants was sold in Classes 1, 2 and 3. It is interesting to compare the figures of May a year ago when the League plants marketed in this higher classification only 57 per cent. of the total quantity which they handled during the month.

The association announced the total gross sales for the month of April $6,385,769.10 of which it received for fluid milk sold to dealers $4,666,680.97. The sales from plants operated by the association amounted to $1,719,088.13.

PRAISE FOR MISS ROGERS

Miss Alice Rogers of Andover, N. Y. rendered a number of classical violin solos, intermingled in two piano recitals given by the pupils of Miss Josephine Stone at the Universalist Church at Hornell, N. Y. June 12 and 13, 1923.

Mrs. Hayden Rogers accompanist Mr. Fred Mulholland assisted in a few vocal and violin selections which were highly enjoyed. Miss Rogers proves herself to be a musician of unusual artistic quality and will without doubt attain the heights of her ambition; her technique and tone coloring were very effective in her rendition. She is a zealous student of Prof. Wm. Earle Babcock of Wellsville, N. Y.

The pupils presented her with a handsome bouquet of Columbia Roses in appreciation of the charming music.

1923 VERSION

Mary had a little lamb her father shot it dead. Now it goes to school with her between two hunks of bread.

MORE ABOUT AUTO SPEEDERS ON OUR STREETS

"Plain Bill," Like the Measles, is With Us Again

Did you notice our new signs? "Incorporated village of Andover, 20 miles." Real nice looking signs ain't they?

I can understand why we want to advertise that the village is incorporated, for anyone wouldn't ever think it by the looks of Barney, Elm and Chestnut Streets. But what is the 20 miles for? Oh, I see! Last year you had to drive at least 15 miles an hour or get caught and this year the City Dads have increased it to 20. Really, I don't think it was necessary, for I don't believe there is anything in this town that could stop anyone going even 15 miles.

I wish some one would tell me what difference those signs make, whether they read 15 or 20 or 120.

Last year the City Dads appointed a Police Justice and a Traffic Cop, and of course, they carefully appointed two men that they knew wouldn't and that never did do anything. This year we elected a Police Justice that we thought, and still think, would do his part to put a stop to this nuisance, and I guess the City Dads that so too for they, so far as I know, have never appointed any Traffic Cop, and if they do its dollars to buttons they will appoint another do nothing. So the Police Justice can do nothing and our principal streets are still used as a speedway and race course by every nitwit and damphool in New York State and plenty more from other states.

Old Man Public Opinion seems to be asleep on this subject as usual, but if some child, or a grown person either, gets run over and killed or nearly so, which is liable to happen at any time, then Old Public Opinion will wake up and everyone will want something done about it.

Really who is to blame for this slack enforcement or rather no enforcement at all of our laws? Is it the City Fathers or is it the Don't Care a Damn spirit of the General Public. Figure it out yourself.

PLAIN BILL.
