

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

FARMERS AND RAILWAY MEN
DISCUSS JOINT PROBLEMS

Efficient and economical transportation of farm products to consuming centers was the subject of a conference in Syracuse recently between farm leaders and railway officials. The conference was called by Enos Lee, president of the New York state farm bureau federation, to give farmers' representatives and railroad men of the state an opportunity to talk over the problems of the two industries where they touch in the transportation of food products. Mr. Lee presided at the meeting and E. V. Titus represented the federation as its director of transportation problems.

Farm Organizations represented at the conference included the Dairy-men's League Cooperative Association, the G. L. F. Exchange, the Empire State Potato Growers Cooperative Association, the Western New York Fruit Growers Cooperative Packing Association and New York State Sheep Breeders Association. Twenty-six representatives of all the important railroads serving New York were present, including vice-presidents of the New York Central, Erie, and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western. Also taking part in the conference were officials of Delaware & Hudson, Ontario & Western, Long Island, and other roads.

The conference was important to New York state agriculture, according to Mr. Lee, because it gave the two groups an insight into each other's difficulties in shipping farm supplies which will be of great value in developing better shipping service and which will save money for the farmers.

NEW YORK FARMERS WELL ORGANIZED SAYS SKINNER.

The agricultural forces of New York state are organized in a practical manner which permits of efficient and prompt action on matters which touch the interest of farm population. This fact has been clearly evident, according to W. E. Skinner, manager of the National Dairy Show, in the way farm interests of the state have joined together to make a success of the big dairy exposition which will be held at the State Fair grounds, Syracuse, October 5 to 13.

In commending a plan for the show recently Mr. Skinner said that the formation of a dairy show committee in each county and a state-wide show committee comprising leaders of all the big state-wide organizations to bring representative exhibits to the show was quickly and efficiently accomplished because of the harmonious relations already existing between the farm bodies of the state.

Every dairy county of New York state will be represented by exhibits at the great exposition, Mr. Skinner stated. He pointed out that one of the big reasons why the National Dairy Exposition has established a reputation for interest and educational value to working dairy farmers is that these county and state exhibits show dairymen how their neighbors are solving various problems. By bringing them together, each one learns from the other.

Fifteen minutes spent resting on hot days more than pay for themselves in renewed energy.

POULTRYMEN MAKE
TOUR OF COUNTY
YARDSMany of the Fine Allegany
Poultry Plants Inspected by Erpert.

The Poultry Farm Tours, conducted by the Allegany County Farm Bureau on July 10th and 11th, were attended by nearly one hundred enthusiastic men and women representing most of the communities in the county. Every person in attendance either day expressed themselves enthusiastically over this type of poultry work. Everyone had an opportunity to see on either day many different types of house arrangements, two and even three story houses with various types of roofs, as well as the shed roof Cornell model house. The house construction, ventilating system and house equipment were the chief studies on this tour. At the same time everyone had an opportunity to get first hand information on methods of feeding, breeding, hatching and rearing.

To the small poultrymen some of these factors seemed rather minor; however, the conditions found in some of the larger houses showed clearly that convenience in construction, such as is exemplified in the Cornell house, labor saving devices and systematic ventilation are absolutely essential in the management of the larger flocks on an economic basis. Everyone was especially interested in the gas heated brooder house and the combination house of H. H. McIntyre at West Clarksville. The Irving Stock Farm at Friendship was a fine example of the simplicity and convenience of the Cornell model house. Special features of the Clair Evans' plant at Angelica and Mr. Taggart's at Belfast were respectively the round brooder house and the two story laying houses. On the second day's tour the plants were more general of the Cornell model with slight variations of the owners' own designs.

The plants visited were M. L. Palmer's new two story house at Alfred Station, N. Y.; the Allen Bros., M. J. Karr's, W. I. Trask's, and L. O. Karr's of Almond. At B. J. Kinney's at Bishopville the large steam heated brooder house and capable of holding 4,000 chicks, was of special interest to all. The plant of Mr. Stewart Hull at Arkport illustrated the adaptation of construction to the topography of a three story house being built on a side hill with entrance to each floor directly from the ground.

ANTHRAX FOUND IN CORNING HERDS

Corning, July 17—The third farm on the River road to be included in the spread of anthrax, which already has taken the lives of several cattle developed as an afflicted area when it was learned that James Wilson's herd had been suffering from the disease. No new cases have been reported on the DeWolfe and Williams farms and the cows reported ill have recovered.

On the Wilson farm one of the herd of eight died from the disease and others have been reported ill. On the DeWolfe farm the cows received their second vaccination yesterday and other farmers in the vicinity have taken like precaution.

While the disease is prevalent, Dr. F. S. Swain, city health officer, is denying sale of milk in the city from farms affected.

A TALK WITH AN ANDOVER MAN

Mr. Johnson of Main Street, tells his experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the read kidney disease. We therefore give here an interview with an Andover man:

Says Mr. Johnson, "Kidney trouble had a pretty firm grip upon me," "my back ached terribly and every time I stooped to shoe a horse or do any heavy lifting, a sharp twinge would catch me in my back. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and were highly colored. I was all out of shape, lame and sore all over, until I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's worked like magic in my case and soon had me feeling better. It only took three boxes to cure me of the trouble."

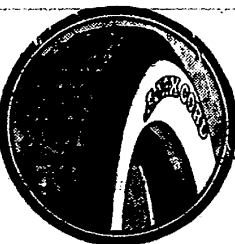

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Johnson had. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

I consider it the best part of an education to have been born and brought up in the country.—Alcott.

INSURANCE and building materials

PERMANENT types of construction naturally reduce insurance rates. But their real value is in the insurance they themselves give—insurance not only against fire, but against deterioration, upkeep and replacement expense.

Your building material dealer's experience is an insurance policy that costs you no premiums, but instead saves them. Follow his advice as to types of building and building materials.
