SOURING OF CREAM
NOT ALWAYS TRAGIC

Many Dishes May Be Made From Sour Cream—Recipes for Cookies, Pie and Sherbet

With hot weather comes the problem of what to do with cream that has soured. Home economics specialists at the state college say sour cream is not always a calamity as there are a number of tempting things that may be made with it.

If cream sours when fruit and cream had been planned, a hurried dessert substitute is apple cream pie. Mix together 1 cup of chopped apple, 1/2 cup of raisins, 1 cup of sugar, 1 beaten egg, two-thirds cup sour cream and a pinch of salt. Bake this mixture in one crust in a moderate oven until it is firm.

Chocolate cookies will help to use up some of the cream. To make it, 1/2 cup of fat is creamed, and to it is added 1 cup of sugar and one-third cup of sour cream. Then 1/2 teaspoon of soda, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, and 2 cups of flour are sifted together and added to the mixture. Finally 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla and 3 tablespoons of melted chocolate are added. Roll this dough thin, and shape it with a small cutter. Bake in a moderate oven.

Sour cream cookies are made as follows: Cream 2 tablespoons of fat, and add 1 cup of sugar, well beaten yolks of 2 eggs, 1/2 cup of sour cream, and 1 teaspoon of grated orange peel. Sift 1/2 teaspoon of with about 2 1/2 cups of flour, and add to the mixture. Place half the dough at a time on a floured board, and roll thin. Cut it any desired shapes, and bake in a moderate oven.

The woman who has an ice cream freezer can make orange sherbet with some of the cream. Boil 1 cup of sugar with 1/4 cup of water for five minutes. Cool, and add the juice of 1 orange and 1 lemon. Turn the mixture into a freezer, and when it begins to freeze, add 1 cup of sour cream whipped stiff, and continue freezing.

FARMERS GET LESS, CONSUMERS
PAY MORE FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Reports from the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor for the month from May 15 to June 15 were in the tenor of all those for the last year—the cost of living in the cities is rising. According to the digest of the Bureau's latest report published by the New York Herald, a Republican newspaper, "the cost of living is gradually increasing in some localities, while in others it is hardly perceptible."

In Washington, the seat of the national Government and official residence of President Harding, the increase for the month was 3 per cent. In eighteen of the twenty-three cities covered by the report there was a rise of from one-half of one per cent to three per cent.

While the residents of the cities and towns were paying more for their food and clothing the prices paid to producers of grain, milk, eggs, meats and vegetables were lower than they were in the same month of last year—a fact shown by the Department of Agriculture.

What your store is to be in a year from now exists in your plans for it to-day—in the publicity campaigns you're creating now.

CANNER MUST USE
FRESH VEGETABLES

Should Go from the Picking into the Canning to Prevent Spoilage—Speed Called Important Item

"Out of the garden into the cans" might be a homemaker's preserving motto. After the vegetables have been gathered, the longer they stand before being put up the greater the chance of spoilage.

To get an early start in the morning, some homemakers may gather their vegetables the night before, and let them soak over night. They may even go so far as to shell the peas or cut the beans the night before they are canned. Other women wait till the morning to gather the vegetables, but their day is so full that they are not able to get at their canning early, so the vegetables are left for hours in the hot kitchen, or lying in cold water, or standing in the jars before they go into the canner or in the water bath, steamer, or cooker until they have cooled.

All of these things may cause the result known as flat sour. This is caused by organisms which develop between the time the vegetable is picked and when it is canned. Sometimes the food is spoiled before it is canned.

All canning processes should be carried through as quickly as possible. As soon as the cooking of the jar is completed they should be removed from the canner, sealed, washed and set in a cool place, but not too cold, because too great a change from the heat may cause the jars to break.

BE A FOREST GUARD

Hunters, fishermen, campers, automobile tourists go to the woods for a particular purpose. They seek something of great value that only the forests can give. It may be the incomparable beauty of forest scenery; the thrill of stalking wild game or the joy of angling in bounding streams and rippling lakes; it may be the restoration or improvement of health in the tree-scented and tree-purified air and the tonic exercise of travel through rugged woodlands. Whatever the object, only the forests can produce such boons to health and happiness.

But, these benefits to mankind could not be obtained at any price or at any expenditure of time if the forests were destroyed. It behooves every searcher for woods pleasures to also seek one other thing that he may always have what he desires from the forests as long as he desires. That other to-be sought thing is the perpetuation of the goose that lays the golden eggs. Every hunter, fisherman, camper and automobilist should agree with himself as a duty and an obligation to help preserve and protect the forest and see that others do likewise. When every person who invades the woods becomes a forest guard at heart we will have reached a condition of good sportsmanship that will insure the continuation and increase in the forests' bounty to us.

There will be more to enjoy; more game, more fish, larger forests, better roads, trails and camps for the convenience of visitors to these miracle playgrounds. Every person who goes to the woods should become a forest guard in thought and act. He should always be willing to co-operate in protecting the forests, especially against fire. This can be accomplished by the exercise of care in the use of fire by putting out fires and reporting them to the fire ranger and by seeing that others do likewise. Appoint yourself a guardian of the forests.

It pays to make a liberal seeding in winter grain. The following mixture is a good one for New York: Timothy, 10 pounds; Red Clover, 6 pounds; Alsike Clover, 4 pounds. Seed 20 pounds to the acre.

Where a mixed fertilizer is to be used on wheat, it's hard to beat the 4-12-4. It should replace low analysis grades, and will give better results in New York than a high potash mixture, such as 12-12-12.

Above all things endeavor to breed children up in the love of virtue, and that holy plain way of it which we have lived in, that the world in no part of it get into my family. ## WHAT WE NEED

POLITICAL parties are the revolution of principles. When the dynamic of the principle is exhausted the party dies. Organization machinery cannot make a political party. There isn't anything binding nor inspiring in the mere frame work of organization.

We should force the riff-raff of the United States who believe in every ism, who are unstable in government, unsound in patriotism, unwelcome in citizenship, who are opportunists, political vagabonds and beggars into a party which should be called the anti-federal party.

They are opposed to this government. Let us force them to say so in a political declaration and in a political declaration and by political machinery, for which we can hold them responsible.

As our parties exist today they have in their rank and file men who are guilty of treason, who are unworthy of respect, who are cowardly, who are anarchists, socialists and traitors to the constitution and the flag.

America's greatest need is a party made up of brains and character and statesmanship and courage; made up of men who believe in the constitution, who are controlled by fundamental principles, who will never be moved by expediency, who will never yield to the cowardly doctrine of compromise, who will live to establish the right, or die to defend principle.

Poem by Uncle John

FETCH around the penitents and the speckled lemmings! Feller advertises is the one that gets the trade. Twenty-five concessions in the Little City Park, rollin' in the niches, from daylight till it's dark. Wagons loads of soda pop fills the day with cheer—Speaker in the grandstand, nobody can hear. "Flags a-wavin' in the breeze to jolly the scenes—Ain't a dozen fellers here, can flavor what it means! Band a-playin' jazz tunes—horses stoppin' high. Feller swears a barrel, with so many drinks to buy. Take the country over, with a holiday on hand. Fortunes made from cigarettes, or on the peanut stand. Wonder why they have it when the weather is so hot? Used to know about it, but blame it—I've forgot. Used to be the patriots that celebrated here—Now they never mention 'em, Golly, ain't it queer?
