Cheer up! There are lots of people who don't think ill of you. They don't know you.

Attend to your own affairs and you will be ahead of the fellow who wants to do the job for you.

poem
by UNCLE JOHN

That marriage is a serious thing, there isn't the shadow of a doubt, we face the suffering it may bring, without a plan to keep it out. Most everybody goes it blind, in this, the chiefest of our deals, they marry ere they know the mind, that youthful impulse oft conceals. They start the risky married life, without a minute's sober thought, as though a husband or a wife is merely some thin' rasy laught. And when they strike the hidden shoal that lays in wait to swamp the boat, the radder swings beyond control— they fail to swim, and so they float! There ort to be more stricter rules, to govern Cupid in his path, and stop the silly rush of foot into an awful aftermath. The young-steers ort to talklate, along with wiser, elder heads, that crowd, unrelent'ly, fate entraps the hasty newly-weds. We plan a lot of wuthless laws to hinder rapid fire divorce,—but clean ignore the real cause, which hasty marriage is, of course . . . If wedded life was hard to gain, and couples made the leap, fore-warned, there'd be a great successe of pain and separations would be scorned.

When You Buy It Here
It Is There To Stay

GOOD furniture never goes out of style—and never goes out of service! When you hear folks say it seems they are forever buying furniture, it means they are never buying the right kind.

When you buy yours, consider how it will last as well as how it will look. Elegance of form it must have to be sure—but appearance is a poor apology for substance.

When the furniture we sell takes its proud place in your home, it is there to stay. Think twice before you choose furniture, if you would only have to select it once.

The Romance of Furniture

DURING the Jacobean period furniture was stout and coarse. It matched the manners and vigor of the people of that time.
