

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

WHOLE STATE WELCOME AT DAIRY DEDICATION
Half-Million-Dollar building at State Agricultural College Thrown Open Oct. 13.

The whole of New York State, city and country, will be welcome at the dedication of the new dairy building at Ithaca which will take place in Bailey Hall on Saturday, October 13, at 10 A. M., and at the reception which will be held in the new building the night before, October 12.

The dedication program is simple. Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn will formally present the building, President Livingston Farrand of Cornell University will acknowledge it. There will be addresses by Dean A. R. Mann of the college of agriculture, by Dean H. E. Russell of the college of Wisconsin, by William A. Mather, farmer, of Adams, and by a representative of the over-seas delegation attending the dairy congress now in session in this country. Prof. W. A. Stocking, head of the dairy department of the college, will preside.

The new building, costing to build and equip in excess of half a million dollars, will be used for training students in the scientific and practical phases of dairying and for research. "While the cost of the building may seem considerable," said Prof. Stocking in commenting on the dedication, "it should be remembered that dairying is a great industry in New York state, and this half million dollars represents only about 2-10ths of one per cent of the yearly value of New York's dairy products."

The new building contains some 83,000 square feet of floor space, more than double that of the old building which was built in 1904-06 and had no facilities for laboratory work in market milk, ice cream, and powdered milk, which have become important branches of New York's dairy industry.

FARMERS OPPOSE PROHIBITION LAW CHANGE

Results to date of the prohibition canvass being taken among farmers by the American Agriculturist, indicate strong sentiment for the present law, according to E. R. Eastman, editor of the magazine. Mr. Eastman states that the percentage of votes for the 18th Amendment was 88, with 12% in favor of modification.

"The number of ballots received by American Agriculturist on the prohibition poll up to October 1, was 11,476. Of this number, 10,114 are for prohibition and the Eighteenth Amendment without any modification whatever; and 1,362 registered themselves in favor of modification. The percentage was 88 for the Eighteenth Amendment and 12 in favor of modification."

Mr. Eastman said that this canvass was revealing how the farmers actually stand on the prohibition question.

"Farm people all thru the East are giving serious thought and discussion in their Granges and other public meetings to the great problem of enforcing the law," says Mr. Eastman. "Without exception the ballots so far show that no matter on which side the farmer or his wife voted, all wished the law enforced while it is still a law."

The poll of the 133,000 families reading the American Agriculturist is by no means completed and further results will be announced later.
