Frequent meetings of the Cabinet to "solve agricultural problems" are "reaching no conclusions." But everyone else is.

If a tariff of 30 cents a bushel on wheat represents zero in its effect on the price of that cereal, what will be its value if it is increased by two-fifths?

Governor Pinchot's opponents for the Republican presidential nomination seem to bear the increase in the cost of anthracite with a good deal of fortitude.

Senator Johnson of California says his state must have a "progressive Republican delegation" at the next Republican national convention, presumably to vote for a "progressive Republican candidate." Whom has he in mind?

Among President Coolidge's plans to restore harmony in his party as reported in the press, is one to lift the patronage boycott against Senator LaFollette. Whatever opinion anyone may have of Senator LaFollette no one will believe that he can be won over to the reactionary group by a mere mess of porridge.

The efforts of Republican politicians to mollify disgruntled and desperate farmers by devising schemes to enable the farmers to get further in debt is epitomized by that talented writer of delightful whimsicalities on the Ohio State Journal: "Aw, come on, dear farmers, let us Republicans fool you just this once more."

BETTER BIBLE SCHOOL WORK

The great problem of moral and religious education is not to organize Sunday Schools, but to find and train leaders and teachers.

The Allegheny County Bible School Association is to give special attention to this problem in the fall district conventions and institutes which have been arranged for the week of October 21-27, 1923, by County Supt., W. L. Greene in co-operation with the several district offices.

Dr. T. Basil, Education Superintendent of the New York State Sunday School Association, has been secured by the county association for these seven days to lead in this work at as many points in the county as time will permit.

Dr. Young is an outstanding leader in the field of religious education and will bring great help to those who feel the need of better Bible School work.

WHICH KIND ARE YOU?

EVERY citizen should be actively interested in community betterment—first, for the good of the community; and second on the theory that what benefits the community is of equal benefit to the individual.

Some people are aggressive, and work continually for the welfare of the community in which they live.

Some hold back thru modesty, some thru timidity, and others thru a disinclination to "neglect their private affairs."

The modest man is respected, altho it is to be regretted that his modesty keeps him so much in the background.

The man who is timid is to be pitied, for his timidity is a serious handicap—yet a handicap that, happily, is often overcome.

The modest man and the timid man should assert themselves. The community needs their efforts, just as it receives the co-operation of their more aggressive friends and neighbors.

But what of the citizen who is averse to "neglecting his private affairs?"

Is he the kind of man who makes a community, or is he merely one who profits from the community that others make?

The man who is "too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment may be possessed of many of the good qualities usually found in mankind. He may be highly respected by his neighbors, and his honesty and integrity may be beyond question.

But no community can thrive on neighborly respect and honesty and integrity alone. Aggressiveness is required if a community would not slip backward instead of pressing forward.

Every man owes a duty to the community in which he lives, and that duty should be performed, ever though it entails an occasional personal sacrifice.

No man should consider himself "too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment. He should not expect others to do all of the community work while he reaps his share of the benefits.

He should respond in kind.

AT IT AGAIN.

NEWS dispatches recently carried the information that officials of the American Bankers' Association had agreed to start a campaign in this country in favor of cancelling wholly or in part the debts the allies owe to us.

Having failed in every other such undertaking, the advocates of debt cancellation now seek to influence the general public thru the medium of the bankers of the United States.

Have you ever heard of a banker, or of any other business man, deliberately cancelling a just debt an individual owed to him? Necessary extension of credit, perhaps. But cancellation, never.

Of course, the eleven billions of allied debts the officials of the American Bankers' Association would have us cancel did not come from the private fortunes of the said officials. It came from the pockets of the people, the people who pay taxes, and many an American bought government bonds "until it hurt" in order that the eleven millions might be loaned to the allied governments.

It makes a difference who pays the freight.

The officials of the association may be able to influence the bankers of the United States, but we doubt it.

The great majority of American bankers are generously supplied with brains. The interests of the people of the United States are of more vital concern to them than are the desires of certain foreign governments who are crazy to slide out of paying their just debts.

This latest scheme bears the earmarks of being just another piece of foreign propaganda that will fall flat—as all such have done.
