

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

South Hill

Many potatoes that were stored out have been drawn to market from this locality, the past week. Frank Holmes has been helping Rob Dean in installing a gas engine and pump at his water well. R. McAndrew was doing business on his farm one day last week. Howard Dean is drawing a consignment of oil well supplies from Wellsville, shipped from Ill., by Mr. Philips for his contemplated drilling in this vicinity.

Miss Lillian Halsey was a Davis Hill visitor Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Wellsville and Bert Youngs and family of Greenwood were South Hill visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Appiere and Miss Nora McAndrew of Andover motored on the hill Sunday. Mrs. Tom Youngs was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Whitney of Andover, the first of the week.

Mrs. Robert Dean spent the week end in Andover.

Frank Robbins with his threshing machine has been a week on the hill, doing the late threshing. John Dean was a Voorhees Hill visitor Tuesday.

An agent for the Rural New Yorker motored over our hill Tuesday.

Elm Valley

Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Rees recently of Hornell, are moving into the P. E. Caple house.

Mrs. Ethelyn Lyke of Hornell was the guest of her sister Mrs. Esther Dodge last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Caple were callers in the Valley Monday.

Perfect spellers for the week ending Nov. 2: Edna Guinn, Oakie Marsh, Duane Hardy, Margaret Gorman, Nathan Hardy, John Hopkins, Max Baker. For the week ending Nov. 9th: John Hopkins, Max Baker, Celia Gorman, Lewis Guinn and Gertrude Jackson.

Furniture Makes the Home

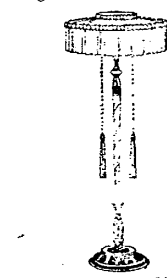

HERE the contractor leaves off, the home begins; and you build, from there on, yourself! Mansion or bungalow, palace or apartment—any home is only as good as its furniture.

Modern methods of production have brought the boon of fine furniture, once the luxury of the few, within the reach of everyone. The furniture we sell becomes the richest of possessions, although the cost is moderate. It invests the home with the priceless atmosphere of quality and refinement. And it has the permanence of home life itself!

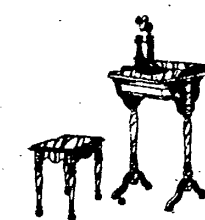

YOUR LIVING ROOM—GIVE IT NEW FURNITURE

One judges a home by the comfort and luxury of its living room. Here you will find three qualities joined with economy: Huge, cozy chairs into which one sinks thankfully. Delightful little tables that serve all sorts of purposes. High-backed or wing fireside chairs. General lamps. Everything for comfort. Everything for service. Everything for home.

CREATE AN ATMOSPHERE OF CHARM

With New Lamps
Delightful floor lamps beckon one to enjoy their soft light. Torchères mark corners in the hall or foyer. Living room lamps that fit into all sorts of places. Bridge lamps that warm up the game. In short, all sorts of lamps, for all sorts of places, and at all sorts of prices.

'PHONE IN COMFORT

At least one can gossip with comfort when a friend calls. If one owns a telephone stand and chair. Or quickly take down notes or instructions that come over the wire. Tucked into a corner. Unobtrusive, yet beautiful, in conception and service. All kinds, from inexpensive stained effects to luxurious woods. With chairs that fit snugly beneath the telephone stand when not in use.
