NOT NEEDED IN AMERICA

THE late bid for public favor is a vigilance association, the supposed purpose of which is to put the Ku Klux Klan out of business.

We do not know much about this new association, and we are equally ill informed as to the real purposes of the K. K. K.

But this spirit of underground strife has grown to the point where it demands attention from all loyal Americans.

If this country is to be overrun by a lot of secret societies making war upon each other let's have a federal law requiring them all to conduct their warfare in the open and in the light of day.

Congress might do well to pass a law requiring all secret organizations or societies of every nature to publish annually a certified list of their officers and members, together with their declaration of principles.

If their purposes are loyal, lawful and within reason, then they should have no objection to such publicity.

If they can not measure up to that standard, then they should not be allowed to exist.

This is America, not Europe and we have no place in America for secret firebrands and trouble makers.

TALK TO THEM,

NOT ABOUT THEM

SOMETIMES we publicly criticize our officials for something they have done. Then again it is something they have failed to do that calls forth our words of censure.

They are at fault for their errors, and we are equally at fault for talking about them instead of to them.

When a public official is adopting a course that is inimical to the public weal the better thing to do is to go straight to him and state the case as we see it.

If he is the right kind of an official he will listen to us and reason with us, and be glad that we talked to him instead of to others.

If he is not pleased to see us he is not the man we want for the job, and one term should be sufficient.

Yes, friendship is a beautiful thing as long as there are no snags.

TWO POINTS OF VIEW

SOME well intentioned but ill informed people abroad are severely criticizing the government and people of the United States because we remain aloof from the European political issues.

They would have us believe that civilization will perish unless we come to its rescue.

But let us remember that we have a cold and selfish and indifferent people because we have not opened up our pockets and poured our gold into their outstretched hands.

Let us admit the responsibility for the ultimate failure of civilization must rest upon our shoulders.

They would have us believe that America has but to reach out its hand and all Europe will be transformed into a Garden of Eden, a land of peace and plenty.

Cold, selfish, and indifferent to distress? Let us see.

When God but recently placed the hand of destruction upon the Japanese people, visiting upon them a series of earthquakes unrivaled in history, the American navy was on the scene within a few hours with food and supplies for the destitute and aid for the injured. American sailors labored side by side with the Japanese in relieving distress, and no questions were asked or conditions imposed.

Within a few days more American ships with immense quantities of army and navy supplies arrived in the stricken Japanese ports, and these supplies were turned over to the Japanese for distribution without restriction.

It was but a short time when American gold commenced pouring in by the thousands, until now the American relief afforded Japan in her hour of distress reaches the stupendous sum of seventeen millions of dollars.

American relief was prompt and unconditional.

Five years ago our army and navy were at death's grips with the powerful German empire.

Today the German population is crushed, humiliated, discouraged, and many are crying for bread that is not.

Five years ago our enemies, but today holding out their shrunken hands to their big brother for relief. And that appeal has not been denied.

American aid is pouring into Germany, just as it has been given in every case in history where there was justice and mercy to be found in the appeal.

America is quick to aid genuine distress, but the American people are averse to making catpaws of themselves for the convenience of foreign governments that place greed and selfishness above justice and honor.

When the governments of Europe demonstrate by their own actions that they are entitled to further aid from the United States that aid will be forthcoming, and here will be no delay in its proffer.

The fate of the world does not lie in the palm of the American hand.

Civilization can not be saved until civilization does something to save itself.

PEOPLE VS. LEADERS

IT WILL not be long before another election comes along and now is a good time to begin discussion of possible candidates for public office.

When the people crack the whip the "leaders" trot along like docile lambs. They dare not go against the powerful will of the voters determinedly expressed. But when the people are apathetic the self-reliant leaders are quick to seize the reins, flourish the lash, and drive the voters like sheep to a slaughter pen.

In isolated cases where the people have selected their own candidates they have invariably elected good men who were true to their trust. When the designation of candidates is left to the leaders the fortunate candidate must do the bidding of his boss, knowing full well that a failure to do so will put an end to his political career.

Do a lot of thinking, and then do as much talking.

If it's Good Printing, we do it.
