LODGE SPEAKERS WILL TELL ALL ABOUT MARKETING

Economics Strapped in Farmers' Week Program at State College of Agriculture, Feb. 11-16.

The state-wide interest among farmers in economics and marketing will be reflected in the program for farmers' week at the state college of agriculture, February 11-16, a statement from the college received by the News this week shows.

One of the speakers will be Lloyd S. Tenney of the federal bureau of markets who will talk on fundamentals of co-operative commodity marketing.

Dr. G. F. Warran, agricultural economist, will give each day at 11 o'clock a lecture on prices.

Other speakers from the department of agricultural economics and farm management are H. A. Ross, will speak on Monday on some economic factors in the market milk situation in the Chicago district; H. S.
Gabriel, who is scheduled for an address on Tuesday on freight rates and their relation to agriculture; G.
P. Scoville, who will forecast prices on potatoes, cabbage and hay; C. E.
Ladd, on the cost of marketing New York State potatoes; W. I. Myers, on how New York State farmers are financing their farm operations, and J. J. Wisner on the cost of producing milk, and some factors affecting it.

Other addresses are by R. G.
Phillips, secretary of the international apple shippers association of Rochester on the fruit shipper's problem; L. Spencer on some economic factors in the market milk situation in New York; E. H. Thomson, president of the federal land bank, Springfield, Massachusetts, on how to use the federal intermediate credit bank, and also on how to use the federal land bank, and E. G. Nourse of Washington, D. C., and S. Q. Grady of the Dairymen's League on various phases of co-operative marketing.

AMUSEMENT LIKEWISE ON COLLEGE PROGRAM

Illustrated Lectures and Music Included in Events for Annual Farmers' Week at Ithaca.

Entertainment features ranging from illustrated lectures and readings with interpretive music to amateur dramatics and prize speaking contests will be included in the program for farmers' week at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca which will be held February 11-16.

The 4 o'clock hour each day will offer some of these entertainment features, and each evening likewise will provide programs no relating strictly to agricultural and home making subjects.

Some of the attractions for the 4 o'clock hour include readings by George C. Williams of the Ithaca conservatory of music, an illustrated lecture on the Isle of Maderia by Professor E. P. Andrews, a lecture on Indian trails and pioneer days by Earl A. Bates, readings of original rural verse by Robert M. Adams, known as Bob Adams thru his syndicated "rude rural rhymes," and a lecture recital on folk songs by Mrs. Rose Morgan of New York City.

On Monday evening the short course students will stage an entertainment including a debate between the winter course clubs, and a prize speaking contest.

The university orchestra, under the direction of George L. Coeman, will give a concert on Tuesday evening, while on Wednesday the annual banquet of the Agricultural college alumni association will be held. This same evening Professor G. W. Cavanagh is scheduled for an illustrated lecture in the new million-and-a-half dollar chemistry building.

The contest for the Eastman prize of $100 in public speaking will be held on Thursday night, and on Friday night the Kermis play will be presented by the students. This play is selected each year thru a competition in amateur play writing for which a prize of $100 is offered.

Agrigraphs

Shoot a bird and kill a friend.

A single teaspoonful of soil may contain, in living bacteria, more living inhabitants than the whole United States.

The state college at Ithaca has a bulletin on the community value of the home paper. Ask for F 155 if you'd like a copy.

Uncle Ab says that any man with moral backbone can get all the fighting he wants, even in peace times, against the powers of greed.

Home paper week, February 3-9, is the editor's week and the community's week. Both have a responsibility to meet if the home paper is representative.

Jazz band tactics have no value in attracting a swarm of bees. In nine cases out of ten the swarm will settle, noise or no noise; in the tenth case it just won't.

The New York experiment stations at Ithaca and Geneva are maintained to study agricultural problems. Maybe they have solved some of yours. Write them and get the answers.
