What God Says about Reverent Worship

"Then went King David in and sat before the Lord."

Did you ever do that?

Ever sit reverently, worshipfully, meditatively before God?

And David the King did more. He said, "Who am I, Lord, and what is my house that Thou hast brought me hitherto?"

That's a good way to begin. "Who am I, Lord?" Suppose he was King, what did that fact amount to? Suppose you are respected by all your friends, a prince of good fellows perhaps, but when you sit before God and let Him show you never so little of who He is, well, old Job put it still stronger; he said as he sat before God, "I have heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear, but now mine eye seeth Thee; therefore, I abhor myself and repent in dust and ashes."

"Don't want to feel that way?" "Destroys your self-respect?" Well, that's the reason there is so little true worship. Men want to justify themselves. "Oh, I am not so bad!" No, you are not, so long as you look at yourself and compare yourself with other folks. Do you think that God would have allowed His Son to die the death He did for you if your case hadn't been desperate? Did you know that it was black-hearted religious men that murdered their Saviour? Oh, my friend, go in and sit before that God who hangs on the cross and let His love shine down into your soul and you too will say, "Who am I, Lord?"
