South Hill

June 4. — Leafy June has made a fair beginning, and our farmers are glad to be able to put in a few full days potato planting.

Miss May Dean was an Andover visitor last Thursday and accompanied Mrs. Andrew Fuller on a trip to Hornell.

When Mr. Jordan was returning to Andover last Friday evening he left his truck standing on the highway by Jim Dean's farm, to recover something dropped. The car concluded to move on, doing so over the high bank and into the creek below, sustaining considerable damage, but Mr. Jordan was on terra firma looking on.

A trucking firm of Hornell, moved Tom McAndrew's rig last week to the Jordan-Huggins lease, where he is soon to start the drill. The large truck, loaded with heavy derrick timbers and accessories, made four trips a day from Andover to near Fulmer Valley. We were reminded of the early days of cars in this vicinity, a dealer having to test his car on the Indian Creek and Tommy White Hill, as the first requisite.

A couple of surveyors visited our hill Saturday.

Tom McAndrew and family, Mr. Jordan, Mrs. Huggins and Miss Kate Joyce of Andover, were among the Sunday motorists to South Hill. Rob. Dean motored to Hornell Sunday, Mrs. Dean being able to return with him to the home of her mother in Andover.

The Halsey family were Davis Hill visitors Monday night.

Many motorists make the detour from the Wellsville-Andover road over our highway, which is now in fine condition after repairs and the recent heavy trucking. Scoville & Brown's mammoth store on wheels made the hill with some difficulty Monday evening. An aeroplane seems also to have detoured one day last week, passing over so low that the pilot and two passengers were plainly discernable.
