METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The pulpit supply committee feel that they are being very fortunate in being able to arrange with Dr. G. Chapman Jones of Hornell, to fill until conference time this fall, the vacancy caused by the removal of Mr. Whelan. Dr. Jones is one of the "big men" of the Methodist church and has served many important charges.

Next Sunday, sermon both morning and evening. In the morning Dr. Jones' theme will be "Life in Japan." For about one year, Dr. Jones served as pastor of a Union church in Japan, so can give authoritative information on a subject very interesting in these times.

Do not forget the Sunday School at noon. All men are urged to attend the Bible Class as necessary business relating to the Banquet, Monday, June 30th, must be transacted.

PRESBYTERIAN

Rural Carriers Met

At Belmont, June 14

Clear Rigby was Secretary and F. S. Nelson, Treasurer

The Rural Carriers Association of Allegany county met in the American Legion rooms, Belmont, Saturday evening, June 14. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Pres. Robert Church, Andover; vice president, Herbert Leilous, Belmont; secretary, Clair A. Rigby, Bolivar; treasurer, P. S. Nelson, Bolivar.

It was voted to have the secretary write our attorney, Mr. Brown, at Washington, expressing our thanks about the passage of the postal salary bill. The attitude of President Coolidge in vetoing this much needed assistance among the carrier body is looked upon with a great deal of regret. It does not seem fair to the rural men, for the department to give city carriers the same wages and furnish all equipment for them as it does rural carriers who have to maintain their own equipment.

The next meeting, a basket picnic, will be held in the park at Friendship, Saturday, July 14th. All carriers and their families are requested to be present, together with their substitutes and their families.—Clair A. Rigby, secretary.

Much hard ironing may be avoided if clothes are shaken and hung straight on the line before drying, and folded neatly before being put in the clothesbasket.

Instead of spending time and patience in chasing that pesky mosquito, why not dispense with the breeding places? One old tin can with water in it can breed enough mosquitos to keep the whole family slapping. H 134 is a free bulletin from the state college at Ithaca on mosquitos and other pests.

Rural Carriers Met

Weeks

I love the man that in the spring goes out to dig the dirt by his. I love to see him bend his back. I love to hear his knees crack. I love to see him shed his jacket, tear off the corner from the pocket, and sow good seeds with hopeful grins, to grow best greens and vitamins. But he who starts a goodly garden, some handy spot his field or yard in, and then goes off and lets the weeds grow up and make a million seeds, which shortly fern and wide are blown and on his neighbor's garden sown, as well as thickly as your own—he ought to call a good swift, Nick was wont to call a good swift, I'd like to hoist him from his chair and boot him round from here to there. The sun rides high to singe and scald, I feel it more because I'm bald. My garden rows are long and mazy; I hate to work because I'm lazy, the sweat flies darn near drive me crazy; but yet I labor soon and late, I let no ragweeds propagate. O brother, for the love of Pete, get out and work your hands and feet. O comrade for the love of Jake, go swing the hoe and yank the rake. Come neighbor, for the love of tripe, don't let those Jimson seeds get ripe.

Charles Bosard

The death of Charles Bosard occurred Thursday, June 12, at the home of his nephew, C. P. Bosard.

Mr. Bosard was born June 7, 1830 in the town of Andover. He served in the Civil War and was a member of the Cuba G. A. R.

Since the death of his wife, nine years ago, Mr. Bosard has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bosard and Mrs. Emma S. Robbins. He leaves to mourn him, his nephew, C. P. Bosard of Angelica, and two nieces, Mrs. Emma Robbins of Andover and Mrs. Frank Hazlet of Elmira Heights, N. Y.

The funeral was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bosard, the Rev. Fairfield officiating. The G. A. R. acted as pall bearers. Interment was made in the Belleville cemetery, New Hudson, N. Y.
