A 26-inch pike, wwighing six and one-half pounds, was caught near the spillway at Cuba Lake this week, according to a story going the rounds.

Details of the reported catch have all the earmarks of a fish story, but inglers on the lake at the time bear them out. Charles G. Smith and Albert Oreutt, both and Olean, were assing from a rowboat when Smith got a strike. He receled the first totapoint near the boat but because of its "pep" was unable to lift it into the boat. Orcutt reached over the side of the boat until his head and shoulders were under water. He managed to grasp the fish and pull it into the boat, according to the story.

Why Leave Out the Alumni Banquet?

Adver High School commencement last week was in every way fine. A splendid class of young men and women; beautifully decorated Auditorbury; dainty gowns, inspiring music and splendid addresses.

One thing was lacking, however, the alumni banquent. We believe it is a mistake for Andover or any school to allow this function to drop. There is nothing that goes farther to keep an interest in the school than the annual banquet and the meeting of former pupils who look forward from year to year to attendance at the feast of their Alma Mater.
