

A QUESTION ANSWERED

Question: Who is the most benefited by the money you earn?

Answer: YOU ARE, if you save it, OTHERS ARE if you spend it.

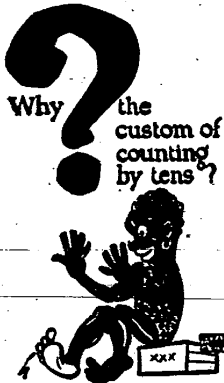

No doubt about the truth of that answer! Then why not profit by the money you earn, by making a small deposit regularly at our Bank? Others are doing it and are profiting by it. The same plan is open to you. Your deposits will be safeguarded. Why not get in line so you may obtain permanent benefit from your earnings?

Kemp—Cleveland

A pretty wedding took place in St. John's Church, Lancaster, last evening at six o'clock, when Miss Ruth M. Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland of 179 Calumet street, was united in marriage with Jesse D. Kemp of Andover, N. Y. Rev. G. M. Bock performed the ceremony.

The altar and chancel were decorated with palms, roses and other flowers. Philip Kraemer played Lohegrin's Wedding March. Mr. Vernon Snell sang, "O Promise Me."

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white canton crepe with tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was Nellie Cleveland Ottinger of Buffalo, who wore peach crepe and carried opelia roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaids were Miss Marion Murphy of Depew, who wore orchid crepe and carried pink roses and Miss Irene Bund of Depew, who wore coral crepe and carried pink roses. The best man was Raymond E. Ottinger of Buffalo and the groomsmen were Elmer Duet-schlander and Edward Byron. The little flower girl was Neola Swain. The ushers were Roy Zubrick and Richard McGuire.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland.

The presents were many, beautiful, useful and ornamental. The young couple left on an extensive wedding trip. They will reside in Depew.—Depew Newspaper.

Law Requires Giving of All the Facts

Under a law which went into operation July 1st any person who while operating a motor vehicle has an accident causing injury to a person shall stop and give his name, residence, including street and number and license number, to the police officer, or in case no officer is in the vicinity, to the nearest police station or judicial officer. It is also required that a report in writing shall be sent to the commissioner of motor vehicles at Albany.

If an accident involves only damage to another vehicle the operator shall stop and give his name, residence and license number to the person sustaining the damage, or to a police officer, or in case no police officer is present, then the report shall be made to the nearest station or judicial officer. No matter how slight the damage or injury may be the law requires that every time a motorist has an accident he must stop, give the information about himself and send the report required.

Rude Rural Rhymes

O MIN!

I strike my tuneful lyre today and sing a joyful roundelay because my wife has gone away. She piles my morning buckwheat stack, then swings a broom to clear the shack of all the mud I homeward track. She sews betimes, upon my britches, strong buttons for my gallus hitches. Her patchwork pattern on their seat is strong as reinforced concrete. From early morn to twilight dim she works and plans for me and Jim. She bakes good pies and fills our skins with calories and vitamins. Her gentle presence many a year has brot us comfort, health and cheer. She also is a charming creature in every line and every feature; she is the finest wife by gad, that this bald bard has ever had; but still you hear him shout today, "My wife has gone, hooray, hooray." For Jim and I with kiss and smile, have sent her off for quite a while. We know she needs a good vacation, which is the simple explanation of this unseemly jubilation. Our joy for her, and not for us, we are a pair of lonesome cusses. But soon we know she'll come once more, less weary than she was before, and even nicer, tho' by gum. I'll tell you now that's going some. And so once more I'll sing and say "My wife is gone, hooray, hooray."

FIRE INSURANCE

We are writing Fire Insurance in strong Old Line Companies, as we have been doing for over twenty-five years, without a dissatisfied customer during the period. To supply the needs of some who prefer Mutual Fire Insurance, we have previously had it written out of town, recently we have taken the agency of some very strong mutual companies. We have one mutual company with more assets than twenty companies such as are being peddled in Andover by out of town agencies. We can write your insurance at the very lowest possible cost and give you protection as good as the best.

WORKINGS OF ELECTION MACHINE

Unusual Political Makes Possible Choice Either Bryan or L.

Written Specially for Andover by EDWARD PERCY (Autocaster Service)

Fancy a conservative publishing on its first page to the effect that neither Davis nor La Follette elected President of the States in November. At such a statement might side the realm of possible political situation is the election machinery does not require much to foresee the possibility probability, of such a statement anything may happen.

There are 531 votes in the electoral college. The electoral college is composed of electors, each state, equal in number to the number of Senators and Representatives to which the state is entitled. For example, New York has two Senators and 43 Representatives. Therefore, New York has forty-five votes in the electoral college. The total number of electors is 531. In voting it will be noted that the people electors of their states, appearing on the ballot those of Coolidge or Davis.

The Constitution provides that a majority of these 531 electors, or 266, is necessary to elect a President. The person having the greatest number of votes wins when there are no electors in the field, but the complexities begin.

Here is the constitution: "The person having the number of votes (in the electoral college) for president, if such number is a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if having such majority, the persons having the greatest number of votes for President, if such number is not a majority, the electors shall meet in the House of Representatives immediately by ballot, to elect a President."

Now let us turn to the candidate receiving the largest number of votes could be chosen, then La Follette into the electoral college, according to the constitution, and astute political observation it is highly unlikely that of the electoral vote won by any of the candidates.

The second Monday in January, the electors meet in their respective states and declare for the person they wish to elect. The votes will then be sent to the president elect in Washington.

counted on the second Monday in February before the meeting of the House and Senate. Then the result will be known.
