TAKE YOUR CHOICE.
ANOTHER MISTONE.
MERCHANT FARMERS.
VALUABLE WASPS.

Republicans demonstrate to you beyond the shadow of doubt that La Follette will take the votes from John W. Davis. "Organized labor States will desert Democrats," and "Davis will get nothing but the South."

Democrats can prove, if you have any intelligence at all, that La Follette's vote will be taken from Coolidge. La Follette is a Republican, his following is chiefly among farmers of the Northwest. They are Republicans. La Follette will carry Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Idaho, Utah and elect Davis. That is what the Democrats say.

Civilization continues to pass important milestones. The end of slavery was one. The second engine was another. The electric dynamo another. The gramophone and telephone others. This most romantic of nations is now to be labeled "Around the World in a Flying Machine."

Twenty-five million dollars' worth of grain elevators are included in a big merger that will allow men to grow grain to control marketing. This is one of the biggest cooperative marketing enterprises ever organized.

The farmers owning this concern, if they own it, and if they control its management, would have storage for 50,000,000 bushels of grain, in Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Fort Worth, Texas, etc.

Men that produce the wheat, pigs, corn, potatoes, etc., ought to have something to do with the marketing and price regulation. They haven't managed it yet, but California has proved that it can be done.

United States athletes have re-

Running, jumping, etc., mean nothing unless they indicate brain and nerve power behind the record. This mixed race of ours, which is NOT a "Nordic" race, a Latin race, a Semitic or Celtic race, is doing as mixed races have done for centuries in Greece, Rome, France, England—beating races that have allowed the breed to stagnate.

B. G. Lamme is dead. How many of our 112,000,000 know his name? He was one of the four greatest electricians in this country. Edison, Tesla, and Steinmetz were the other three. Lamme and Steinmetz are gone.

A master of electrical science, Lamme was creator of 150 useful inventions, and called "the greatest mathematician."

At his work as chief engineer for the Westinghouse Company, Lamme was helped by two sisters, one with a desk beside his was chief designer of direct current motors. These peculiar French wasps are brought here to fight the corn borer. They are the children's children might save the country hundreds of millions a year.

Of all the news today, for permanent value nothing is more important than the importation by the State of Ohio of seven thousand wasps from France. These peculiar French wasps are brought here to fight the corn borer. They are the children's children might save the country hundreds of millions a year.

United States ceases issuing Treasury savings certificates stamps that have paid 4 1/2 per cent. The Government can borrow money from big banks and financiers at a lower rate. So why pay 4 1/2 per cent to the little people?

What about the high minded, magnificent, unselfish, patriotic desire to "cultivate thrift in the masses"? Did that die suddenly when interest rates fell? Did the Government want to help the masses, or only want the savings of the masses?

The prosperity outlook is cheerful, even for farmers, something that couldn't be said a few weeks ago.

"Ten dollar pork" which means $10 a hundred for hogs on the hoof, is in sight. That's due to the high price of corn. Pork is corn transformed in the pig's digestive apparatus. Farmers that raise the pork also raise the corn. They'll get the money. And cattle are going up.

FIVE YOUNG WOMEN
ON A HIKE

to wash. They slept "right out under the stars" most of the night in sleeping bags which they carried with them.

Friday, "Glorious Fourth," our girls walked all day. All cars were filled to overflowing, so they had no opportunities for auto rides. The hiking party made less than ten miles but they got to Fullersville where they bought food and parked in the wood. It was a grand spot, all right, but it began to rain soon after getting the camp in shape and the young ladies had to forsake it and take refuge in an old barn near by, and where birds were nesting and were very much peeved at the interruption of their night's repose.

The rain continued the next morning and the hikers remained in the old barn playing cards and mending until nearly ten o'clock, when the weather cleared away and they started for Edwards, and were lucky enough to get an auto ride way into town. Here they purchased a lot of provisions and after leaving the town had to walk miles over a detour, until finally a man in a Ford came along and took the whole party, bags and provisions aboard. The girls finally hired him to take them on seven miles more to the foot of the hill, then walked over the "ridge," to Oswegatchie. Here they were offered a ride to Star Lake, where they went to bed in a hotel.

The party remained all day Sunday at Star Lake. They cooked their breakfast in a pavilion, over the lake and went in a row boat all over one of the points of the lake. They had dinner in the back of a store where the proprietor gave them the use of his stove and groceries, allowing the girls to do their own bookkeeping as to the quantity of his groceries they used. After dinner the hikers climbed Maple Mountain where they obtained a fine view of the lake, being able to see all five points of the star.

Monday morning the party was up bright and early ready for a start on the trail, breakfasting on the road. They hiked to Wanakena, where they got a ride the whole length of Cranberry Lake with the mail boat man. They stayed that night at the Evergreen House at Cranberry village, Miss McPetridge learning from the hostess of the recent visit there of one of her cousins.

Tuesday morning the party took the Grasse River R. R., with six others for Lake Placid. Upon arrival there they were met by a man who represented himself to be a deputy sheriff. He took them to several places before all were fully convinced that they were safe from harm, and finally landed them at Wilmington Notch Camp Site, a camp maintained by the state for tourists. There were about fifty people in camp when the girls arrived. He told them that five men had but recently been murdered on Whiteface Mountain, not so many miles distant which naturally threw a big scare into camp. The next morning the deputy sheriff (?) came back with another story of how other murders had been committed in that vicinity, and told them that the state troopers were located all around there in an effort to catch the murderers. The whole camp was worried until it became quite evident that the self-appointed deputy sheriff was just a "nut" and a mighty big bag of wind at that. But there had been two murders committed near Whiteface Mountain recently.

The next day after arrival in camp the party took a trip down the trail to Ausable River and Falls. That night a large car caught fire right in front of the camp. On investigation it was found that there were three cars in the party. One a pilot car, a booze-laden car and a trailer. The loaded booze car had caught fire. The bootleggers transferred much of the booze to the pilot car, one of their number standing guard over the camp and road with a loaded rifle, to see that no one gave information to the state troopers that they were there. Finally they got the disabled car out of the way with the assistance of the men in the camp. The bootleggers gave each of the men of the camp helping them a bottle of booze for their services, much to the regret of the ladies of the party as they were to worry more over having a drunken camp than they did over the presence of the bootleggers.

Thursday, July 10th, the campers formed a party and climbed Whiteface Mountain. The trail is over seven miles long and before reaching the top the party passed thru many clouds. It began to rain and a terrible storm came up. It was cold and they were all wet thru. They stopped and built a fire and had luncheon. They then climbed the white face of the mountain. It seemed almost perpendicular and of solid white granite. At the top was a fire warden's tower which they managed, after much difficulty, to climb. From it they could plainly see fifty-one lakes including Lake Champlain.

On their way home some one of the men found a man's soft felt hat, that later caused much excitement. They took it into camp with them. State police learning of the find visited the camp and made an investigation, taking the hat with them for evidence, saying that it was undoubtedly the hat belonging to one of the murdered men or the one murdering them. There were initials in the hat and the police claimed to find blood stains on it. The next morning the Utica papers came out with great scare heads over an article telling of the finding of the hat worn by the murderer.

Miss McPetridge left the camping party for a couple of days on a side trip to Plattsburg and Montreal in company with friends found in camp. They left at about noon and saw the wonderful training camp at Plattsburg, went to Dominion park, rode in the scenic airplane and passed the night with an English family. They were about the only people there who could speak English as it was a French-Canadian district.

Saturday the party took in the sights of Montreal, Canada. They had dinner at a French restaurant and had much sport trying to find out what the menu was. In the afternoon the party took a trip around Mount Royal in an observation car and later visited Windsor Station and the Cathedral of St. James. They left at 7 o'clock in the evening and got back to camp at about 2 a. m., the next morning.

The party started for home by rail July 14th, after having a most interesting and varied experience. Miss McPetridge says she had a most wonderful time and will try it again sometime, but prefers to go without peak sleeping in hotels until the mountains are reached. She says a party of five is a hard bunch to have along when depending upon getting automobile rides. Four would get many more rides and if there were but three in the party they could ride most of the time. A trip such as is so vividly described to the News is of rather lasting benefit and interest, especially to one so gifted with the faculty of remembering and describing it all in detail as has been done so cleverly by Miss McPetridge, herewith.
