Mrs. Harding was born in Marion in 1860, daughter of Amos Kling, a pioneer of the town. She married Mr. Harding in 1891 and worked beside him in the office of the Marion Star for several years until the business was on a paying basis.

Her strength was severely taxed by the arduous duties required of the White House hostess and the shock of her husband's death was to such a nature as to hasten the progress of her disease.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon in the Epworth Methodist church at Marion and the body laid in the tomb beside that of her husband, the 29th Executive of the Nation.

The appeal of the noted verdict for damages in behalf of Hugh J. Stephens of Canisteo against the Erie railroad company for damages for the loss of both of his legs, was argued in Rochester before the justices of the appellate division of the supreme court.

The Erie railroad is arguing for a new trial and to set aside the verdict against the defendant company for $62,250.

Mr. Stephens was engaged in icing cars at the big ice plant between Canisteo and Hornell in September, 1922 when without warning of any kind the yard master ran a string of cars into the ones being iced. Mr. Stephens was knocked off the top of the car and run over, the car wheels cutting off both legs above the knees.

The jury returned a verdict of $62,250, the largest ever given in Steuben county. The railroad company is now seeking to set the verdict aside. It is expected that a decision will not be given inside of two weeks.

DO HENS PAY?

The Following Statement From Mrs. F. Clarke Shows That it Does.

Beginning Nov. 1, 1923, Mrs. Clarke kept 120 White Leghorn pullets and 20 yearling hens from which she received 22,766 or an average of 162 eggs per bird.

The cost of feed, egg crates and culling was $299.55. Money received from eggs, $625.75. Eggs consumed at home $7.15, making a total of $6.62.90. That leaves her which she received 22,766 eggs or an average of 162 eggs per bird.

We doubt if this record can be beaten by anyone in this entire section.—Whitesville News.

A Change in Auto Fees

One of the most important changes in the new Motor Vehicle Law, as compared with the statute in force a year ago, is the one effective January 1st, dealing with a revision of the registration fees charged for cars weighing more than 3,500 pounds. This change grants relief from the apparent penalty levied on owners of cars of the Pierce-Arrow, Packard and other heavy types by making the fee per hundred pounds the same as charged lighter cars until the total weight exceeds thirty-five hundred.

For many years—and even at the present time—cars weighing less than thirty-five hundred pounds paid a fee of fifty cents per hundred. The fee for cars in excess of that weight is now seventy-five cents per hundred pounds. In other words, a car weighing 3,400 pounds would pay a fee of $17.00, while a car weighing 3,500 pounds would carry a charge of $27.00, for registration.

This arrangement cost the owner nearly double the fee for the extra 200 pounds, if he happened to own the thirty-six hundred pound car.

Under that section of the law dealing with this particular feature of automobile registration, and which becomes effective January 1, 1925, the fee for all cars, other than commercial vehicles and omnibuses, is placed at fifty cents per hundred for thirty-five hundred pounds or less, and seventy-five cents per hundred for each hundred pounds or major fraction thereof, in excess of thirty-five hundred.

Under this arrangement the car weighing 3,400 pounds will pay a fee of $17.00 and the one weighing 3,500 will pay $18.25 instead of $27.00.

Another change effective January 1st provides for one-half of the annual registration fee if the car is registered after July 1, and one-fourth if registered after October first.
