EDUCATION WEEK.
WHAT KILLS BOLSEHEVISM?
A BIGGER DINOSAUR.
ITALIAN IMMIGRATION.

President Coolidge's message, announcing Education Week, was as brief and as sound as any message on education since Jaures's message to the school teachers of France.

"Teach the children to read intelligently and all knowledge is open to them."

Fathers and mothers need not worry because their children lack "college education" if they have been taught to read intelligently, and if they read the right books, because their minds crave information.

A better, more useful education can be got from two years' systematic reading of the right kind than the education planted in the average young student in his four years at college.

Lord Ashfield, Englishman who thinks, says that Bolshevism is kept down in America by the fact that almost everybody has an automobile. Almost everybody hasn't an automobile. But almost everybody can reasonably hope to have one, or to ride in one owned by a son, daughter, brother or sister.

They have found in Africa, well preserved, bones of a dinosaur, twice as big as the biggest thus far known. The history of that dinosaur would show that the bigger he grew, the nearer he was to extinction. That thought should occupy the minds of our financial dinosaurs. "Providence arranges it so that the trees shall not grow into the heavens." That's also true of dinosaurs.

Massachusetts is lucky that she has a good ship for Italy. They are an anti-wait, of Friendship and Warren W. Shaner of Bolivar. The bride is a graduate of the Friendship high school, and was a student at the Dulais Normal the past year. The groom served one year in the United States army and was stationed at Hawaii. Mr. and Mrs. Shaner will reside in Bolivar.
