Mr. Redcliff and family were Greenwood Hill visitors last Sunday. A number of our residents attended the funeral on Saturday of Miss Eva McAndrew from Blessed Sacrament church, Andover. Miss McAndrew was one of South Hill's daughters, where she had always resided until removing with the family to their home in Andover five years ago. She had cherished in those years a great love for her earlier home, where by her exemplary life and character she had won all as friends. The sympathy of our people is extended to the bereaved family, in the loss of a most devoted daughter and sister.

Mr. Barlow is on the sick list this week.

Rude Rural Rhymes

Liars

Says Boggs, "The apple trees I sell are bred and hybridized so well that each will yield, the first year planted, a half a bushel slightly scanted." You ask me why in any soil, Boggs' fruit should thus repay our toil and I shall say, in explanation, that Boggs has used prevarication. Jim Jones declares, "My wheat prizetaker, goes fifty bushels to the acre. It came from seeds that long were shut within the tomb of a Kink Tut." Such noble yields, pray how expain, from seeds that centuries have lain? No corroboration I require, I say off hand that Jim's a liar. Some scofflaw says, "I suck up booze, the bootleg kind, whenever I choose, have drunk it thrice a day, in fact, since nineteen hundred and Volstead Act, yet still am healthy, strong and fat. Now how do you account for that?" I shall not have to study, brother; I simply tell him he's another. We hear alas where'er we go, a lot of things that are not so and though by means of sage replies we strive to slay these snaky lies, some other rused Ananias forever rises up to try us.

SUBSTITUTES HURT COAL BUSINESS

Oil, Coke and Electricity Are Being Used Instead of Hard Coal.

Hazleton, Pa., Dec. 9. Substitutes for anthracite coal such as oil, coke, bituminous coal and electricity are effecting the hard coal trade field, agents of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company report. The company operates several collieries in the Panther Creek valley.

One represented reported sales of anthracite in the Great Lake region this year, would not be more than fifty per cent. of the amount used during the preceding year. Consumers there, he told the company, have changed to coke, soft coal and other fuels.

New freight rates on bituminous coal from the Pocahontas and New River sections in the West Virginia region to Washington, are blamed for the increased use of bituminous in that territory. The mild weather of the fall is another reason for lower consumption.

Notwithstanding these conditions, virtually, all the mines of the anthracite district are being operated on a steady time and this schedule prevailed the entire year with the exception of short suspensions by a few of the companies at the height of summer, when the demand was low. Operators announce they see no curtailment ahead and the miners face a prosperous winter.

The Lower Anthracite Bankers' Association, meeting in this city, was warned by a New York speaker that if the price of hard coal should be increased the market would be restricted by the adoption of substitutes.

The best and cheapest substitute in the opinion of A. B. Jessup, vice-president and general manager of the Jeddo-Highland Coal Company, is buckwheat, a grade smaller than pea coal. He asserted this can be had at the mines for about half the cost of the other sizes of fuel which are bought by domestic consumers and that grades can be changed easily for its use. There was a time when buckwheat was that to be available only for steam plants at the collieries or for industrial concerns.

RADIO "JUST DISCOVERED RADIO"

Occasionally some prominent Hornellian comes to our section—he's just discovering RADIO. It's interesting to see his boyish enthusiasm—and we wonder at his indifference all this time. Usually we find one cause—first hand faulty reception and the subsequent demoralization of the subject. Meanwhile his family has been missing the wonders and delights of radio—now enjoyed by millions. Let our Radio Section bring you up to date. We have gathered the world's finest receivers and have experts to install them and show you how to get the most from them.
