byists, but this year many crazy-quilt measures have found their way into the legislature. Parents, teachers or anyone else caught whipping would be fined by a proposel law in one state. other would forbid the killing or eating of animals, fish, game and fowl and carries a penalty of both fine!

In the Indiana legislature is a bill setting forth that the state highway commission shall provide awnings for all state roads and that any automobile driver in caught carrying any material off a state road with his tires shall be fined. A Kansas legislator would make it punishable b fine and imprisonment to bake mince pies. He believes they cause dyspensia and therefore should come the law's ban. Members of the legislature are subject to criticism, of course, by wasting time with such child's play. but the blame really belongs with the cranks who endeavor to force their views upon people thru the man-1 date of the law. The cases cited are extreme. However, there are many people with ideas as ridiculous of what ought to it be accomplished by passing a law on the subject.

The taxpayers can only fervently hope that most; of these propositions, which are too silly to be dignified with the name of a legislative bill, will be defeated and that steady principles of self-reliance and commen sense may prevail in their stead. It's time that we were taking the mask off the doctrine that all the evils of society can be cured by law.

But it is questionable whether the desire to excell is always the conrolling factor when the aim is solely to set up a "new !!!.

The penchant for championships lately has been growing. The coffee-drinking "record" has been "broken" so often that the newest holder never knows !! how unsafely rests the crown. "Banana-eating chamions" have been hurling challenges to all who may are to participate in an open contest.

It was not so long ago that piano players far and near were engaged in the harmless pastime of deter-il mining who could play for the longest period of time without stopping. Then came the dance marathon, and other "contests" testing human endurance. Beauty contests have become quite popular, the desire to excell generally having as an impetus the chance at movie contract or a prize of some sort.

The operators of the central competitive field, embracing the bituminous mines of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, have announced they will fight for a lower wage scale. The gauntlet thus thrown down, John L. Lewis, international president of United Mine Workers, opening the convention in Indianapolis, accepted the challenge with a clear-cut rejoinder that no reduction in wages would be accepted. Wages at present are based on $7.50 for an eight our day. There were even hints in the convention of a demand for higher pay for a six hour day and a five
