How "FOOLISHNESS" in 1905....

keeps your electric bills low today

"N TO money for such foolishness," said financial men, when engineers wanted to transmit electric power from Niagara Falls-to Syracuse, 200 miles away.

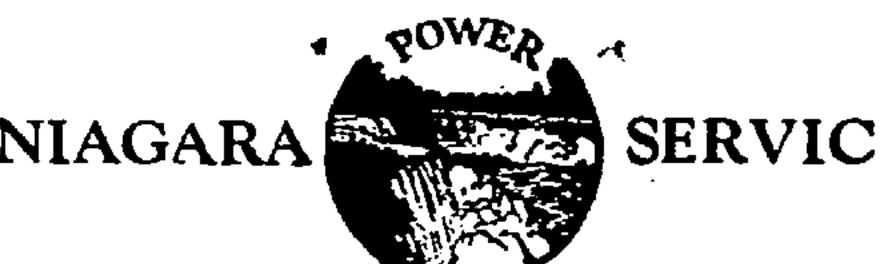

But the money was raised and the steel towers went up. Today a network of these lines interconnect the cities and towns of Western New

And through these interconnected power plants, the Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern System is able to route cheap Niagara Power from one city

Thus less electricity has to be generated by steam—thousands of tons of coal are saved each yearyour electric current comes to you at the lowest possible cost.

The "foolishness" of 1905 makes your electricity today the biggest bargain you buy. Use it freely....
