MOSTLY BOY
by WILLIAM H. TOMPKINS

It Ain't Polite

Now it don't matter what you do
There's someone always telling you,
A-shootin' it right in your ear
Like you was deaf an' couldn't hear,
An' it don't matter who is there,
They act just like they didn't care,
But shout as long as you're in sight,
"Oh don't do that; it's not polite!"
You hear it when you go to school,
At home it is the reg'lar rule,
At picnics, church or out to play
You hear their motto night an' day,
An' it don't matter how you try,
There's always someone right close by
Who's watching every move you make
An' pounces on your first mistake.
Sometimes you will forget a bit
Like grownups do, but don't admit,
Yet that don't matter, no sir-ee,
Not when they've got their eye on me;
It's "Thomas Smith, that's not polite,
Your manners simply are a fright!"
But you just wait, some day you bet
I'll even up these big folks yet!

Notice to Water Consumers

Notwithstanding the rules of the Water Commissioners of the Village of Andover, that all water bills are due and payable in advance, we now find that there are so many outstanding water accounts as to seriously handicap the finances of the Water Department.

The commission feels that it is an injustice to them and to the other consumers who pay for their water regularly to allow some to go for months unpaid and collect of others and are determined to stop at once this loose manner of doing business. Therefore they have set Oct. 20th as the final day in which these old accounts can be paid. After that date the water service in the Village of Andover will be discontinued from all who owe unpaid water bills. There will positively be no exception made to this rule. Better all look up your water bill receipts and know that it is paid or you may be without water on September 20th. 37

SEPTEMBER STATE CROP REPORT

Potatoes a Little Larger Crop Than Last Year, is Only Fair. Most Fruit is Rather Poor.

The apple crop thruout the state is very light, with relatively the best prospects in the Champlain valley and the Hudson valley according to the state-federal report for September, issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Last year, the heavy production in the general farming sections outside the commercial "Apple Belts" swelled the totals. This season, the crop is very small in those secttions.

Potatoes Only Fair

There was little change during August in the potato situation in New York State, the relatively poor condition reported at that time having continued, with attacks of late blight in many unsprayed fields, and the retardation of growth because of cool, dry weather in some localities. The September forecast, assuming that average weather prevails to the end of the season, is for a crop of 31,995,000 bushels, compared with 29,016,000 bushels last year and the five year average of 34,273,000 bushels. Late blight has reduced the prospects seriously in Maine, while in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, frosts and droughts have cut the expected crop. The decrease in those four states is over 18,000,000 bushels from the August forecast. The nine late states of Maine, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota now have 205,833,000 bushels in prospect compared with 199,670,000 bushels last year and the five-year average of 225,333,000 bushels. These states produce about half the potato crop of the United States. The United States crop is forecast at 399,798,000 bushels last year, 356,123,000 bushles in 1926 and the five year average of 394,135,000 bushels.

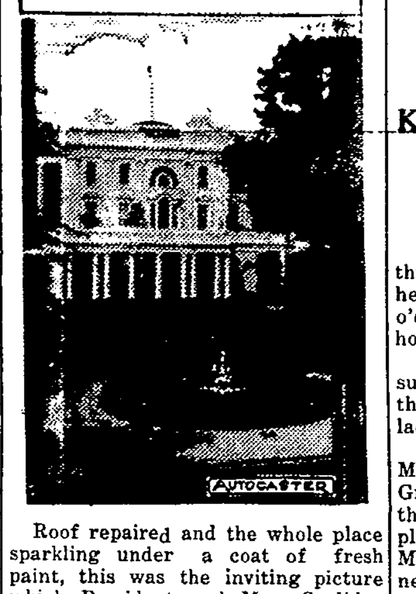
Bean Crop Poor

The bean crop in New York has suffered serious deterioration because of unfavorable growing weather and the ravages of disease. They are ripening up unusually late and are thus subject to greater frost hazards than usual. The September forecast of 1,005,000 bushels compares with 1,145,000 bushels harvested last year, when the crop was badly damaged by wet weather at harvest time.

Cabbage Good

Danish cabbage, the late fall and winter shipping and storage variety, promises well, providing the late planted fields reach maturity. The state forecast of 227,900 tons of this variety is in contrast to 204,300 tons last season. Wisconsin has 86,700 tons in sight, compared with 79,500 tons last year, while the United States total of 361,000 tons is somewhat greater than the 337,300 tons produced last year.

Awaiting President



Roof repaired and the whole place sparkling under a coat of fresh paint, this was the inviting picture which President and Mrs. Coolidge came upon as they approached the east entrance of the White House on their return from the Dakota vacation.

JUDGE C. A. FARNUM AT LIFE'S END

Prominent Judge and Lawyer Passed Away Sunday Morning at His Home in Wellsville.

Wellsville, Sept. 19.—Clarence Asher Farnum, of 114 Pearl street, a prominent citizen and attorney of Wellsville, for the past 50 years, died at 1:35 a. m., Sunday.

Judge Farnum never regained perfect health after an automobile accident in Florida last winter. He was for many years recognized as a leading attorney of Allegany county and during the administration of President Grover Cleveland was appointed county judge to fill out the unexpired term of County Judge Swift, deceased. In 1883 he was elected county judge of the full six years term, and is one of the very few staunch Democrats to be elected to an official position in the county.

The decedent was born Oct. 8, 1850 in Wellsville, a son of Carlton and Sarah (Gaylord) Farnum. On Sept. 6, 1876 he married with Corrinne Hanks, who survives him, with one brother, C. C. Farnum and one sister, Mrs. Mary Macken, both of Wellsville.

He was a member of Wellsville Lodge F. & A. M., and of the DeMolay Commandery of Hornell.

Funeral services were held from the home at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday and were in charge of De Molay Commandery, and burial made in Woodlawn cemetery.

FAVOR NEW SCHOOL HOUSE ADDITION

District Votes $85,000 Bond Issue to Build New School Addition—132 For; 12 Against.

At the special election of Union Free School, District No. 1, of the town of Andover, Tuesday evening, the proposition to bond the district for $85,000 was carred by an overwhelming vote. The vote was as follows:

Number of votes cast	136
For the bond issue	132
Against the bond issue	12
Blank ballots	2

Now the Board of Education may get busy immediately and let the contracts for the work as soon as the legal formalities are taken care of.

It is possible that the work may be begun yet this fall.

One thing we cannot understand is the small number of electors who availed themselves of voting on the proposition. There are some 500 voters in the district and but 136 were sufficiently interested in an $85,000 proposition to come out and express their desires.

Infant Gets $10,000 For Burned Fingers

Little Valley, Sept. 11.—A supreme court jury in the case of George Matthew Day, infant by guardian, against Dr. Benjamin Van Campen of Olean, returned a verdict of $10,000 for the plaintiff, Friday. The child was born in Dr. Van Campen's hospital in Olean May 1 and it was claimed that about May 9 three fingers of the child's hand were burned so that one had to be taken off at the middle joint.

It was one theory of the defense that the child was burned by a hot waterbottle while the mother had it to nurse, but the mother testified that she knew of no hot water bottle. It was claimed on the part of the plaintiff that the child was in the care of Dr. VanCampen's own staff of nurses.

THREE YEAR OLD BURNED TO DEATH

Kerosene Stove Explodes, Setting House in Flames; Mother and Sister Escape.

Jasper, Sept. 16.—Maxine Griffin, three years old, was burned to death here Friday afternoon at about 2 o'clock in a fire that destroyed the home.

Her sister, Marion, five years old, sustained injuries when she was thrown to the ground from a high ladder by her rescuers.

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Griffin. Mrs. Griffin was at home at the time, altho until recently she has been employed at the City Steam Laundry. Mr. Griffin is employed at the Hornell Ice and Cold Storage here.

Maxine and Marion were sleeping in an upstairs room at the time of the outbreak of fire. A kerosene stove exploded in the kitchen. Mrs. Griffin, bewildered, fought frantically to get the stove out of the house. Unsuccessfully she directed her attention to rescuing the two little girls.

Altho fire hemmed her in she fought valiantly thru it to reach the stairs. She collapsed, however, and was barely able to drag herself out of the house.

Edward Bouck, a nearby garage worker, clambered up a ladder to the girls' bedroom, but was driven back by the fire. Marion had managed to make her way to the window, however, and was pulled out by Mr. Bouck.

GAVE WELLSVILLE HOSPITAL GIFT

Mrs. Tullar Donates New Maternity Hospital to be Built as an Addition to Jones Memorial Hospital.

A most generous gift has been bestowed upon Wellsville by Mrs. Angie C. Tullar of that city in the form of a new maternity building as an addition to Jones Memorial hospital. The Tullar Maternity hospital will be a one story building seperated from the hospital proper but directly connected by a corridor on the West Pearl street side, 20 feet back from the front of the present hospital. The plan calls for a building 38 feet wide by 88 feet long, with basement.

The interior arrangement will be modern in every detail, including two wards 12 by 14 feet, seven private rooms, 10 by 14 feet. The nursery, operating rooms and kitchen to be completely equipped.

The contract has been let for the immediate construction of the building and work will begin upon it at once.

This is a magnificent gift which will be of untold benefit not only to Wellsville but to adjacent villages and rural localities.

The average motorist's conception of heaven is a place where there are no detour signs.

Some of the colleges are putting in heating courses, so now the janitor can go to college too.

AUGUST MILK BRINGS $2.42

Highest Price in Years. Situation of Dairymen More Hopeful Than in Many Months.

For the eight consecutive month since January 1, members of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., will receive a price for milk higher than that of any corresponding month in the organization's history. The August net pool price as announced at the New York headquarters of the League this week is $2.42 per 100 pounds of 3.5 milk. This is the base price for the 200-210 mile zone.

League farmers comparing this with the average August pool prices since the pool was first organized in 1921 find that it is 24 cents higher than the average price for this period.

Reports accompanying the announcement of the August pool price to members also show that the volume of milk handled during the month exceeded that of August 1926 by approximately 10,000,000 pounds the largest percentage of increase showing in the 191 plants owned and operated by the members themselves. The report also shows an increase of more than 2,000 participating members in the pool over August a year ago. Gross sales for July were $7,225,181.77.

The 1927 pool prices together with the recent raise in selling prices negotiated by the Association have had an encouraging effect on League farmers everywhere thruout the New York Milk Shed. The successful efforts of the organization to induce the New York City Health Department to wait another year before taking steps to extend the milk zone of New York City has had a stimulating effect on milk production. The League's campaign to bring about such an increase in order to save the New York City market for the eastern dairymen promises to bring real results and benefits to the entire industry. In view of these things the present situation of the dairy industry in this part of the country is more hopeful than it has been for a long time.

MOSTLY BOY
by WILLIAM H. TOMPKINS

Boys' Manners

I wish some boys were more polite,
So that you'd feel you could invite
Them oftener to go out with you
And not be 'fraid of what they'd do,
Or be on nettles night and day
Until your hair almost turns gray;
I know at heart they are all right,
Altho their manners are a fright.

But boys are boys, so I suppose,
And not like girls are—goodness knows;
They're not so catty, nor so shy,
And couldn't be, nohow they'd try,
Nor say things that are half so mean
As any girl I've ever seen;
I guess it's best that it is so,
Else you'd not have one for a beau.

Ma says that Pa was just that way,
And that it seems but yesterday
When he cut up an awful caper
You wouldn't dare write down on paper;
Yet Pa is just a jewel now,
And knows just what to say and how;
So I have hopes that Tom Smith outgrows
Those awful manners — goodness knows!

New Electric Plow in Use

H. L. Roe of New Castle, Pa., has attracted national attention with his electric plow, as he experiments on the 600 acre farm of Donald Woodward at LeRoy, N. Y. As shown in the photo, a double plow is used—one positive and the other negative. The high voltage passing plow to plow thru the damp earth, is said to kill insects, worms, and weeds, thus giving the ground basic fertilizer—nitrogen.

F'r the Love o' Jack

Of course Estelle Taylor Dempsey, wife of the former champ, doesn't have to do this—but recovering in health—and being with Jack at his Chicago training quarters where he makes ready for Tunney, Sept. 22, Mrs. D. felt the domestic urge and washed out a few things.

DO YOU READ LIBRARY BOOKS?

Then give an Occasional Chance to Those Classified Non-Fiction — Scientific, Agricultural, etc.

Andover has a fine library. It is credited with having the best patronage of any for the size of the place. But the section carrying fiction seems the most used. In fact many of the very best non-fiction books show little use.

It may be that part of the reason for this is because many do not know they are there. believing library books are all story books.

Look over the non-fiction shelves You will find an ynumber of books to interest you. Perhaps you are interested in bee-keeping or cooking, or interior decorating, or science. No matter what it is you will find something to interest you. Here are a few that should be interesting:

Books to Interest Farmers

"Home Water Works," by Lynde.—Water as used for power on the farm, and all kinds of pumps.

"The Farmer and the New Day," by Kenyon L. Butterfield.—Takes up the problem of rural education, the consolidation problem, the organization of farmers for better profits, etc.

"Crops and Methods for Soil Improvement," by Agee.—Need, use and application of fertilizers, especially lime (the different kinds of lime) for better crops. Grass-seed mixtures for hay and pasture, a chapter on raising legumes and another on land drainage.

"Home and Vegetable Gardening."—The raising of small berries their care, spraying for insects and diseases.

"Handy Farm Devices."—Advice on everything from grind-stones to making a potato sorter and cleaner. All made in the farm workshop. Also a chapter on papering.

"Barn Plans and Out-Buildings."—The best in silos, ice-houses, corncribs, grain-bins, smoke houses, cow sheds, storage pits and cellars, methods of construction. Planning any improvements?

2. Making it possible for voters to register during a more extended period than at present in localities where personal registration is required.
3. Prohibiting the marriage of girls under 16? Permitting them to marry between the ages of 14 and 16 only when both parents and court consent. Give reasons for your answers.
4. Revision of the law so that (a) For purposes of voting and office holding a married woman may choose a domicile different from her husband's? (b) Men and women shall be equally liable in cases of commercialized vice?
5. Enactment of a state prohibition enforcement law? Of what kind?
6. A five-day waiting period between the application for a marriage license and its issuance?

These questions all relate to legislation which the L. W. V. has for several years been supporting. Ever since its organization in 1919, at each election the L. W. V., thru its assembly district organizations, has submitted to the candidates for state office, questions of special moment to women citizens. The candidates are as a rule cordial in answering the questions. It is the custom to distribute a broadside containing the questions and answers and to publish them in the local press before the election.

RESULT OF THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Guy L. Balcom Wins Republican Nomination for Sheriff in Steuben County; McDowell Beats Allen

The primary election passed off very quietly in Andover as there were no contests on either the Democratic or Republican tickets.

Few contests were had in Allegany county and they were for county committeemen on the Republican ticket in Wellsville and the Democratic ticket in Angelica.

The real primary scrap was in Hornell and Steuben county where the regular organization ticket was successful.

The election resulted in the nomination of Guy L. Balcom of Hornell as the Republican candidate for sheriff and D. L. McDowell as the Republican candidate for mayor. Mr. Balcom's plurality in the county is estimated between 800 and 1,000, while that of Mr. McDowell in the city is 551.

The election was a spirited one for the Republicans altho the contests were few. The race for the Republican nomination for sheriff was by far the most hotly contested and the strength of Stanley Hoagland, the dry candidate, was surprising. He carried a number of places and kept Mr. Balcom's plurality down in both Hornell and Bath. Myron Wagner of Fremont and Albert D. Randall of Painted Post who were also candidates for the nomination were distanced by both Balcom and Hoagland.

Balcom left Hornell with a margin of only 62 votes over Hoagland and in fact, he was defeated by Hoagland in the seventh, eighth and ninth and tenth and eleventh districts. The organization candidate was aided in Corning and in many rural sections, however.

Infantile Paralysis Cases Show Increase

Albany, Sept. 20.—Infantile paralysis cases in New York State have, as a whole, shown an increase this month over last, according to a special report of the State Department of Health, tonight. Nevertheless, officials of the department expressed the opinion that the disease is not epidemic.
