Reception for New Pastor

Rev. C. E. McHugh of Andover introduced Father Hoeber of Olean, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church who now fills the position formerly occupied by Father Quinlan, and who spoke of his admiration for his predecessor. He was followed by the Rev. E. J. Rengel, pastor of St. Mary's church, whose assistant Father Quinlan had been for two years, and whom he praised for his character and work.—Patriot.

We clip the above from the write up in the Cuba Patriot of a very fine reception tendered Rev. Quinlan who is leaving the Cuba church to assume a new charge. Many News readers will be interested in the item.

Bishop McMahon Dies

The Most Rev. John Joseph McMahon, Bishop of Trenton, N. J., Roman Catholic Diocese died recently at St. Mary's hospital, Buffalo, where he had been a patient since Dec. 21st. He had recently had three major operations.

Bishop McMahon was born in Hinsdale 67 years ago, the son of Martin and Margaret Maroney McMahon. His mother died a few years ago at the home of her son, Frank McMahon in Belfast, and he conducted her funeral in that place. He was educated at St. Bonaventure College and in Rome and was ordained at the Vatican in 1900.

Children were often employed in the mines of Rome and other ancient nations, because they could squeeze thru tunnels to drag out the heavy sacks of ore.

Epilepsy, with its strange convulsive attacks, was regarded as a sacred disease in ancient times.

Local Happenings

Obi is having an epidemic of the mumps. Andover merchants are now busy with the annual inventory of stock. A. L. Bloss was unable to be at his place in the Bloss grocery for a few days, having been ill with influenza.

An old lady, walking all the way from Jamestown to Hornell was picked up in this village and given a ride to Hornell Monday.

Robert, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Allentown had his leg broken when hit by a car while coasting on the highway.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Baptist church are planning an entertainment and tureen supper for Friday, Jan. 20th, at the church parlors.

The L. L. Bridge Club met with Mrs. Florence Bloss Tuesday evening. Prizes were awarded Miss Helen Folsing, Mrs. Mary Childs and Mrs. Edith Holmes.

The afternoon division of the King's Daughter of the Presbyterian church were entertained by Miss Catherine Lymburner and Mrs. W. E. Pease Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Lymburner.

The Senior Philathea Class of the Baptist church are enjoying a social time and tureen supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Orris this Friday evening. All of the members and their families are urged to attend.

The Board of Supervisors of Allegany county has decided to sell its 22 acre tuberculosis hospital site near Belmont. The land was purchased in 1918 at which time the state was threatening to compel the building of such a hospital.

Dr. Lloyd Tefft of Bradford, formerly of Wellsville, died in Bradford Monday. The body was taken to Buffalo for cremation and the ashes brought to Belmont for funeral and burial. Bradford Legionnaires in charge of military honors.

Mrs. D. W. Cramer of Portville was painfully burned last week. She had washed some garments in gasoline out of doors and brought them into the house thinking the gasoline had evaporated when flames from the kitchen stove ignited the fumes.

The W. W. G. girls hold a special meeting this week Friday with Miss Mary Lehman. They will make plans for their initiation at the next monthly meeting. The W. W. G. vesper service will be held Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m., in the session room of the church. All of the girls are urged to be present.

Mrs. Eugene Griggs of Andover is credited with the November home egg-laying contest honors in both pullet and hen classes of the Farm Bureau competition. With 39 pullets she got 800 eggs, 20.4 per bird, with 65.5 per cent. laying. From 48 hens, Mrs. Griggs secured 602 eggs or 12.2 per hen, with 39.9 per cent. of them laying.

There will be a meeting of the Allegany County Garden Club Tuesday evening, Jan. 17th, at 7:30 in the Congregational church, Wellsville. George McClure of Buffalo will speak on "Garden Design" with slides. It is hoped that all Andover members will be present as it promises to be a most interesting meeting.

Why not own one of these splendid Automatics? you will enjoy using it, the work will be easier and you will save enough on current to pay the bill. — $4.19.

Hot Point Super Automatics are made by General Electric. They are perfectly balanced, have adjusting switch, thumb support, iron clad cord fittings, triple chromium finished and will use one-third less current than your old iron.

Measuring Cups Green Glass graduated, handled, tipped, made to sell for a dime but we are running them at 7c each—3 for 19c.

Stopping at third base adds no more to the score than does striking out.

They that know least usually presume most.

Mrs. J. D. Cheesman is among those ill with influenza in our village.

On Monday evening the O. E. S. installed their officers after chapter and served refreshments.

Two counterfeit ten dollar bills have been passed in Hornell within two weeks. Look close at your "cents."

Over 2,000 parcels of land throughout Allegany county are listed for the auction block to be sold for unpaid taxes for 1930 and 1931.

E. A. Richardson picked dandelion blossoms on Main street in Andover Friday, Jan. 6th. How does that make our Florida friends feel?

Attorney and Mrs. Ernest Hornburg of Riverside, Olean, are announcing the arrival of a son, Jan. 2nd. Mrs. Hattie Eggleston is the nurse in charge.

A son, James Douglas, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Laven Monday, Jan. 9th, weighing seven and one-fourth pounds.

During the open season from October 25 to November 15 on deer in New York State, the kill was reported at 6,845. Seventy thousand deer hunting licenses were issued.

Andover friends of Dr. L. G. Probasco of Whitesville, who recently underwent a surgical operation at Jones Memorial hospital in Wellsville, are pleased to learn that he is now at his home reported gaining nicely.

TELL ME AN INDIAN STORY

WHAT THE BIRD TAUGHT THE RED MAN

At the dawn of the world, the red man had only his hands in which to carry things. One day, while resting under a tree, a wise red man saw a bird gather dry grasses and weave them into a nest to hold her eggs. Now the wise red man also gathered grasses and after watching the industrious bird, he too was soon able to weave a basket. He later added ribs of ash to the basket of grasses to carry heavy objects. Soon the fame of his skill passed from village to village and even to distant tribes; later, all the red people made baskets.

The bird secret, and the skill of the first basket-maker came at length to the tall tribe whose home was on the muddy river banks in the southland. One day, after a heavy rain, they found the bottoms of their baskets covered with soft clay, and when the baskets were held before the fire to dry they found the clay became hard and that the clay-bottomed baskets would hold water.

Thus the basket-makers learned another secret and covered their baskets with kneaded clay and baked the baskets before a slow fire; they then had water-holding pots when the basket frames were taken out.

In all moons since, the art of basket-making and pottery has passed from father to son and mother to daughter. Even today, the red man weaves or molds a bird design into the grasses and the clay, because it was the bird that taught the secret to the first basket-maker in those new moons when the world was young.

The Family DOCTOR

JOHN JOSEPH GAMES MD

TULAREMIA

Funny name, isn't it? But the disease isn't funny. In former years when a fellow took sick after skinning rabbits, no attention was paid to that element in the case by either patient or physician; but we have progressed, so we have "tularemia."

Common name for it is "rabbit fever." The usual history is, the young man has been hunting, with good luck—in rabbits. He has, very properly, skinned and dressed them for family use. He gets a sudden chill, followed by fever—pains all over the body with vomiting and prostration generally. He may break out in pustules, that is "pimples" containing pus. These are of the nature of a small-pox eruption, tho much less pronounced. Given the above history and symptoms we are justified in looking for a case of "rabbit fever."

It is rarely fatal, but may be many months in getting well. It depends on how the patient resists that sort of infection, how long recovery may be delayed—the same as in other infections.

My duty here is to advise you to wear rubber gloves if you skin your rabbits; not having any, be sure that you have good sound skin on your hands. No splinter-scratches or other little wounds, where the fresh rabbit-blood may get into your own. Soap and scrub the hands after dressing the game. I have skinned hundreds of rabbits, never used gloves in the process, and never had tularemia. But I may have had narrow escapes! I shall be mighty careful in the future, you may be sure.

Cooking renders rabbit meat clear and wholesome for eating. No standard treatment has been adopted for the disease. Quinine and a milk protein have had excellent reports to their credit.

Mrs. Elton L. Greene

Andover residents were deeply grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Elton L. Greene, which occurred Wednesday morning, Jan. 11, 1933 at Jones Memorial hospital, Wellsville.

Alberta E. Taylor was born in Scott township, Indiana, July 14, 1903 daughter of George and Ida B. Mizen Taylor. April 15, 1925 she was united in marriage to Elton L. Greene of Andover.

In the summer of 1926 Mr. and Mrs. Greene moved from Hillsdale, Mich., to this village to reside. Durher residence in Andover she has been identified with the interests of the village. A member of the First Baptist church and Order of Eastern Star and active in the social affairs of the community.

One week before her death she had undergone a major operation at the hospital from which hopes were entertained for her recovery, when a relapse terminated fatally.

Besides her husband she leaves three daughters, Mary, six; Lois three and Ruth two years of age; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor; two sisters and one brother, Elizabeth Taylor, Addison, Mich.; Ruth Taylor, Elden and Melvin Taylor of Hillsdale, Mich., to whom the sympathy of our community is extended.

Funeral services will be conducted this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home on Greenwood street, Rev. Frank Bisbee of the Presbyterian church officiating.

She will be laid at rest in Hillside cemetery, Undertaker F. C. Mulholland in charge.

A daughter was born January 6 to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bentley of Fillmore have been installed with the force at the county jail at Belmont. Mr. Bentley as turnkey and his wife the official cook.

BAKERS' STORE NEWS

Published by Baker Bros. Hardware, Andover, N. Y.

Timid wife (to husband who has fallen asleep at the wheel): "I don't mean to dictate to you, George, but isn't that billboard coming at us awfully fast?"

Better Made

It has been repeated thru many years "Thou live hidden in the forest, build better, even a mouse trap and the world will beat a path to your door."

The better mouse trap is here, now beat it—we mean the path to our door.

The ladies will like this new trap, the trigger is automatic; just pull a wire and it sets itself without danger of bruised fingers.

The price remains the same—two for a nickel.

Showing a Profit

The talk when men meet: "How can we sell our produce, goods, wares on merchandise at present prices and get out of them what they have cost?" Only a few of the wisest or most skillful have been able to meet that test.

Take milk for example: the average dairy today with every cow in good health and normal milk production is no more than playing even with little or no return for the labor involved, so how important that our milkers have the best of care and kept at the peak of production.

Kow Kare is made for cows only; it is a conditioner that "lubricates" the milk works and operates for a continued increased flow, its use will cost about one cent a day per cow and the returns on that investment will show a profit.

We sell Kow Kare at special prices for cash and it will pay you to feed the Kow Kare way.

Ask for booklet "The Full Milk Pail" and begin now.

Redskin

A household glove of double strength, double wear and because made from rubber, milk or sap will not rot, soften or lose its elastic quality for at least three years.

The test they stand is extraordinary, you can hardly believe that so delicate a fabric can be so strong. See them in our window under a strain that would tear the sort with which you are familiar in pieces, then come inside and see even more severe usage without damage.

Keep your hands well groomed—wear Redskin—25c a pair.
