Alfred University

(Special to Andover News)

With some 600 visitors in attendance at the "open house" on Wednesday night, faculty members and students consider the first annual St. Patrick's Festival of the ceramic college at Alfred University a success.

The big attraction of the festival proved to be the two professional glass blowers as they made glass tumblers, being continuously encircled by a jam as they worked.

About 125 couples attended the student ball on Thursday night.

With the brick work done, and partitions being set ready for plastering, work on Ladies' Hall is progressing so rapidly that announcement was made last week that the building will be ready for summer school rather than for September as was first announced.

Motion picture flashes were made last week with which to advertise "Ladies of the Jury," a comedy which is to be publicly produced by the Wee Playhouse on March 27.

One of the largest casts ever used by the Wee Playhouse, 22 persons, is being organized to present the trial of Mrs. Gordon for the murder of her husband.

The Wee Playhouse is a local organization which produces publicly once or twice each year. Its membership is composed of college faculty members and residents of the village. The organization hopes to make expenses only, and in keeping with this policy "depression prices" are set on tickets—students 25 cents—others 35c.

England, Sweden and Germany are the only European countries which have women's organizations similar to the home bureaus in New York State.

Slate Creek

Mar. 20.—John Crawford drew wood to Canisteo, Monday.

William Mullen was a business caller in Canisteo Monday. Mrs. Mullen spent the day with her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Stewart.

Shirley Woodworth moved his shack from this place to the Fred Johnson farm on Purdy Creek where he has secured work in a saw mill.

John Mullen called on Supervisor Todd of Purdy Creek one day last week.

Speaking of grasshoppers, several in this community report seeing grasshoppers hopping about as they would on a hot August afternoon.

Even the school children are taking advantage of maple sugar time and have tapped the maple trees on the school property.

Raymond Stewart and family were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Spencer of Bennetts Creek.

Those from this place that were dinner guests at the home of Sam Stewart on Bennetts Creek were Mr. and Mrs. William Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart and daughter.

Whitesville

(Mrs. Ella Millsap, Reporter)

March 21.—Spring arrived with a frowning face and very disagreeable weather over the week-end.

Mrs. F. E. Talbot of North Bingham visited Mrs. C. L. Crittenden last Tuesday.

Miss Florence Potter, one of our teachers was ill over the week-end with gripe.

Miss Ethel Seger fell last Thursday injuring her back and is now with her sister, Mrs. Manda McGraw sick in bed.

Mrs. Lettie Coats who is ill with arthritis has gone to Dr. H. R. Taylor's hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Isabelle Leach, with her sons, Rho and Harvey Leach attended the funeral of their grandson and nephew, Burton Perkins of Hornell, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rice of Andover were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson.

Miss Yoto Letzer spent the week-end with her parents in Rochester.

Miss Agnes Woodbush spent over Sunday at her home in Canisteo.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Millsap and daughters, Jean and Bethel of Andover were here Sunday evening to attend the Founders' Day entertainment at the church.

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Marquis visited the Whitesville patients in St. James Mercy hospital, Hornell Tuesday and went on to Bath and Kanona and spent the day with friends returning that night.

Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pritchard was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis Friday afternoon. Dr. H. R. Taylor took her to St. James Mercy hospital, Hornell, where she was operated on at 8 o'clock that evening. She is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kear and two sons of Ulysses were guests Sunday of Mrs. Francis Lamb and daughter Bernice.

COLD FEET

To the bow-wow with your "vitamins" and your "sex-hormones" and your invisible cells! Let's talk about something you can understand, that you meet every day.

"Cold feet" is most emphatically a SYMPTOM, and if you have 'em persistently it's a sign that your nerves are not up to normal, or that your capillary circulation is faulty—or both. Elderly and old individuals are often victims of this sort of condition. Many "nervous" women who are much younger suffer with cold feet.

It is worth while to pay attention to habitually cold feet. I am a believer in a salt-water bath for the feet before retiring, when feet remain cold in bed for a long time. The salt in the water stimulates the capillary circulation in the skin and the nerve-endings there as well. Bathe the feet with the salty water, and dry them with a coarse towel. Get right into bed after treating. Keep up your attention to the feet—a month if you can.

Limited amount of blood in the feet means excess of blood in other localities. Some cold-footed individuals have congestive headaches. If your home is not built for cold feet, get a hot-water bag and warm the region inhabited by your feet in bed. If not that, a hot iron—even a hot brick! I have known warm feet to cure some forms of headaches.

Remember—some of you—we poor folks often adopt poor ways. We do not all have air-tight houses and steam heated rooms. Some of us live out in the country, you know. I can't help feeling just a wee bit sorry for victims of cold feet—hence this letter.

Your physician will probably recommend a good nerve tonic in addition to my hints. He will know. Warm feet are good protection from kidney disease—bear in mind.

father, B. H. Robbins. He was accompanied by Churchill Cobb, both of Canisteo.

The Current Event Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. William Slack last Friday afternoon. Mrs. H. R. Taylor and Mrs. Mary B. Day assisting hostesses.

The Missionary entertainment and play presented Sunday evening at the M. E. church by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, in celebration of Founders' Day was very well attended considering the very stormy night. The play, "When the Little Old Lady Spoke," was a perfect demonstration of missionary work, and the offering received amounted to over $17.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis DeKay spent the week-end with their son, Clinton and family of Buffalo.

Howard Taylor is having a tussel with jaundice this week, it is reported.

C. B. Tallman who has been ill at his home in Silver Springs has returned to his work as manager of the Whitesville branch of the G. L. F. Milling Co.

Mrs. L. G. Probasco and daughter Rettagene and Mrs. C. L. Crittenden were shopping in Wellsville Tuesday afternoon.

Sunday morning about 3:30 the fire alarm was sounded by the tannery whistle. The fire, of unknown origin, completely destroyed the large grist and saw mills of G. E. Brown and only thru hard work was the James Owen tannery across the street saved.

A very pleasant company assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Austin of Independence on Wednesday last, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ada H. to William H. Barney of West Union. Rev. G. M. James of Andover performed the ceremony.

Next Sunday is Easter (considerably earlier than this year.)

Mrs. A. A. Porter of Tioga, Pa., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Frisbey.

Abram Slocum has contracted to build a large barn for Edward Green of Lanphear Valley this coming season.

Mrs. Charles Robinson and son are both ill with scarlet fever at the home of Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. G. W. Watson of West Almond.

W. Oatley has nearly completed the rebuilding of the A. C. Frisbey home on South Main street. When finished it will be one of the handsomest residences in this village.

Charles Church moved his family to the L. N. Corwin house on Corwin Hill last week.

WASHING SODA SAVES SOAP

Plain washing soda added to hard water saves both money and labor, since it softens the water, saves soap, prevents a gray appearance in newly-washed clothes and the insoluble scum around the edge of the laundry tub, says Ella M. Cushman, household management specialist at the New York state college of home economics at Cornell University.

When only soap is used in hard water, a part of the soap combines with the minerals in the water, and is wasted. This combination makes an insoluble scum around the edge of the laundry tub and gets into the fibers of the cloth, and gives the clothes a gray appearance. When a cheap water softener, like washing soda is used first, all of the soap can then form suds.

Common household water softeners are washing soda, borax and ammonia. Washing soda is the strongest and therefore the cheapest. Money may also be saved by making soap at home from surplus fat. The following strong soap recipe is suggested:

Home-made Soap
One can lye, 3 pints cold water, 5½ pounds clean melted fat not hot; 1½ tablespoons borax; 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup ammonia; 2 teaspoons oil of lavender if desired, ½ cup warm water.

Pour the lye carefully into cold water, and stir it with a wooden paddle until the lye is dissolved. When the mixture is cool, pour the fat carefully into the lye solution; stir it vigorously, but carefully. Dissolve borax and sugar in warm water and add to soap; continue to beat the mixture. Add ammonia and lavender and beat until the mixture is at about the consistency of strained honey. Pour into wooden or heavy pasteboard boxes lined with heavy waxed paper or wet cloth. Let the soap stand in a warm place until it is hardened. Cut into bars before it becomes too hard to cut without breaking. Cut slightly soft soap with a small, pliable wire. Makes about eight pounds.

voices. We didn't think anything about it until we heard them approaching us. We got out of sight just in time to see two men pass. We decided it would be exciting to follow them and see where they went. We walked for about half an hour, then in the distance we saw a hut so we thought we had better hide. We overheard dynamite, one of the men, tell Pepper to see that no one was around. He came towards us until we thought he would step on us, then he turned back.

As the door opened we heard a young man say something. Dynamite told Pepper he was going hunting and left Pepper in charge of the hut. We were curious to know all about what was inside so we sneaked up behind Pepper, hit him on the head and made him unconscious. Joan went to a stone where dynamite hid the key and opened the door.

To our surprise there was a young man named Bob tied with ropes. We released him, left a note for Dynamite and started on our way. As we left the woods Bob saw Dynamite and waved goodbye.

When we reached home it was around 9 o'clock. We took Pepper and Bob to the police. The police presented us with one hundred dollars each for catching such rough men. We captured Dynamite and found it was money he wanted, but he got death. That is one night I shall never forget.
