The Mutual Gas Company has secured the right of way and will extend its lines to Whitesville.

Rev. Father Boden, rector of the Blessed Sacrament church of Andover, has been appointed as rector of St. Ann's church of Hornellville.

Father Boden, who leaves today to take up his new field, will be succeeded here by Rev. T. A. Murray of Olean.

This Friday home at the south end of Main street is nearing completion and is one of the finest residences in the village and has all the modern improvements.

A petition bearing the signatures of 36 Andover taxpayers, was presented to the board of village trustees this week asking that the question of village ownership of a water plant be submitted to a vote.

Miss Nellie Potter and Miss Mary Smith were in Hornellville last Friday.

B. Murray of Greenwood Hill raised his new barn Saturday and Extra Stephens will soon be ready to raise his large barn.—Greenwood Cor.

W. W. Miller returned to Andover Saturday and will probably remain here thru the summer. He has just completed the transfer of his lumber plant in the south to a Chicago firm.

THE MODERN MARKET PLACE

"You mean that we ought to do street preaching," a preacher once asked me.

But street preaching is not at all analogous to what Jesus did. The cities in which He worked were both small and leisurely; the market was a gathering place where everybody came at some time—the transfer place for all merchandise and for ideas.

Where will you find such a market-place in modern days? A corner of Fifth Avenue? A block on Broadway? Only a tiny fraction of the city's people pass any given point in the downtown district on any given day. A man might stand and preach for years at Fifth Avenue and Thirtieth Street, and only one in a hundred thousand would ever know that he lived.

No, the present day marketplace is the newspaper and magazine. Printed columns are the modern thoroughfares; published advertisements are the cross-roads where the sellers and the buyers meet. Any issue of a national magazine is a world's tour a bazaar filled with the products of the world's work. Clothes and clocks and candlesticks; soap and soap and cigarettes; lingerie and limousines—the best of all of them are there, proclaimed by their makers in persuasive tones. That every other voice should be raised in such great market-place, and the voice of Jesus of Nazareth be still—this is a vital omission which He would find a way to correct. He would be a national advertiser today, I am sure, as He was the great advertiser of His own day. To the minds of those who hurry thru the bustling pages, He too would send his call:

What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul; or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

This would be His challenge in every newspaper and magazine; and with it would be coupled an invitation to share in the joyous enterprise of His work.

A very successful publisher has a rule that no photograph shall ever be printed in his newspapers unless it contains human beings. You and I are interested most of all in ourselves; next to that we are interested in other people. What do they look like? How old are they? What have they done and said? With unerring instinct Jesus recognized and used this trait in human nature. One of the most revealing of all verses to those who would understand the secret of His power is this: "All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake He not unto them." A parable is a story. He told them stories, stories about people, and let the stories carry His message. He might have adopted very different methods—many teachers would-be teachers do. He might have dealt in generalities.

A white Plymouth Rock pulpit, owned by Gerald Leasure of Tioga county, laid 185 eggs in 176 days in the 4-H laying test at Horseheads.

Many New York Indian mothers still use the cradleboard method of transporting their babies on their backs while engaged in herding goats and sheep.
