ANDOVER NEWS

PUBLISHED WEEKLY By J. MARVEY BACKUS & SON

OUR KEYNOTE: "If There is Not A Way, Eut A Way"

Entered as second-class mail matter under act

THE sky-rocketing of stock and commodity prices on the recipient can barely manage to get along and main. | make each one a separate communi-I the principal market of the country during the last tain anything like a decent standard of living. three months attracted thousands of people into invest-

With the suddenness of lightning, the market mere theory but based on actual knowledge. into the maelstrom of selling without regard to kind ing machines in a hosiery factory will throw 1,500 per- reau says, "An increasing interest or price. The result of the hectic three days of sell-sons out of work. The footing machines in this par- tropical storms or hurricanes comes ing was a 30 to 50 per cent decline in the value of ticular factory must be run two shifts to keep pace with the increase of winter visitors nearly all listed securities.

The lambs were shorn and sent home for another upward until the little investors, a powerful element, inasmuch as finance is concerned, but absolutely helpless so far as power or influence in the market is concerned, were attracted into investing heavily. Then it the balloon was punctured to the distinct advantage of those who manipulate things. Huge profits were garnered from the investments of the lambs. Support | was thrown overboard and the lambs were no longer paid for their purchases. If they are wise, they will fixing will not create demand. then invest their money soundly and stay away from the game that is played by professionals.

The average citizen may just as well take chances from a neighbor's garden. with his money in any sort of recognized gambling game as on the stock market, if he buys to speculate. He has no control of affairs in a controlled game. He has no inside knowledge to guide him. He doesn't ANE other thing that is disappearing, along with the an elderly man who spent his youth know from one hour to the next whether the trend will U old-fashioned American home is the old American be upward or downward. He blindly throws his money community. Once there was the pressure of commu into the game with the hope that he will be able to ity opinion to hold its members to the community take out more than he puts in. But usually he gets standard of conduct. less than he puts in and is thankful for the fact that And there was general acquaintance, to make it several sources about 'bush coffee' he salvaged something.

The Way the Wind Blows

In Tennessee, Alabama and Arkansas adding those strangers." three states to the wet column, the trend of the proaltho only 20 states have voted so far.

south, which has always been dry. It wasn't any great of a twentieth century city. So we need a new study, Readers of this paper may wish because a majority of them have always had wet ten-|lem. dencies, but the break-over of the dry southern states is considered an apt criterion of the way the wind blows concerning the outcome of the wet and dry elec- it hot enough for you?" the death rate would grow !

So far 20 states have recorded their vote, and not a single one has been won by the dry forces. Most of the elections in the various states were lop-sided affairs, with the wets carrying by huge majorities. The TO GROW old gracefully should be the ambition of coffee grown is on the Kona coast closest election by far was staged in Tennessee where everyone, but not all are able to achieve this very Hawaiian group, where the lowest cate that a majority of American people were advo- except the dark side of the picture that old age pro- a bush and it is kept at about the cates of liquor and desired it for personal consumption. vides. Investigation of the facts concerning the question, how- In every community many can be found who go the berries may be conveniently ever, will prove an entirely different attitude. A madown the slope of life happy and contented, whereas gathered.

The only thing that I know of jority of the people are not drinkers, and in all proba-others are in frequent friction with their neighbors and in the way of coffee which is raised bility will not consume it even the it be at hand for see no good in anything. their choosing. The trend away from prohibition is The world would be a vastly improved place if which the root is used. In some indicated by the vote up to date means that the people there were more people who knew how to grow old parts of the world, notably in France are tired of prohibition as it was, with its racketeering gracefully-more men and women satisfied with their chicory is actually preferred to cofand crime. It is an admission that the plan did not lot after they have had their fling in life. Living on fee and is of cource, much cheaper. work and that they want something else.

liquor got it, and the revenue went to bootleggers in- tions and they cannot be viewed in the light of past Wisconsin. stead of to the government where it rightfully belong-experience. ed. Along with the industry of making bootleg liquor was connected the greatest set up of crime and life, serene in the knowledge gained of a lifetime and referring your letter to the departracketeering that this country has ever faced. The content with the joy of living. And one need not be ment of pomology here for any average person in voting for repeal of the 18th amend- any older than he or she feels. It is all a matter of further information which it may be ment voted for discontinuance of the conditions which keeping in the swing of affairs. fostered lawlessness and not for liquor and saloons.

When the 18th amendment is repealed, as it seems [certain now that it will be, it will be squarely up to even flies keep a lot of people from just sitting around with Professor Adams as my experthe administration to work out a plan which will take and doing nothing. its place and a better plan than we now have. It is time to get busy on the plan so that it may be inaugurated with expediency and fairness.

The Wrong Policy

THE citizen who regards himself too important, or too you will also have plenty of company. 4 big, to take an interest in local affairs is never missed when he leaves. He may imagine he is traveling along with the other people, but no one envies him enjoyed regardless of the mosquitoes. or seeks the position which he holds. It is poor policy to run contrary to the community spirit. This is something for the mutual benefit and protection of every resident, so all effort should be di- go to work just when the flies quit, rected toward building it up, not tearing it down, or. ignoring it. By setting himself up as better or above the community booster, the knocker imperils his own fortune, and opportunities. So long as he lives here, he must book takes the grand prize. he does not come down a bit and be sensible, he is apt.

You can't get ahead by spending all of $2.00 counter-balance the good effects.

There are also many notable examples where it ing in stocks and grain futures. The little fellows, or will tend to put those out of work who are now em- to apend next winter in Florida but fresh, to insure removal. lambs as they are termed on Wall Street, flocked into ployed. For example, if an employer now has two I do not want to go because I am water poured over the fresh staff shoes. Buy them a size longer than the market in the hope of getting rich quick as readily persons employed on a certain job at less than the afraid of hurricanes, and more hur-makes it disappear. minimum wage scale set forth, he will attempt to get ricanes strike that state than forflame it proved to be, for those who were not on the along with only one if he is forced to increase the sal- merly. Can you tell me which aries that he is now paying. This statement is not months usually have the most

In another example, the limiting of hours on foot- of the United States weather buwith legging machines. If the production of the foot- to Florida, who occasionally report machines cannot be maintained in ratio with leg-that these storms are increasing in period. Prices had been inflated beyond reason and ging machines, those who are employed on legging ma- number and in violence. Weather the wise buyers knew it. They continued to prod them chines must suffer. The only alternative is to install bureau records show that the numnew footing machines which is impossible for the fac-

The control of working hours and prices and the and more waste land is inhabitated establishing of minimum salaries will not cure our which makes the storms seem more coubles alone. No matter how much is produced or numerous. how it is produced, if the buying power of the public. or in other words, the demand does not keep pace, no August, September and October and qualization of conditions can be brought about. Mini- are practically unknown from Delambs but just plain goats, and they remain goats until mum salaries must be established in some manner or some future date, when they may have the opportun- other at a much higher ratio than the government code a year, on the average, is one chance ity of unloading at somewhere near the prices that they sets forth before stabilization is obtained. And price in 50 at Jacksonville; one chance in tory to do for more than one reason.

Never count your chickens before they return

Nobody Cares

difficult to conceal one's doings, or to escape to parts and all say that coffee grows or unknown. Now there is, in the larger centers, no one trees and not on a bush and that! community opinion, but a multitude of groups, none coffee will not grow in the temperof which much cares what the others think of it. And ate zone. I recently heard of a man TITH the recent elections on the wet and dry issue nobody knows anybody else, and anywhere is "among in Iowa who digs up the roots of a

So it is easy not to care, easy to transgress, and ter and plents them in the spring. hibition question seems to be almost definitely settled, easy to hide. The nineteenth century fear of "what He says the plant grows excellent people will say" is gone. And a nineteenth century coffee. Am I chasing a rainbow These three states are located in the so-called solid police system can scarcely keep track of the culprits trying to locate a coffee plant?" surprise when some of the northern states voted wet, to meet a new and ever increasingly important prob- to add to the two answers to Mr. N only a few thousand votes majority was garnered by desirable goal in life. Worn out by the almost con-recorded temperature is about 54 stant strain that existence on this earth imposes on degrees Fahrenheit. In almost all At first thought, the outcome so far would indi- frail human beings, many of us are unable to see much parts of the world, coffee grows as the shady side is much more pleasant when there comes In the United States, chicory Prohibition did not work, for those who wanted a realization that new generations bring new conditate raised commercially in some of the quor got it, and the revenue went to bootleggers in tions and they cannot be viewed in the light of not lake states, such as Michigan and

> If it were lawful to shoot everyone who asks "Is" an alarming rate.

Growing Old Gracefully

Everything on earth seems to have a purpose—coffee can be grown, I quite agree

Wiley Post seems to do much better with only | F one eye than most men with two in the matter of courage and skill.

Work and the world works with you. Loaf and Youth is that period in life when a picnic can b

A summer resort is a place where the mosquitoes a tree is usually kaid to be larger Being rich enough to evade income tax payment) I' is an aspiration well worth while.

Storms in Florida T. R. R. asks: "My family plans that more people live in the state.

"Hurricanes are most frequent 30 at Tampa; one chance in 20 at Palm Beach and Miami; and one' chance in ten at Key West. So the chances are that the winter visitor to Florida will never encounter real West Indian hurricane."

N. L. G. asks: "Some years ago, in New York State told me that his father grew 'bush coffee.' It ribened somewhat like a bean, had a good taste, and was equal to imported coffee plant in the fall, much as we'

L. Glover, 500 Globe Building, 5 Professor Bristow Adams says: " have seen coffee grown in many parts of the world, and I feel sure no real coffee is grown in the temperate regions, for it will not stand frost or even low temperatures. The farthest north that I have ever seen '

height of man, or a little taller, so able to give." Professor L. H. McDaniels says: "As to the region where the true ience in the tropics checks closely Florida. I received specimens two the large years ago from H. W. Johnson "About forty species of true coffee are native to the old world troplies, particularly parts of Africa. grown on a bush or tree amounts to discussion as to whether coffee little as the terms are loosely used. Ordinarily a bush is a low-growing! woody plant with several trunks coming up from the ground, whereas and to have only a single trunk.

From the account of your search for the so-called bush coffee, T Of all the books with unhappy endings, the check for a coffee substitute. You are has been grown in various places doubtless familiar with the fact that some types of soy beams are called

Treat fruit stains while they are Short footed stockings cause al. the foot for comfort and wear.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY SPECIAL

Tr. Mark Productive of Transport

CANE SUCAR

PRETZELETTES

FRUITS and VEGETABLES HEART OF GOLD ... FANCY

FIFTH INSTALLMENT

taxicab accident in Chicago, suffered marcelled with such careful skill Maitland drove in slience, a tact- and hurried. She was frightened not pack a suitcase and run off up her book. loss of memory. Two years later being called a coiffure, made a most her lassitude that all her fear and head and get him to take her back the could stay at the V W C A from her horse to find herself, under the name of Frills, married to Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. From letters in her desk she learned something about her life in the two-year interval, and realized that she had been a heartless, reckless young woman and that she is seriously involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. She decided that at all costs she would end it, but she found Maitland hard to manage. Her troubles were further complicated when she read a letterreferring to a baby—was it hers?—" that the writer, Sophie, Frills ought to have with her? Much to the surprise of Sam, in her husband's employ, she asked for a dog! and he got her one.

Now go on with the story—

Before Joyce addressed and stamped the brown envelope, it occurred to her that she might write a few! words to put in with it. Then, having come to this conclusion. found herself dismayingly unable t decide what to say. What sort of letter would Frills write to Neil? . don't see how she'd have the face to write to him at all, when all she cared about his absence was a chance it gave her to go off with thought disgustedly, "but just the enough. Charlie Bates was a bache-labout ten minutes, Maitland asked same, since Joyce Ashton isn't go- lor, cheerful, unintelligent, dissipat-softly. "Feel better, dear?" ing off with Mait, I think she might ed, addicted to the use of strong "Yes," said Joyce. send' a few words." She ended by perfume. Ed Rawley, the "faithful He took his hand from the wheel said, "Want me to come in with in her clean little room at the big solid ivory dome just by falling on so vociferously on her entrance, pro- "Who was there tonight?" he ask- by the kitchen?" it! But it seems to have knocked ceeded to be the life and death of ed after a bit. was here this morning with a lot of poker was Art Belmain. afternoon, and while I was out, all a drink." exclaimed Ed, jumping list Paul and Dot came, and Tess Farns- up, "who's with me? Frills is so worth. Don't know why I've never holier-than-thou tonight wanted a dog before nor just why me. I know something that'll put a under their belts. Get damn' sick "Goodnight, darling." I want one now, but I've just ac-little original sin into her!" quired a darling." she wrote hastily, "I'll come along and help you, "Sam got him for me from the Ed," offered Art. Then a diversion Marches on the Dry Creek Canyon occurred in the form of the arrival road. They're going to China and can't take Dickie. He is quite adorable, and when did I ever care what about the same age who was hailed any one thinks? Frills."

Joyce was a little doubtful, when tanned like the rest. Everything she finished, about whether she had about him was neat, well creased and not written more than was wise. immaculate, and like his personality, She'-sealed up the letter, however, insipid. and then went downstairs to look With the arrival of the cocktails for Sam to post it. Sam listened with casual polite- "Say, doc, did you write a pre-ness to her explanation of her ap-scription for Frills after she did her "I had a telegram from Mr. Pack-Imanded Clarice. ard asking me to mail him some! "I did not." reforted the doctor, papers he left behind by mistake what does she need it for, with and I wondered if you could get Neil's supply still holding good?"

to disturb you his way but I her loud laugh, "where's your sweet think the papers are important and patootie tonight, dearie?" ought to leave right off. Would you "Sure not!" replied Sam taking answered coldly, "How should the envelope, "I'll hop into the bus. know? and take it down."

d close on the first. The whole "Are Roxie and Marcia out?" evening took on a confused, kaleido-"Yeah, gone to the movies with scopic quality that gave Joyce the their steadies," Sam grinned good-| feeling of being in a noisy, unreal |

"Oh. of course," she murmured, spectacle of these uncultured men' smiling back at him and then added and women drunkenly in pursuit of curiously, "What were you doing, a "good time."
Sam, when I interrupted you?" Would they never go home? Her "Oh, digging at the same old head throbbed and she felt inexstuff." replied Sam, as if she knew pressibly weary and revolted. Finalso what that meant. He ran his ally, watching her chance, she slipbig brown hand through his hair loed out of the room just as a lively I think it's the bunk dance melody came in over the getting educated by absent treat- radio and several comples leaned up But I s'pose I might's well and bekan to revolve Tather undo it as to play pool or take some steadily. jane to the movies."

Joyce leserged out of the front! Joyce returned to the house full door to the quiet of the fragrant thoughts of Sam, pluceme way starlight. As the stumbled on the by himself there alone, and the for dark step she was suddenly chitchth got for a moment the problems of in a strong embrace. "Sweetheart, I had to come again. Just as she entered the living- to see how you were." whisnered room, a group of people came in Maitland softly. with a burst of talking and taugh. Joyce, overcome by her great ing and took possession of the wearings, and disgust at the scene

"You're my hour in your totay, enough strength to struggle. She everything is boths totay nowww!" felt tired and terribly alone. All shell sang a tall man with a baid head was conscious of at the moment was that Maitland's cheek against hers Joyce was seized in a rough em- was cool and sober, that his breath kissed sivered times before the could . He did not try to take advantage get away.

Behind a veil of smoke, Frills ex. held her quietly and Joyce. whose amined the separate Members of the head here been spinning, lamed company. She was more relieved against him with her eyes shut and than observing that the free and inturnured:

as "Trace." Tracy Farnsworth was the party took on a shriller air.

leap for life the other day?" de-

A second round of drinks follow-safety lav in letting him kiss her. I she could learn to run an automo-l terly futile to struggle against his his ardor, seemed to fire him with check in Manzanita.

lently at him and pulled his hand ed her with a friendly smile. "Good frankly curious. tshe cried, her voice quivering awav---now---" turned toward home. On the way back Joyce silently adventure. This was going to be of print, you know--" pondered what had happened. When fun, she reflected happily. party still in full swing. Maitland stopped the machine and regret. As soon as she was installed must go-" breath, "I don't get you at all, car again.

"Same old crew, all talking at to him, turned her face up and kiss-lirst timidity vanishing very quickly once, after they get a few drinks ed her, but this time very gently. she made gratifying progress and erns." He praised Ainsworth so lavgood advice, Ethel and Clarice this "Say, folks, I'm going to buy you almost too tired to finish the long back of the house. At the foot of She spent the afternoons riding in agreed eagerly with her opinions of

Ed" of Clarice's sarcastic comment. and felt for hers. When he had it you, sweet?"

and she's annoying the gang by cut- ing restlessly about the room trying and-Ed-and Kate and Art and gang home for you." -and Doc," replied Joyce drowsily, car and went with her around the handle a machine.

His kisses were on her neck, her eyes, her whole face.

"Dear Neil; You can't hurt a Ross Emery, who had greeted Frills there, still too apathetic to care. | she insisted. "Why can't I go in of action. "All right," agreed Maitland, "you mornings Joyce went out for her some of the pep out of little Frills the party. The fourth man, stroll- "Oh, Clarice and Ethel and Ross go up that way and I'll send the instructions in driving a car. ting out some of the jazz. Laurine to draw somebody into a game of Charlie—and Tess and Horace—and Maitland helped her out of the she had little trouble in learning to that had been written, and that his head and get him to take her back She could stay at the Y. W. C. A. on his feet in an instant. "Please to the house as quickly as possible, where she would be unlikely to sit down. I want to talk to you Perhaps her very resistance was meet any of the Manzanita crowd, about it. This is really very extra-

Joyce sat down, her embarrass-She found about $75 in bills and with this man, as if she already Isilver in the desk and in a handbag knew him well enough to be casus Suddenly she relaxed her tense on the dressing table. With courage about the meeting. Why should she muscles and lay limp in his arms, newly-augmented by the excitement feel that with a man she'd never The result of this, instead of cooling of her plan, she decided to cash a seen before? He grinned at her with such informal friendliness that Shortly after ten o'clock Sam Joyce thought he must, surely, be The touch of his cold fingers on brought the car to the front door a friend of Frills Packard. And yet flaming and stowed away her two suitcases. | --and yet-he was so unlike the The bank teller at the bank greet. [Manzanita men! She stared at him.

morning. Mrs. Packard. Sav. that! He was much taller and looked If you—cared—at all about me," was some little tumble you—took almost as young as Neil. She guessed his age as about 31 or 32. want. Please take me home right liberately counted out the money, strongly in the first few minutes of Then she seized it. thanked him their meeting that she felt she would his abruptly and almost ran out to the never lose the picture.

Frills. Well, all right, you're the When they were well out of the enough to give the book to you." boss." He released her, switched on town, humming swiftly along the laughed Joyce, "Robert Ainsworth the headlights and in a few moments smooth roads. Joyce felt her nervous is one of my favorite authors, and had the engine running and the car fear evaporate under the stimulus l've wanted to get hold of this book of an irresistably mounting spirit of for years, but never could. It's out The little Chinese waitress subtly

The four men, were commonplace | Finally, when they had driven they turned in at the Packard house | They reached San Francisco about smiling, approached. "Some tea?" with mingled feelings of relief and Joyce rose hastily. "No, no.

Y. W. C. A. building she proceeded at once, thrusting a bill in the hand looked unhappy in this gathering. in his warm clasp, she let it stay "I don't want to see them at all," immediately to carry out her plan of the little Chinese girl, and fol-(lowing Joyce, who was a little be-The days passed rapidly. In the wildered but glowing with pleasure. They walked for over an hour. in and Joyce discovered that her new these drives, much to her surprise friend had read nearly every book enthusiasms were largely hers. He the back stairs. Maitland drew her beautiful Golden Gate Park. Her Robert Ainsworth, whom, he said. he "revered above all other mod-(Please Turn to Page Six) every day looked forward to her ride

Henry Ford

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced. Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, Mich renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars. But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense. We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body -nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper-for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all Aperican climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact-dented perhaps, but not crushed. Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933. In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack

The all-steel body is more expensive-to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable. Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it. The one piece all steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.