

"WE DO OUR PART"

The code adopted by the American Bankers Association under the National Recovery Act provides that all banks in the same city, trade area or county shall adopt uniform hours of banking.

The hours of banking observed throughout the territory covered by the Allegany County Bankers Association are:

Week Days 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.
Saturdays 9 A. M. to Noon

Desiring to co-operate with the Government in carrying out the terms of the National Recovery Act we will observe the above-mentioned hours of banking commencing

October 1st, 1933

FEED GRAIN TO COWS TO MAINTAIN MILKING

W. T. Crandall of the State College Suggests Some Profitable Rations to Dairymen.

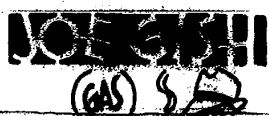

The amount of grain required by a dairy cow depends to a large extent on the butterfat test of her milk, says W. T. Crandall of the state college of agriculture.

Where hay and silage are fed liberally, and when cows are not on good pasture, the following rates of grain feeding may be used:

With all hays, except those of very high quality, feed daily 1 pound of grain for each 3 1/2 pounds of milk testing under 4 per cent. in butterfat; 1 pound of grain for each 3 pounds of milk testing from 4 to 5 per cent.; and 1 pound of grain to 2 1/2 pounds of milk testing 5 per cent. and over. If a very high quality of clover or alfalfa is being fed, less grain may be needed.

He points out that every grain-feeding table or rule must be adjusted to meet the needs of the individual cow. Variation in the food content of certain hays should also be taken into consideration.

A good practical rule is: Feed such amounts of grain mixtures to producing cows as will maintain daily production during the first seven or eight months of lactation without rapid drops, and at the same time will keep the cows in at least fair physical condition. Grain should never be fed so heavily that the value of the added milk will not more than pay for the extra grain.

Tomato Was Originally Tropical But New York Is Now Its Home

It's a Long Way From The Ornamental Tomato of Peru to The Juicy Fruits Produced Here

By CHARLES H. BALDWIN Commissioner, Department of Agriculture and Markets Albany, New York

THE tomato was originally a native of tropical America, taking its name from that given it by the wild tribes of Mexico and the Nahua Indians. It was introduced from Peru into different countries of Europe and accepted under various names. In Italy it was called "gold apple"; in France it became "pomme d'amour"; and eventually it landed in England in 1596 under the English translation of its French name, "love apple."

The first export and cultivation seems to have been for ornament and curiosity only, and the French were the first to be willing to take a chance on eating it.

Ways to Serve Tomatoes It is a long throw from the small tomatoes grown for ornamental purposes in Peru, to the large, beautiful, red, pulpy, juicy specimens which make our markets colorful today and in such abundance at this time of the year. They can be served and used in innumerable ways: cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, soup, entrees or salad; preserved, made into delicious sauces and relishes; canned whole, or for soup, or just clear tomato juice, according to your taste. Our grandmothers ate them raw, with sugar and vinegar, or sometimes, when they were dead ripe, dark red, luscious and juicy, with thick cream and sugar, as we eat peaches—a method which must be tried to be appreciated. Now is the time for you to be thinking about your winter supply of tomatoes. Blessed with favorable soil and climate, New York State farmers have developed remarkable skill in growing perfection crops of full-flavored tomatoes or varieties especially adapted for canning, both as to juice and pulp.

New York Tomatoes New York State tomatoes have enjoyed the highest reputation. To the skillful plant breeders and growers of our State is due much of the rich, red color, the smooth texture, the meaty body and unsurpassed flavor of the tomatoes on our markets today. Dean Bailey of the Cornell College of Agriculture bears the credit of originating the "Ponderosa," one of the largest, most beautiful and productive varieties we have today.

In recent years a process has been developed and placed in practical use for ripening green tomatoes, held in cold storage, when needed. This, together with the canned or home-grown tomatoes—and the tomato canning industry has grown to be a huge one in this State—make this valuable fruit available, fresh or canned, at all times of the year and at small cost.
