Grange Fair

While the attendance was not quite up to some years, the Andover Grange fair was a success. An excellent chicken dinner was served at 8 o'clock. The booths, needle work, home baked products, vegetables and candy all displayed attractive articles for sale. The fish pond in charge of the juniors, did a thriving business.

At 8 o'clock, a program of songs, dances and recitations by the Juniors was followed by the playette, "Sun Up," which was presented and awarded first prize over several in a contest at the Allegheny county fair, this fall, was reproduced.

The local cast, in which Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Northrup appeared as "Dave Carroll" and "Susie," his wife, Miss Doris Baker as "Granny Carroll," Stephen Clarke, "Old Man Brigham," John Croyle, "Billie," the mountain boy; Miss Maud Perkins, "Vali," daughter of Dave and Susie Carroll. Misses Cornita and Maud Perkins as "Investigators sent by the church."

All deserve especial mention for their able work. The mountain dialect was very good and the entire play well produced under direction of Mrs. Hervey Thorne.

Good news for two Steuben county communities was brought by the recent announcement that the national banks at Atlanta and Greenwood, which have been operating under restrictions since the nationwide bank holiday last spring, will soon be permitted to operate without restriction.
