A Fearless Expose

If you did not read "How Highwaymen in High Places Have Swindled Public"—in a late issue of The Pathfinder, a fearless expose of methods and trickery of business and politics, you really missed something. It is too late now for you to get that issue of The Pathfinder, but you should make sure of not missing another single issue. Every week this brilliant national weekly not only gives you ALL the news, but it tells you frankly and clearly what is behind the news and what goes on "inside" at Washington. The Andover News wants you to read The Pathfinder and will send every week with the Andover News both one year for only $2.35. Don't delay another day.

Holidays are happier for the children if they are given a share in the preparations and festivities but keep to their regular schedule of sleep and wholesome food.

Select Christmas toys to please the child, not to amuse the adults in the family.

Poppies for the High School

The pupils of Andover High School were each presented a poppy on Armistice Day as a reminder of the heroic sacrifice of our World War veterans. The poppies were those left from the Memorial sale and were made by veterans at the Federal home at Bath, N. Y.

They were presented the school by the Thomas M. Lynch American Legion Auxiliary of this village with appropriate remarks.

It was a thoughtful act upon the part of the Auxiliary ladies for which the News compliments them. In creating a fine spirit and sentiment among our young, as we noted the symbol from Flanders Field, which they were wearing and heard the conversations of the boys and girls so adorned, we realized they had succeeded.

Mrs. Brundage's Will Probated

Frank S. Clark and Andrew D. Fuller, both of Andover, were named executors in the will of Nellie Eleanor Brundage of Andover, who died in Los Angeles, Calif., October 18, probated on Friday. The personal property was given as not exceeding $10,000, no real property, in the petition for probate. All personal effects, household goods, etc., were left to Floyd E. Brundage, Alhambra, Calif., an adopted son. Anna B. Wood, Andover, was left $1,000. One-half of the balance of the estate was willed to a nephew, Charles E. Kirkpatrick, Bremerton, Wash., and income from the remainder to go to a sister, Lillian K. Moore, Los Angeles, during her life, and to Mr. Kirkpatrick upon her death.

Time is Extended

An extension of time on the school taxes has been given by the Board of Education for another 30 days. The collector will be at Baker Bros. store Mondays and Fridays to receive your taxes.

Thanksgiving

It's a long trail from that first festival of thanks held by that handful of starving Puritan Colonists in 1621 to the plenty and security of this year 1933.

True we have been just going thru some, to us, lean years, but at their most distressing periods they would have appeared to a very large proportion of the people of the earth as seasons of luxurious plenty far beyond our power to grasp or understand.

Thanksgiving Day is an American institution. During Colonial times it's observance had no particular stability of time or place. The first official proclamation for a Day of Thanksgiving was made by George Washington in 1789, from that date on for many years it's celebration outside of New England seems to have been a matter of convenience. Sometimes the occasion was noted, sometimes not; in any event the dates varied greatly and there was no national celebration of any kind.

The fact that it finally became the important National Holiday that we know was due to the tireless efforts of a woman, Sarah Josepha Hale. For 30 years this purposeful woman wrote and talked to Presidents, Governors of States and to men and women of influence urging them to consider its value as a spiritual and patriotic institution.

In 1863 Abraham Lincoln acceding to Mrs. Hale's earnest solicitations issued a Thanksgiving Day Proclamation and in the administrations following it has never been dropped. This year pressure was brought against President Roosevelt to move the date forward one week but he rightly refused.

Slow as was the evolution of this Feast Day, more slowly has time wrought its changes in the methods of food preparation. If the cook of today was sentenced to prepare an ordinary family Thanksgiving dinner with the utensils available to those women of Plymouth in 1621 she would just declare "It can't be done."

Happily no one need be illy prepared for the kitchen feast day demands of this season. We are ready to furnish everything needed or desired for any service or work. Our large show window reflects to some extent the beauty and variety but there are countless other items inside.

Be sure and see the new shapes in roasters, they will hold a much larger fowl and still have less over space. You will find quality items throughout this department with prices lower than ever before. You have long had in mind a much desired item for special occasions.

BUY IT NOW!

Closed Season
You must not go about with wet feet, keep shoes waterproof. Cement-on-soles for bottoms. Revivo for the uppers. A few cents and a little time may save dollars worth of lost time and doctor bills.

Does It Leak?
Use Metal-X—mends every thing permanently, takes the place of solder, glue or china cement and does a better job; a tube selling at 35 cents will pay its way many times over.

No Chimney
Maybe you wish to supply heat to an area having no flue connection. Don't worry, Burnover Gas Heaters are built for this particular purpose. They are positively healthful, odorless, and most efficient. Buy them on a money back guarantee.

Shopping Baskets
Don't scatter your packages along the street, it is quite all right and much more dignified to carry the right sort of basket.

We are showing white willow baskets of supreme quality and charm fine enough to attract favorable attention and comment from the most fastidious.

Some priced as low as 75 cents. You will have to see them to appreciate their real value.

Not All Tobacco
The best blends of tobacco may fail to give you any smoking satisfaction unless your pipe has a flavor for its share in the achievement.

That you must have a good pipe does not mean that it shall cost a lot of money, some high priced pipes never do satisfy; but we have pipes selling for a quarter that will give you the smoke that satisfies. Try one, you will be pleased.
