The matter of the consolidation of the Burrows National Bank and the Andover State Bank has had serious consideration for several years and this seems to be the opportune time to put it into effect because of recent Federal Legislation which is changing the rules and methods of banking to a considerable extent.

November 24, 1933.

Notwithstanding the unusual situation of having two banks in a small community, both banks have prospered and had the distinction of being licensed to open on an unrestricted basis the first day following the bank holiday of last March. The fact, however, that both banks have prospered and built up a successful business does not alter the situation that one large bank can better serve the community than two smaller ones.

Both banks have recently been examined by Federal Examiners in accordance with very strict rules and we are pleased to announce that they have approved the closer unity of all parts of our our assets in an amount which will allow us to start the new bank with a capi- types of relief such as hospitaliza- official printing given a Democratic wide land; for greater friendship bed tall of $100,000.00 and a very liberal surplus.
