BAKERS' STORE NEWS

Published by Baker Bros. Hardware, Andover, N. Y.

NRA and Prices

The things we have to sell seem to advance very slowly if at all, while the things we buy we know are gradually working to a higher price level, and they are going to keep on going up—foods and clothing particularly are going to cost all of us much more money.

It will probably be some time before these prices get into their stride, there is an immense amount of cold storage and warehouse merchandise and these will to a considerable extent retard price advances. But the NRA is going to find a way to get rid of undue surplus and then things will be sold at the cost of production, plus a profit.

We have been buying many things too cheaply; competition had so ground down the process of making them that people like ourselves were profiting thru the degradation of the makers. Take clothing for instance—particularly that for women and children, made in the sweat shops of lower East Side, New York City, principally by women and children who live under the most abject conditions of misery, disease and industrial slavery, crowded together like animals, a dozen of them living in single nine by twelve foul, unlighted, unventilated rooms and working 15 hours a day, producing not only low-priced dresses, coats and underwear but gowns for which millady will pay at retail one hundred dollars or more; and, not knowing its origin, feel well dressed and well satisfied with her costume.

This situation is unfair to the man who maintains decency in his factory, furnishes light, fresh air, devices for safety and observes the law in regard to hours of labor per day or week. If the NRA does nothing but take young children from industry and abolish sweat shops from the slums of our cities it will have justified the experiment—but it will do more: chiselers will try their schemes and many will object and endeavor to side-step their codes but they will in time be well under control.

Now about everything you will need for your next year's operations will cost more; the longer you wait to buy the higher the prices. Don't you want to take advantage of present prices? We shall be very glad to figure with you and accept orders for future delivery.

Fish Story

"How many fish did you catch last Saturday?" asked the complacent wife.

"Six, my dear—all beauties."

"That fish dealer has made a mistake again, he charged us for eight."

Window Shopping

Always interesting, particularly at Holiday time. Look in our window and you will see the effort being made to dispense the means of light. It is very difficult to maintain a spirit of cheer in the dark so we wish to assist in "making your light shine."

Here you will find Floor Lamps, Table, Desk, Bracket, Bed and Boudoir Lamps—then also all sorts of Lamps and Lights for holiday decorations, indoor and outdoor strings and sets, candle lamps and lighted Christmas wreaths and stars with extra bulbs for refills in the sets you already have.

This is the year to light up and decorate.

Teacher: "Can anyone in the class tell me why an Indian wears feathers in his hair?"
