He was born in Whitesville and resided there until in early manhood when he went to Hornell as manager of the Babcock stock farm where he made a nation wide name as a breeder and trainer of race horses. He had resided in Endicott for 15 years as manager of the stables of George F. Johnson. Surviving are his widow, a son and two daughters.

New Year's Cheer

Thomas M. Lynch Post, American Legion and Auxiliary, delivered well filled baskets on New Year's Eve to 16 homes in Andover.

How many thousands, who would know?—but chances on the Grand National Sweepstake to be run in March at Liverpool have commenced to arrive in New York. In innocent looking envelopes, addressed in long-hand, they come illegally thru the United States mails. And the stubs for the drawing, together with the money in payment for the chances are enclosed in plainly marked envelopes, handed over to a small army of steamship stewards and crews, each with a gratuity. They agree to mail them to headquarters from a port on the other side of the Atlantic. Receipts and acknowledgments are mailed to the United States. Then not a word more—till you read of the lucky ones. You don't hear of the thousands who've bought and lost. Only Joe Jinks, laundry driver. He says he'll get somebody else to take his route on Saturdays—now that he has a hundred thousand. Or Mrs. White. Yes, now that she has thirty thousand, she'll have someone come in and wash the dishes at night.

Words with trick pronunciations! Accent the "turn" in "alternately." "Banal" rhymes with "annal." "Camellia" day rhymes with "the hell-ya-say." "Digitalis" rhymes with "did ja fail-us." Accent the "gon" in "gondalo." "Gratis" rhymes with "great iss" Malomet. Accent the "imp" in "impious," pronounce the second "i" as long "e."

Contrary to usual pronunciation, "misonstrue" accents the "con." Pronounce "version" as "vershun"—not as "verzhun."

The first underground railway in New York was a 250 foot tunnel in lower Broadway, secretly excavated in 1873 to prove to objectors that an underground could be made beneath Broadway "without interfering greatly with the traffic of that busy thoroughfare." The first subway was opened for operation in 1904. It ran from Brooklyn Bridge to 14th Street. Excavation had started in 1900.

"So this is Broadway!" Visitors used to say it breathlessly. More now say it disappointedly. With more and more hot-dog stands, open-front-stand-up-and-eat restaurants, a flea circus, barkers, beggars, peddlers, blaring loud speakers, cloth banners, cut-outs and mechanical advertising contraptions, Broadway becomes more like Coney Island every year. With repeal, high-class restaurants may follow the finest moving picture houses to Sixth Avenue or go beyond to Fifth, leaving the garish White Way to go Coney Island as fast as it may.

Bits of Allegany County News

Angelica folks can buy 14 quart milk tickets for one dollar. If credited it is asked and payment made by the tenth, the price is eight cents per quart, otherwise ten cents.

Wellsville has found pine and hemlock planks on Brooklyn avenue in digging for the new storm water drain. The plank, well preserved, is believed to have once been part of a plank toll road to the Pennsylvania state line.

Belfast reports the Christmas Club in the First National Bank as going strong with more members for 1934 than for 1933.

Northern Allegany county farmers learn that the Pennsylvania railroad is buying oak ties and some may be cut in that section.

Belfast saw Fay Quinton, rural carrier on Route 1, retire December 31 after 31 years of service. He began serving the public from Black Creek but was later transferred to Belfast. He has never been reprimanded or away from duty in excess of the regular vacation or on 30 days' sick leave.

Clarksville takes a new way of cutting teachers' wages. They will be docked for all holidays hereafter, Trustee Williams tells them.

Obi was frightened by three cases of scarlet fever. Fortunately they were all in one family. All were improving at last reports.

Cuba saw in real life what is often told in story books. An 18-year-old boy, put into an orphanage ten years ago, was at work on its first CWA project when a fine car from a distant city drove up and a married brother alighted and invited the fatherless close relative to come and make his home with him in the future, assuring him of employment. The father was killed in an accident last October and a search for heirs to his small estate led to the reunion of the brothers and bettered fortune for the ditch digger.

Fillmore distributed 42 Christmas dinner baskets. Belmont school children brought canned and fresh foods to school for poor families. Friendship aided needy families with food gathered in Christmas barrels in retail stores.

Friendship-Bolivar stage was snow bound 50 years ago this time and could not get thru. Snowplows with big brutes of trucks behind them were not even a dream those days. Bolivar plans big doings next Saturday when the new refinery of the Allegany Refiners, Inc., begins business. A parade, flag raising ceremony, and first public inspection of the plant is expected. When the first crude oil refining begins 30 men will be busy steadily.

Whitesville is doing something for the pork market without any pre-arranged effort. Dogs chased and killed three shoats.

Friendship is justly proud of its high school band which recently made its first public appearance under direction of Prof. George E. Dunbar. The organization has 44 members, some of whom are soloists.

Bolivar bought $300 worth of bottled liquor from a retail store Christmas Day, says an unconfirmed report thru relatives of the owner.

Friendship hay was bringing but $9 per ton 40 years ago. Allegany county Erie trackmen were earning but $1.10 per day in 1893. And one of them in Belmont raised his family and kept out of debt on that low wage, so a friend remembers.

Angelica had just voted 25 years ago to build its present fine school building, estimated to cost $30,000. It was to be erected on the site of the burned Charles Hotel.

Allegany county's next term of Supreme Court will be held Monday, Jan. 22nd, when a grand jury will sift criminal matters.

Fillmore village dazed surprised a number of indifferent property owners rather late one morning after a heavy snowfall and put workmen on the job shoveling off the beautiful. The cost will be assessed against the offending folks. We opine walking will be easy on sidewalks there the rest of the winter.

What You Eat

The health of this nation has gotten away from the people in general and into the hands of the food sellers. We are more and more letting ourselves be led astray in the matter of eatables by the makers of this, that and the other thing, who by highly colored magazine pages and blatant radio propaganda tell us the wonderful vitamin content of breakfast foods, made largely from peanut shucks and buckwheat hulls; bread loaded with the putrefying offal from slaughter houses and pastry that is shortened with ingredients that can be digested only by stomachs having the heat range of a blow torch.

The increasing prevalence of colitis, appendicitis, stomach ulcers and cancer should be a warning to everybody that this old alimentary food way of ours is being clotted with provender that is loading the whole outfit with such an excess of carbon that it knocks even on the down grade.

How we got this way is hard to explain; these hand-me-down foods have neither flavor, savor, relish or tang; they are most expensive when you add the doctor's bill, hospital expense and time lost, not to mention what you are expected to pay the undertaker. They do reduce slightly the exercise of intellect or imagination so we must conclude that their appeal to indolence (plain laziness) exceeds all other considerations.

It's time we shook off this lethargy, awake to your true danger and provided ourselves and the children with wholesome home made food that is fit for human consumption. Cooking and baking is more fascinating and entertaining than bridge, picture shows or the circus, besides the delight of achievement. Try it for a month and see for yourself.

You will need a new outfit of cooking tools, probably those you have are rusty and out of date—that's where we come in; things to cook with are our specialty, one of our Combination Cookers is a large part of all you will need to start the new way to a healthful, happy economical and infinitely better way of life.

The saving on what you can produce from one barrel of flour will pay for all the cooking hardware you will actually require for the next seven years.

Cow Tone And Calves' Cordial time tested remedies that possess the confidence of alert dairymen the world over. Their use is a constant insurance against many ills that threaten your flock. Keep both items always in your medicine chest. They are low in price and sold on a money back guarantee—we stand back of every sale.

Music Is said to be the hand maid of heaven and of being able to lift the burden of cares from the weary and heavy laden.

Furnish that young son of yours with a mouth organ and see how it works out in real life. You may try this experiment from 10c up.

For Rent Living apartments for a medium or small sized family; spacious lawn and big gardens.

Special low rentals for the winter months.

No Ostrich Your drain pipes are more likely to clog in cold weather. They can't take care of the congealed grease that is constantly being flooded into them.

The ostrich is said to possess extraordinary digestion, they require no dyspepsia tablets. Your drain pipes are different, they need Trapene; its frequent use leaves sewage odor, plumbers' service and the nasty mess that always goes along with a plugged line.

A quarter spent for Trapene means at least a dollar saved for other things.

Mustard Try Beech-Nut brand for salads or spreads and see the difference. A liberal sized jar available here at 10 cents.

Mother: "Oh, dear, you're letting the sawdust run out of your new doll."

Mary: "Oh, it's all right, mummy. I'm helping her to reduce so she'll be fashionable."
