South Hill

(Mrs. Margaret Dean, Reporter)

Jan. 3.—All hail 1934! May it bring by-by Depression. South Hill suffered as well as all sections, in the parting weather December conferred, of the most rigorous of the winter.

Ed. Mullen of Andover did business on the hill one day last week, in buying some culls from our dairies, which he trucked to Andover.

Misses Anna O'Leary of Andover and Mary O'Leary of Elizabeth, N. J., were callers of the Dean family Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. H. Dean entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Sunday in honor of the nearly joint birthdays of Mr. Dean and little daughter, Dorothy Ann, after which cards were enjoyed. Out of town guests were the Misses O'Leary and Mrs. Danhier of Wellsville.

Dr. Scott of Andover was a professional visitor on the hill Sunday.

New Year's Day passed very quietly indeed. Church members attended services in Andover and social activities consisted of a few family dinners.

Howard McAndrew visited the farm New Year's Day with his father.

Miss Lenora Dean spent Sunday night with Miss Mary O'Leary going to Cleveland New Year's morning to resume her school work in that city.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dougherty on New Year's Day were Mr. and Mrs. J. Danhier of Wellsville and Howard Dean and family.

Miss Edna Smith of Andover was the guest of her sister, Mrs. L. Horan and family New Year's night.

With the reopening of schools the Schoonover family have returned to Andover.

Mr. Schoonover and Louis Dean joined forces Wednesday in butchering their porkers.

Slate Creek

(Mrs. Raymond Stewart, Reporter)

Jan. 3.—Last week's weather made us shiver.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Hale and five children were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Woodworth, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart and grandson, Karlile of Hornell, were callers at the home of Raymond Stewart, Sunday.

Harry Woodworth of Purdy Creek and Raymond Stewart, assessors, were called to investigate the flock of sheep belonging to Herman Mullen that was damaged by dogs some time over the week-end. Eight were killed and seven badly injured. The flock is pastured on Call Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart and daughter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mullen, New Year's Day.

Mr. Jenkins, superintendent of highways and men are working on the west end of the road near Greenwood Hill.

Emily King and son were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keough Sunday.

Virginia Mullen returned to Canisteo Monday, after a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodworth of Purdy Creek were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart, Monday evening.

Mrs. John Mullen and son, Nelson are both entertaining the gripe.

Scrubbing brushes can keep mud off the kitchen floor much easier than they can take it off. Mount a pair of them face on either end of the shoe scraper on the back porch to take mud off the sides of shoes.

Davis Hill

(Mrs. Floyd Slocum, Reporter)

Jan. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Leeman Davis and son of Andover were visitors at L. E. Davis, Sunday.

Kathleen Slocum returned to her school and home in Wellsville Tuesday, after passing her Christmas vacation at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Slocum.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Slocum and Edward Joyce were visitors of Frank Halsey, Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Halsey is slowly improving from her recent severe illness.

Arling Briggs was a New Year's dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Slocum.

The power house on the Raphael Cook farm, owned by Guy Harder of Andover, burned Sunday.

Victor Hoagland and Floyd Slocum were callers at L. E. Davis' Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hoagland and family were New Year's guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hoagland of Canadice.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burbank were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wahl at Elm Valley, New Year's Day.

John Croyle, Jr., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Croyle of Olean over the week-end.

Mrs. L. E. Davis visited Mrs. Frank Halsey Tuesday.

Voorhees Hill

(Mrs. Raymond Church, Reporter)

WINTER HANDICAPS

The sedentary season—for most people. Only out-door workers get sufficient exercise for those on full diet. Too much of quiet is not the best for health and vigor. Especially when one is overfed.

Many a case of indolent colitis is inaugurated during winter days. Rural dwellers who do their own butchering, season their own sausages,—and they naturally love spices, mustards, peppers, and other stimulants for the linings of the digestive tract. Harm often comes from too much spicing. Constipation, from lack of green-leaf vegetables in winter is most common. A patient asked me the other day, "Why is it that in winter my bowel clogs right up—and in the warm months never gives me trouble?" The answer is, more exercise outdoors—and more green vegetables—with less of seasoned, heavy food.

Since conditions like the foregoing are almost impossible to evade I may be able to advise my readers; do not take active, harsh purgative medicines. I saw a man who had taken a much advertised pill for over twenty years; I had to operate on him for horrible "itching piles;" he had not slept for two weeks when he consulted me. The pills, irritating the rectum caused the trouble. The bowel, of course, must be kept eliminated. Some patients take "mineral oil" with happy effect. Cascara, combined with phenolphthalein is one of the best mixtures; especially should we avoid pills that contain aloes—which often furnish rectal diseases that require medical or surgical attention.

My attention was called just today—to a good laxative preparation, that advised the patient to drink at least ten glasses of water daily when using it. Fine—but the water.

Rubbers and overshoes preserve both health and shoe leather, and save money on both counts.
