KINDNESS AND SYMPATHY

The great demand is on people's hearts rather than on their purses. In the matter of kindness we can afford to be generous whether we have money or not. The schoolboy may give it as freely as a millionaire. No one is so driven by work that he has not time now and then to say a kind word or do a kind deed that will help to brighten the life for another. If the prime minister of England, William E. Gladstone, could find time to carry a bunch of flowers to a little sick crossing-sweeper, shall we not be ashamed to make for ourselves the excuse, "I haven't time to be kind?"

GENUINENESS

By Wilfred Brown

Scarcely does an entertainer give a performance than he has hundreds of imitators. Some of these are even so accomplished that they also become famous. Still people pay high admittances to see the real performer. This is an even though it would be difficult to distinguish between the genuine and the imitation. Why is this? There must be something in the makeup of man that gives him this discontent with imitations and profound pride and sincere satisfaction in the genuine. Moral: Do not be satisfied with the applause of imitators but strive for the respect due the genuine.

IF I WERE THE ROOSEVELT OF A. H. S. I WOULD

Put a stop to Deke Clarke's large times. Make Rita Dean stop screaming. "Bump off the Spy." Find Boe Beckley a girl friend. Prohibit Don Lynch from calling on Florence more than once a week. Stop donating "dough" to the Seniors for tags. Take the Tarzan instinct out of Don Edwards. Put an end to Max Baker's singing in the halls. Make Eddie Brewster reduce. Make Eddie Alderson dye his hair. Put a muffer on Mary McAndrew's mouth. Put a stop to Ollie's carting people (I mean a girl) to school in a truck. Buy Hoim a new pipe. Keep Bill Woodruff away from the fens. Warn a certain girl to take better care of her diary. And last but not least, I would take E. Alderson's hair, Mary McAndrew's mouth, Phil Lynch's feet, Oliver Kruger's eyes and Decatur's gift of gab, put them together and send them to Hollywood to substitute for Joe E. Brown or maybe Slim Summerville—that is, if I were sure not to hurt their feelings.

GUESS WHO?

This girl can be found in the Sophomore home-room. She is rather tall, slender, brown wavy hair, and a very sweet face which is so appealing to most of the boys, for example Red Alderson, Howard Gath and many others. She is very neatly dressed at all times, and can she wear her clothes well? Her pal is nearly always seen with her and both seem always jovial and friendly except when everything doesn't go their way. Then there is a change in their character—a very decided change to say the least. Nevertheless, this sweet demure girl of 16 is always looked at twice. Can you guess who she is?

Answer to last week's Guess Who is Jack Regan.

Answer to this week's Guess Who will appear in the next issue.

MUSICAL REMINDERS

Come, brothers, sisters, mothers and dads—get your share of romance May 9 and 10 when you see "The Gypsy Rover" in the High School Auditorium.

Deke: "There are several things I can always count on."

Jean M.: "What are they?"

Deke: "My fingers."

CURRENT ISSUES IN THE A. H. S.

Senior Tag Week Successful

Two weeks ago, an item appeared in this paper about Senior Tag Week. It stated that the person taking in the most money would receive one dollar. This was a mistake. The dollar was to be awarded to the person selling the most tickets. Bernice Williams and Fay Brown sold 23 tags each. Fay sold two more after the contest closed Monday, April 16, making his total 25, but these were not counted. They both received one dollar from the Senior treasury. Almost nine dollars were added to the Seniors' account by this "tag campaign."

Popularity Contest Closes Friday

People who have found comfort in the Popularity Contest idea, because it was something to talk about, will have even more food for talk Friday, April 27th, when the contest closes. The results will appear in the next issue of the Hi Herald.

Poster Contest Results

The operetta poster contest, which was held in the school library last Friday, brought forth some very fine work. The judges were Miss Ruby Robinson, Miss Clifford and Miss Russ. Results follow: For the High School—First prize, Wilfred Brown; second, Lloyd S. third, Raymond Geer. For the Grades—First prize, Charles Bruggett; second, Clyde Briggs. These posters and others are displayed in the windows of our store.

Our Sincere Sympathy to Miss Farnen

Miss Farnen was called to her home in Rochester because of the illness of her father. Word was received here that he died Monday. The faculty and members of Andover High School extend their sincere sympathy to Miss Farnen and her family. Mrs. Helen Dexter of Cuba is substituting for Miss Farnen.

Wilfred Brown Appointed Editorial Editor

At the last Hi Herald meeting, Wilfred Brown was appointed to the position of Editorial Editor. He has written faithfully for our Editorial Department during this semester, and has done splendid work. It was the sentiment of the entire staff that Wilfred has earned and deserved the title.

Operetta Tickets Now on Sale

Students of Andover High School are canvassing the town selling tickets to the operetta, "The Gypsy Rover." You are asked to reserve either May 9 or 10 to see our production.

Mr. Huffcutt Receives Contract to Teach at Mount Morris

Mr. Huffcutt is going to teach vocational guidance and general science in the high school at Mt. Morris next year. We wish him all success in his new position. This contract was offered and accepted late in February of this year.

Senior Dance a Success

The Senior dance held in the High School last Friday night was a success financially as well as socially.

Two Assemblies Friday

The Sixth Grade, under the direction of Miss Baker, is presenting a program in the Auditorium. A pantomime, "And the Light Went Out," and songs by the entire grade.

Miss Trenkle is having a program in the auditorium later in the morning, 11:15. The program will be printed next week.

"The Forgotten Valley" by Muriel Earley Sheppard

This article by Muriel Earley Sheppard was published in the South Atlantic Quarterly for January, 1934. By permission of the Quarterly and Mrs. Sheppard, we are reprinting it here in installment form. We believe it will prove to be of great interest to our readers, both because Mrs. Sheppard is a former Andover girl and an alumnae of Andover High School, and because of the high merit of the article itself.

The article deals with the people and customs of the hill counties of North Carolina where Mrs. Sheppard now resides. In this respect it is similar to her book, "The Story of Maryland," which is to be published in the fall.

We hope that the reading of this article by our distinguished alumna (the first installment of which will appear next week) will be an inspiration to our present pupils to improve their writing ability to the end that Andover High School might turn out other competent authors.

Norbert: "There's one thing about her; she's outspoken."
E. Snyder: "Not by anyone I know."

AROUND THE A. H. S. SPORT WORLD with Don Brundage

The five-inning baseball game between Andover High School and Greenwood High School proved to be very interesting and fast, although Greenwood had just four first string men absent.

McAndrew did some excellent pitching for A. H. S., striking out eight men, while Sampson of Greenwood struck out five. Andover seemed to be weak at batting but looked very good otherwise.

A return game is trying to be arranged for Tuesday. Line-up for the Andover-Greenwood game:

Andover line-up:	ab	h	r	e
H. McAndrew, p	3	1	1	0
L. Sly, 2nd	2	2	1	0
D. Clarke, ss	2	2	1	0
E. Alderson, st	2	1	1	0
M. Briggs, lf	2	0	0	0
B. McGill, 3rd	2	0	0	0
L. Fulkerson, cf	2	0	0	0
C. Pease, rf	2	0	0	0
R. Appier, c	2	1	1	0

Greenwood line-up:

Fish, 3rd	3	1	0
McCaffery, c	3	2	0
Dennison, ss	3	1	0
Streeter, lf	3	1	0
L. Chaffee, cf	2	0	0
Carney, 1st	2	1	1
Sampson, p	2	1	1
B. Chaffee, 2nd	2	1	1
Russell, rf	2	1	0

Substitutions: Ingraham for McAndrew, McAndrew for Ingraham, Joyce for Sly, Sly for Alderson, Brundage for Briggs, Green for McGill, Kemp for Pease, Kemp for Appier.

A track meet is to be held at Wellsville, April 28, between Andover, Wellsville and Canisten. Andover will not have a very large squad this year.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

Resolve to do every day some work that is useful. Learn first the economy of the kitchen; the good and the bad quality of every common article of food, and the simplest and best mode of its preparation. When you have time, help in the cooking, and learn how to make everything as nice as possible. Learn the sound qualities of all useful articles, and make everything of the best you can get. Undertake some household problem frequently such as making towels, luncheon cloths, or dollies. This way, a girl can learn to excel in sewing or embroidering, and at the same time help in her home. Doing these little things, no one can say that you have eaten your bread idle.

LETTER FROM POE JALOOKA

Dear Hi-Harold Staf:

I have been readin yore paiper for the last to years, an hav certainly enjoyed it, so i thot that i wood sho my appreciation buy ritin to ya. I am havin trouble wif my goil fren, Ann Howe, and i thot maibe ya cou help to fix things up agin. She has fell for an inglish dood, but i am sure that with your help i kan bring my fare maidin bac into the fold.

my maniger, Wobby Knalsh is kalling me, so i have to go now but i will rite agin befor long.

Years trooly,
POE JALOOKA.

My Dear Mr. Jalooka:

In response to your letter, we are glad that you enjoy reading the articles published weekly in the Hi Herald.

We are most sorry to hear of your trouble in regard to your love problem. In a personal letter which I am sending you thru mail, I have tried to solve your difficulties. If you find results from the advice, I would advise you to let the English Dude have the girl friend. I also consulted Boe Beckley on the case, and she quite agrees with me, and as a rule, her advice if carried out will bring satisfactory results.

The Hi Herald staff wishes you the best of luck in your problem and wish to hear from you again.

THE EDITOR.

THE SPY??

Talk about spring fever, guess I'm a victim all right, but I'm not the only one, am I, Billy W.?

Of course I took in the big Senior dance Friday night, and don't think I missed anything, because I most certainly didn't. I saw everything from Don's new suit to Herman dancing with Alice Pope.

I wish to take this opportunity to advise a certain number of boys to lay off the chiseling. Otherwise I'm afraid I'll have to put a bug in the Hawks' (from Independence) ears. Then, too, I'm not in favor of cradle snatching.

There's romance in the air. It seems this is true especially at operetta rehearsals. How about it, Gabby?

I wonder if this Dillinger has put new ideas into certain H. S. boys' heads. I hear that three of them had a certain filling station surrounded Monday night, and they weren't spying either, I guess they were just "hunters."

Well, well, what's this I hear about the track shoes that are missing. I bet that is one of our neighboring towns, someone stole them so they could run up and see our ex-sweethearts when they have the urge.

I wonder why us A. H. S. gys don't start chewing, and get hard-like G. H. S. students? And to think one of our fair damsels is in love with the leading chiver, Bob Drake? And you, Miss X, please have him keep a clean chin.

I hear that a certain A. H. S. girl is all taken up in a grey Chevy coupe but for some unknown reason she can't land her man. Wonder why?

Why, Dot Cronk, what's this I hear about you? Better stick to Pat.

While down at the telegraph station the other day, who do you think received a telegram? None other than our cute little baby-faced Deanie. It said, "Come up and see me sometime." My, my, I wonder who really did send it?

My dear old Spy glass received an awful shock while glancing into the study hall Monday, the fifth period. Why, Philip L., I didn't know you were such an artist.

My goodness, Edwin A. I wouldn't talk so to an old girl friend. It really doesn't look nice. I don't believe I shall ever go to the "Gypsy Rover" practice again.

Well, dear me, if Anna Dean didn't cut Burnsie out again. Guess I'll have to speak to D. Baker, too.

Because of Harry's window being steamed over Tuesday night, I wish the girls who were out with Francis Green would please remit their names to the Editor.

Where did I see V. O'Hargan and M. Lever Sunday night? My, my, girls, better be goodie, goodie, or Santa won't bring you a toy next Christmas.

Gee, Hoim, how didja like to eat out? Too bad there weren't any wimmin wid ya. They tell me the beans were very tasty.

Say, Susan, why don't you bring your sister to school? Donny says he would like to meet her. But warn her first.

On overhearing a conversation at the game Tuesday, a little blonde girl from Greenwood said to another girl: "I just love to watch my hero play ball. I think he looks just swell when he bats. If he only knew how I love him, but he lives way over at Elm Valley so far away. Now come on Tish, who was she?"

Oh, by the way, M. M., Deke is driving the Chevy once in a while. Better re-nab him before some one else does. I hear another girl is hot on his trail.

I hear the G. H. S. boys didn't like the way some catcher danced behind the plate. Made them nervous, I believe. Why don't cha show 'em some real stuff, Dick?

A news flash just came in wanting a certain trio for attempting at "hunting." Dear old Red Ribbon. It breaks my heart, boys, so young and wastful as you are.

I see the hotel is getting to be a popular spot in Andover. More details next week.

Has Joe McA. gone into the Secret Service Department? "Just ask me," sez Joe, or else ask, Hunt, Hunter, Hunting. Well I can't seem to get it straight so just ask Joe.

Who do you think is going to win in the Popularity Contest? I see they forgot to mention the Spy and am I sore? All my work this year and not even a break in the Popularity Contest. Oh Hum! I guess you don't appreciate me any more. The only solution I guess is to put some real dirty dirt in the Spy next week. Anyone wishing to keep his name out better see M. M. We have a lot who already have done that. Are you going to be one too?

THE SPY??

Now, Elbert," said Mr. Hardy, "tell me what is the name of the principal river in Egypt?"
"The Nile," replied Elbert.
"That's right. Now can you tell me the names of some of the smaller tributaries?"
"Oh, yes sir," replied Elbert, eagerly. "Juveniles!"
Mrs. Joyce: "How many times have I told you to be at class on time?"
Max: "I don't know; I thought that you were keeping score."

BOE BECKLEY

Dear Boe: I am a Junior lad and if I do say so myself, I ain't so bad looking.

I am in love with a Freshman girl or think I am. She is the daughter of one of our prominent garage-men, but I don't seem to have any luck. I went walking with her the other night but she gave me a cold shoulder and gee, I was feeling so romantic!

Will you tell me what to do? Do you think my red hair would have any bearing on a romance? Would it be better if I acted like our Clark Gable or shall I forget her and despair of all girls?

Yours in distress,
LONELY "RED."

Dear Lonely Red:

Control yourself, lad, and don't shoot the questions so fast. With your recommendations it seems you should have no trouble with one of our freshmen.

Take her by storm as that is the way to get along with freshmen. Take her to a show and a dance and I'm sure everything will be O.K.

Your red hair I'm afraid has nothing to do with it, unless she hates red-heads. But whatever you do don't act like Gable because it would be a poor imitation and she would think more of you if you be yourself. Having your face lifted would be ridiculous because you'd never be the same. Take advice and treat 'em rough.

Yours in trying moments,
BOE BECKLEY.

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

TIME RECORDING INSTRUMENTS

By Philip Crandall

These facts concerning time-keeping show the development of recorders of time from the prehistoric age to the present.

The first known time-keeper has a perhaps mythical, but nevertheless interesting history. Two cave men were in love with a girl. At the end of three moons the girl was to choose one of the cave men for her husband, but a fog settled down so that time could not be determined. One fellow, assuming that the time was up, went to the girl and requested that she make her choice. The other one had made a clever rope to tell time. From sun to sun, five burned the grass from knee to foot. He showed them that the time was not up; thus he won the favor of the girl. He was chosen.

The sun dial was the next invention. It originated in Babylonia. It is a contrivance which uses the shadow of the sun to tell time. This was used in 2000 B.C., and was the only timekeeper used extensively until about 157 A.D. At this time a water clock came into use. A basin with a small hole in the bottom was placed in the water. It took an hour for the basin to sink. Then it was emptied and placed back on the water. The hour was sounded on a brass drum. The sound could be heard for a great distance.

One of the most novel waterclocks was presented to Charlemagne by a Persian Caliph. This clock, operated by water, had 12 doors. At the first hour a door opened and a ball fell out on a disk. At two another door opened and two balls fell out and so on until all the 12 doors were open. Then twelve miniature horsemen rode out and gathered up the balls and shut the doors.

To accommodate the household, time candles were used. The candle had circles on them to designate the time as the candle burned. The first known alarm clock is connected with the time candle. A stick was placed in the candle at the ring, which was the time one wanted to arise. A shoe was hung on the stick. When the candle burned to the ring the stick was released and the shoe fell to the floor, awakening the sleeper.

To Galileo, we give the credit of the pendulum. This controlling device is still used on the most accurate clocks.

For controlling devices on the first pocket watches, hog bristles were used. The metal hair spring has replaced that.

The Metropolitan Tower Clock is one of the largest in the world. The clock has a combined combination of four faces. The hour hands are 14 feet long and the minute hands are 17 feet long. The minute marks are ten inches high. This clock has Westminster chimes weighing 20,000 pounds. It is accurate within a second a day.

THE OLD COUNTRY STORE

Written by Francis E. Cable, Alumnus of A. H. S.

A spot most beloved in days of old, On balmy days, or nights so cold, With its memories treasured for evermore, The spot was the Old Country Store.

Here one could find most everything From big hay ropes to a little string; Harnesses too, or seeds to grow, Or yards and yards of calico.

You could buy shiny pans, or even plows; And medicines for humans, horses or cows. Here you'd find everything in any size, Even town loafers and swarms of flies.

Settled there midst struggle and strife, Was the foundation of human life; Where smells of vinegar, smoke and cheese, Were enough to make a skeleton sneeze.

Here men gathered daily, to gossip and smoke, While gently their whiskers, they would stroke; They argued politics, or told tales galore, Of what they did in the Civil War.

They told tales about feasts of strength, And fishes caught of enormous length; Here the best horses and cows were selected, And also 'twas here the President was elected.

Here checkers were played and quots were pitched, And cheese and crackers were slyly snatched; Where every birth was gladly heralded, And every death was sadly carried.

But now it's gone, this meeting place And with it many a familiar face; Still some old timers have memories for, The happy days at the Old Country Store.

"If ignorance is bliss," said Black to White, "why, then, old boy, you'd better get your life insured. You're apt to die of joy!"

More Boys to go to Camp

Ten more Allegany county youths selected from 25 applicants were sent to Buffalo Thursday before going to Camp Dix for training and assignment to work in CCC camps.
