"THESE THIRTY YEARS"

The Talking Picture being brought to
High School Auditorium
Andover, N. Y.
Tuesday, May 15th
under auspices of Guy S. Wood, local Ford dealer
Shows 4-7-9 P. M. - Admission FREE!

"These Thirty Years," which is presented by the Ford Motor Company, is said to be a delightful romance as exciting as it is romantic. The story begins 30 years ago in a small town that becomes a city of today.

The players featured in the picture include K. Elmo Lowe, who played the lead in "There's Always Juliet," and "Armand" in "Camille" with Jane Cowl; Robert Strange, who played in "Mourning Becomes Electra," "Both Your Houses," and the screen hit, "Smiling Lieutenant," Donald McDonald, and Frederick Forrester. The supporting cast numbers more than 100 players.

The Public is cordially invited to attend this very interesting Talking Picture Show which we have been able to bring to you Absolutely Free.
