HOW, WHAT and WHY?

The Andover News has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State colleges of agriculture and home economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home.

If you enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one post card. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Cannot Hold Bulbs
H. T. M., Oneonta, writes: "I have a number of flower bulbs, such as tulips, daffodils, and jonquills. I cannot plant them this year."

"Can they be held over until next year? If so, what care should they be given during the winter?"
Kenneth Post of the floriculture department replies: "It is impossible to hold daffodils, tulips, and other hardy bulbs over winter in storage to plant the following spring. They should be planted immediately or discarded, since they will not flower next spring."

Are Seeds Valuable?
Mrs. A. U. M., Ithaca, asks: "Are the seeds of the potato plant valuable?"

"I remember reading a long time ago, that they are valuable. Recently, my mother writes me that they have some potato plants that have seeds on the tops."

Professor Ora Smith of the department of vegetable crops says: "Many years ago when a great number of persons worked to improve the potato by breeding, the seed of the potato plant was quite valuable. In recent years, however, this way to improve potatoes has lost much of its former attention. Only a few now work on this problem. These few are in experiment stations and in the U. S. department of agriculture. I would not expect these seeds to have any value at this time."

"Apparently from the number of inquiries we have received the last few weeks about ways to handle potato seeds, these seed balls are unusually numerous."

To Rout Rats
W. D. O., writes: "Is there a safe poison for rats? I want one that will get rats and mice but will not harm household pets?"

The answer: "Get some red squill powder from your druggist. It will kill rats and mice, but is relatively harmless to human beings and to domestic animals."
"Mix it in any favorite food of rats or mice. Did you know that mice are apparently as fond of chocolate creams as of cheese? Sometimes more success is had with bits of these confections than with the cheese, generally regarded as the foremost mouse-bait."

Houghton Alumni Return for Annual Home Coming

The Houghton college campus will be crowded on Friday, Saturday and Sunday following Thanksgiving Day with old students and alumni returning on their annual fall pilgrimage back to the familiar scenes of their school days. During these days the present student body and the ordinary routine activities of campus procedure yield the limelight temporarily to the oldsters, and "do you remember the time when" becomes the prevailing echo.

The formal program is to begin with an alumni tea in the reception rooms of Gayadeo Hall at 4 p. m., on Friday and the annual alumni Purple-Gold basketball games, women's and men's, at 8:30 p. m. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock there will be an alumni chapel service with the Rev. David Reese of Elmira, a former student, giving the address. The lunch hour and early afternoon will be devoted to class and individual reunions until 5 p. m., when the entire group will meet together in the dining room of Gayadeo Hall for the alumni dinner, which will include a program of dinner music, toasts, and the consideration of business.

At 8:15 a group of alumni will participate in a program of entertainment characterized particularly by the note of reminiscence.

The events of Sunday, the closing day of the home coming period, will this year be of unusual interest, since they will include the dedication of a beautiful new church, replacing the old structure so familiar to former generations of students but in recent years become so inadequate. The morning service at 10 a. m., will be held in the College Chapel, and will consist of a Sunday School session only with no sermon following. At 2:30 p. m., the service of dedication will take place. The dedicatory sermon will be preached by the Rev. David Anderson, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church of Bradford, Pa. It is expected that a large number of out-of-town guests in addition to alumni will be present at this ceremony and that the capacity of the new church will be crowded to its limits.

The evening church service, with the Rev. Mr. Anderson again preaching the sermon, will usher to a close another home coming, which gives

Better Milk Result of the "Drink More Milk" Drive

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Better milk has been the dairymen's answer to the State's "Drink More Milk" movement in the opinion of C. A. Brown of Watertown, president of the New York State Milk Distributors.

Mr. Brown said that producers, acutely aware of the food and health values of milk since the campaign opened, have increased the quality. "We have noticed, specifically," he said, "the impression on the producer that their milk is being used for fluid or human food purposes and we have noted a decided improvement in the quality in a large percentage of the milk delivered to us during the past sixty days."

Mr. Brown added that producers and consumers have been taught by the "Drink More Milk" movement that the state agricultural and health authorities have joined hands to:

- "1.—Get an increase in demand and high quality milk produced.
- "2.—Protect the consumer and perfect in the State general improvement of the quality of milk."

The dairy leader, who reported that consumption has increased, lauded the nearly completed effort of the state to stamp out tuberculosis from the milch herds. Within a few months, New York State will rank the highest among those of the nation in rarity of the disease.
