Independence

(Mrs. Floyd Clarke, Reporter)

Feb. 3.—The roads are still blocked and February 2nd was a beautiful day. Here's hoping we all can keep warm and well.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarke spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clarke at Whitesville.

Francis Clarke and Mr. Morrow were over from Alfred for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Matteson were guests Sunday at R. A. Clark's. Mrs. Maud Clarke is in Andover assisting in the care of Mrs. Baker at Mrs. Carrie Slade's.

Robert Spicer is home from Angelica where he has been working.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hawks and family were guests Sunday of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Schaick on Voorhees Hill.

Francis Greene of Greenwood is passing a few days with his brother, Earle Greene.

Wayne Crandall is home from Ithaca for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Greene were in Hornell shopping, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barnard and children are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Greene at Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Spicer were in Andover Monday attending a sub-district Dairymen's League meeting.

Cleon Clarke has been assisting his father, R. A. Clarke in trying to find gas. The line to the well is frozen.

Miss Edith Potter visited in Andover, Monday.

School was closed Friday. Mrs. Greene attended the funeral of her niece, Miss Irene Barnard at Greenwood.

William Allen of the Farm Bureau office force was calling on the hill Monday.

The Home Bureau met with Mrs. Floyd Clarke Friday for a program planning meeting with Miss Elda Jane Barker in the forenoon and use of Home-grown Lexatives lesson given by Mrs. Helen Mingus in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kenyon and daughter of Hornell were calling on the hill Sunday.

Louis Bassett has a flying squirrel on exhibit at his home. He caught it and ten red squirrels in his cellar in traps, where they were destroying his fruit and vegetables.

Slate Creek

(Mrs. Raymond Stewart, Reporter)

Feb. 5.—Well, Mr. Groundhog saw his shadow all right, but there has been no reports that anybody saw him while he was seeing it.

Nature has brought her wild life right at our door. There are two deer that are making their winter quarters on the bank directly back of Mrs. Wm. Mullen's home and in front of Raymond Stewart's home.

The deer do not seem at all wild, as they feed in the evergreens. The barking of the dogs, the children at play, passing cars, etc., do not seem to bother them. Hay and salt have been provided for them and in the evening they come down from the hillside and have come within three feet of Mrs. Mullen's back porch.

Mrs. Raymond Stewart, assisted by the teacher, Mrs. Muriel Bond, gave a surprise luncheon at school Monday in honor of Charlotte Stewart's seventh birthday. A pretty pink cake decorated with pink roses and seven wee candles was a great delight to the children. At 5 p. m. Charlotte received her greatest thrill when "Uncle Bob" announced her birthday party over the radio and told her where to find her gifts that were hidden.

Joyce Ann Cummings, little granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hale is ill at her home in Colby Creek, and under the care of a doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Erskine called on Mr. and Mrs. Newell Stephens, Sunday.

Mrs. Jay Bunt went to Jasper Saturday to care for her niece, Mrs. Harlan Dennis.

Mrs. Dan Mullen called on her mother, Mrs. John Caward of Call Hill one day last week. Mrs. Caward has been very ill the past week with grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart called on Mrs. Fred Johnson and Samuel Blank at Bethesda hospital, Sunday evening. Mrs. Johnson underwent a very serious operation Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hale and son, Lewis, called on Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cummings of Colby Creek, Tuesday.

Adrian Henry of Arkport, well known in this community, is seriously ill with lobe pneumonia at the Bethesda hospital, Hornell.

Eli Woodworth of Arkport and Mr. Mills of Bath were business callers in this community, Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank Keough is ill at her home with grippe.

Men were here from Woodhull Tuesday after potatoes with a large truck. Farmers in this vicinity were busy most of the day getting them out of snow banks.

It would take some roads and some weather to keep our mailman from making his trip. The day of the flood, July 8th, is the first time he missed since yours truly can remember, only when he is on his vacation.

Shirley Woodworth of Arkport called on Perry Erskine and Earl Hale, Tuesday.

Raymond Stewart, highway superintendent, was a business caller at Supervisor Todd's, Tuesday.

Voorhees Hill

(Mrs. Raymond Church, Reporter)

Feb. 4.—Messrs. Lytle and Claire Church were home from Elkland, Pa., Saturday evening and Sunday.

Roger Baker, who had been spending several days here returned to Andover with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hawks and family of Independence were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Schaick, Sunday.

Lenna Church was home for a brief visit Sunday. She has been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Addie Church in Proctor District for two weeks, while the latter has been convalescing from illness.

School resumed here last Wednesday after a week's enforced vacation, while the cold weather prevailed.

Max Baker visited his parents here Sunday. He is employed on a farm on Beach Hill.

Saturday the road gang "dug out" with a snow plow part of the roads in our adjoining township of Wells-ville. The new county road is also open from the school house down Trapping Brook. Residents of our community living in the township of Andover are still blocked.

Our faithful mail carrier, Floyd Spicer, is unable to complete his route except on foot, while our school bus cannot go beyond the district school house. Roy Van Schaick has been hauling the milk for all dairymen on our route for nearly two weeks.

Miss Pauline Perkins, who is teaching in Wellsville Washington school is also obliged to abandon her car at the foot of Adams Hill, where the milk truck and school bus have also been parked by the roadside.

Messrs. Burritt and Victor Perkins attended a Dairymen's League meeting at Andover, Monday.

Greenwood

(Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge, Reporter)

Mrs. George Wearley and daughter, Miss Eleanor Sweet spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge.

Thomas McCaffery spent from Thursday until Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge.

is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Murdock and attending school.

Miss Mary Banks is staying at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Shirley Travis and attending school.

Miss Louise Rogers of West Hill spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Scribner.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rollins of Hornell and Francis VanFleet of Canisteo called on Mr. and Mrs. Ordo Williamson, Wednesday night.

Mrs. George Wearley called on Mrs. Laura Scribner, Sunday evening.

Hiram Bennett of Young Hickory called on his sister, Mrs. Ordo Williamson Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Potter of Troupsburg called on Mrs. Ordo Williamson, Saturday morning.

The Misses Gertrude Rogers and Pauline Rollins of Elmira spent the week-end at their homes here.

Miss Agnes McCaffery spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. C. J. Updyke.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Updyke were shopping in Hornell, Friday.

Junior McCaffery spent Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCaffery were business callers in Hornell, Saturday.

Whitesville

(Mrs. Ella Millsapagh, Reporter)

Feb. 4.—The ground hog had a chance to see his shadow if he came out thru a foot of snow.

George Forsythe is recovering from an illness of a week or more.

Miss Anna Allen was shopping in Whitesville last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rigby were in Hornell today, Tuesday, on business.

The first quarterly conference of the M. E. church will be held at the parsonage this evening. The Rev. J. Wesley Searles, district superintendent of Hornell district presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cornell attended the Dairymen's League meeting held in Andover, Monday.

West Greenwood

(Miss Margaret Mullen, Reporter)

Feb. 3.—February 2nd groundhog day and six weeks more of winter weather.

The families on this end of West Hill are still shut in by drifted roads. Edward Dixon called on Dan Mullen and family, Tuesday.

Marjorie and Charles Feenaughty spent Wednesday at Clarence Brutsman's in Shovel Hollow.

Webb Stephens called on Olie Banks and family, Thursday.

David Plaisted called on Dixon Bros., Thursday.

Vincent Joyce was a caller at Dan Mullen's, Saturday.

James and Charles Joyce spent the week-end with relatives in Andover.

Bernice Conrad, Jennie Coddington, Virginia Feenaughty and Edward Mullen, who have been staying in Andover attending school, returned to their homes Friday night for the week-end.

Adelbert Gayhart has been cutting wood at Olie Banks'.

Charles Feenaughty spent Friday with James and Charles Joyce.

Mrs. Jennie Teribury called on Mrs. Alice Joyce, Friday.

Several men have been shoveling snow here the past week, but with the high winds the roads are drifted about full almost as soon as they are shoveled out.

All phases of the care, feeding, breeding and handling of farm animals will be discussed at Cornell's 29th annual Farm and Home Week in Ithaca, Feb. 10-15.

The discovery of Pluto, in 1930, believed to be the last of the large planets in the solar system, was not unexpected, as its gravitational pull was noted long before it was seen.

It Pays to Study Agriculture

"Most persons study agriculture because they have learned from their own experience and from the experiences of others that it pays; and for the past fifteen years, an ever increasing number of New York farmers have turned to the Cornell farm study courses for help in managing their farms," says George S. Butts, supervisor of the courses.

The studies are taken right at home and with practically no expense, he points out. Enrollment is open at any time during the year. A rigid schedule is not followed, and within limits, students may set their own pace. A year is allowed to complete any one course.

At the present time, more than twenty courses of study are offered from which a choice may be made. They include studies in farm management, agricultural prices, co-operative marketing, milk marketing, feeding and management of dairy cows, dairy herd improvement, rearing calves and heifers, sheep and wool production, pork production, beekeeping, orchard fruits, small fruits, poultry flock management, chick rearing, poultry flock improvement; incubation, farm mechanics, soil management, home gardening, and commercial vegetable growing.

A complete description of all courses is given in a new bulletin issued by the New York State college of agriculture. Requests for this free booklet should be addressed to Cornell Farm Study Courses, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Uncle Ab says there are "times when will power is best expressed as won't power."

A newly-born woodchuck is about the size of a man's thumb and weighs but an ounce.

Farmers are advised to be on their guard and to know the facts about so-called "health foods and tonics" for cattle.

Sample woodlot areas have been laid out on more than 200 farms in New York State, to show how correct cutting practices can give fuel wood and leave a better woodlot at the same time.

The outlook for agriculture in New York State in 1936 is given in the new 16-page Cornell bulletin E-340. Single copies may be had from the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Uncle Ab says he wonders just how many folks are going to capitalize on that extra 24 hours in Leap Year.

Red copper oxide dusted on vegetable seeds before they are planted is an effective, cheap and easily applied treatment to reduce seed decay and the damping-off disease of seedlings.

went to a plantation a little farther north. Here they were just starting to harvest the crop. First the workmen picked the coffee berries and dried them. This took a long time. Finally one morning as I went back, I found that they were shelling the berries, that is, the beans were taken free from the pulp that they had come from. Then the men cleaned and fixed the coffee beans for export. I rode in one of the trucks to the station where the beans were to be exported. I learned afterwards that Colombia, a state in the northwestern part of South America also raised a great deal of coffee. Most of the coffee is shipped to the United States.

Well, that's about all that has happened while I have been here. I'm getting anxious to get home now. Be at the port to meet me. I'll wire the time later.

Your pal,
Betty Jo Ludden.

A widow, whose husband had died some months previously, also died and when she came to the pearly gates, asked to see her former husband.

"What's his name?" said St. Peter. "Joe Smith," replied the widow. "You'll have to give me some better identification than that," said St. Peter kindly. "How about his last words? We classify new arrivals by their last words on earth."

"Well," she replied, "just before he died Joe turned to me and said, 'Mary, if you ever kiss another man I'll turn over in my grave.'"

"Oh, sure, I know him," said St. Peter, "we call him 'Whirling Joe' up here!"

Just An Old Spanish Custom

A young man called at the house of a famous specialist and asked to see the doctor.

"Have you an appointment?" asked the nurse.

"No, I haven't."

The nurse consulted the doctor's appointment list. "I think I can let you see the doctor after the next patient leaves," she said, "so please take your clothes off."

"Take my clothes off? What for?" "The doctor has made it a rule not to see anyone unless this is done," the nurse said.

"Well, if that's the case, I'm game," the young man said.

A few moments later the doctor entered the room and found the young man awaiting him in "the raw." "Well, sir," the doctor said, "what seems to be the trouble?"

"Doctor," the young man replied, "I called to see if you would renew your wife's subscription to the Ladies' Home Journal?"

A man wished to introduce a friend to his wife at the seashore. When the pair got to the resort they found the wife in the surf. Entering the bathhouse, the men donned their suits and went into the water. The husband introduced his friend.

A week later the friend observed the women he had met in the water sitting opposite him in the street car. He bowed. She looked puzzled for a moment and then exclaimed: "Oh, how do you do? I didn't know you with your clothes on!"

They abruptly left the car at the next corner.
