"Celotex"

In new construction, Celotex Sheathing Board with any type of exterior: brick, stucco, wood or stone—provides structural strength and highly efficient insulation.

Celotex utility likewise embraces houses already built. For Celotex is widely used to beautify and decorate outdated rooms. Here too, Celotex gives the home owner the additional value of effective insulation.

It is significant to observe in this better housing movement a growing public consciousness of the importance of proper insulation as a means of more comfortable and more economical living. In the building of new houses or the modernizing of existing houses, there are so many needs that Celotex Plaster Board alone will competently fill that it is today an indispensable product.

Industry endorses Celotex Wall Board as insulation—so if you are planning to build a new house or if your house needs modernization and insulation and you want to be assured of solid comfort, fuel saving, and lasting durability and beauty, talk with us about Celotex Wall Board—We will be glad to give you an estimate on the cost, based on your needs.
