NEATNESS

The pupils of school age should know what to do and what not to do in order to keep things looking neat and tidy. Although we know what most of the things are that make the appearance of a place look untidy, we absent-mindedly throw papers on the floor and mark on the seats and walls. Some of these things are done just for the purpose of passing away the time and could be prevented if we would stop to think what other people who come to the school house or our homes would think about our character.

It does not take any more effort to refrain from doing these things than it does to do them. We are taught to be neat at home and we should be neat in school. After all, school is the same as a home. Everything has to be bought and the more we pupils break things up the more it will cost to repair the damages. This falls back on our parents, for they are the ones who are making it possible for us to get an education.

Many pieces of furniture have been broken beyond repair just by our carelessness. If we had to pay for the repairing of all things that were broken by us, then we would realize that it pays to be neat and careful about the things we do.

GUESS WHO?

In the Junior and Senior homes of Andover High School one finds many very interesting personalities. Among this group let's choose a young lady of about 17 years, who is always surrounded by a host of friends. Her bright sunny smile which is deposited here and there upon practically everyone whom she meets, has made her doubly famous as a cheerful person. I know of no person who can say that this sunny disposition thinks "she is ab ut it!" She truly has a winning way of doing everything.

The personality and character far outshine any of the rest of the class, and have been discussed by practically every girl in high school. How they envy her! She is courteous, frank, straightforward and kind to everyone. This Senior Miss has never been known to discuss a teacher's fault to the extent that most of us do, or to be discourteous in any way to a faculty member. One, on hearing her cheery "Hello" and seeing her wholesome smile, would never suspect her of being unkind to anyone. She is always the same to everyone, no matter whether they are rich or poor—one of these rare persons who is able to make everyone feel at his or her ease. You never hear her indulging in a great deal of "malicious gossip" with someone concerning somebody else. There is no two-sided way in anything that she does. Her willingness to help others must be included in the list of her outstanding characteristics. As for basketball "she's in it!" But not as a forward. No, she plays guard with her pal.

Now, for the real clue: When she is seen coming down the hall on a cheery, bright Monday morning, carrying her assignment notebook in her left hand every member of the Hi Herald staff moves and moves quickly! They even hide if it is possible to call trying to crawl into one's locker hiding. She hands out the Hi Herald assignments. You surely know this famous person of A. H. S.!

ANDOVER BEATS

FRIENDSHIP 33-24

The fighting purple of A. H. S. beat a fast Friendship team in the last league game of the season on the local court last Friday night by a score of 33-24.

During the first half, many missed baskets, and frequent fumbling of the ball by both teams marred the game. Andover was on the large end of the score at the half, 10-9.

In the second half Andover settled down and started to go through Friendship's defense easily, at the same time holding Friendship down to a few points. In the third quarter Andover drew away from Friendship by a barrage of baskets which put Andover far in the lead.

The entire Andover team played a good game.

This is the last league game for Andover unless Angelica gets tipped off in one of its two remaining league games. Should this happen Andover will be tied for first place. In a preliminary the Andover second team defeated the Friendship second team by a score of 13-6.

HOBBIES

Have you a hobby? Many people when asked this question have to stop and think "Have I really a hobby?" And nine times out of ten he answer is this—"Is doing such and such, called a hobby?"

Hobbies are the means of our pleasure and leisure moments. There are innumerable types of hobbies and some are most strange and fascinating. For example, President Roosevelt, in his spare time, collects pictures of old ships. This must be a truly interesting as well as educational pastime. It can be imagined that by this time Mr. Roosevelt has quite an interesting collection of old ships. Another famous man collects pictures of famous composers in his spare time. Not only noted men have hobbies, however. A street singer in New York reads ancient literature for his pastime. Hobbies can be both educational and interesting at the same time.

Why not have a hobby? It is something of which you can be very proud. You can develop your hobby to the point where other people will be discussing you and your wonderful collection of old papers, pictures, books, and the like. It is truly something worthwhile and presents a great deal of idleness. It also provides a certain goal. You can set a standard for your collection of some certain article and "pat yourself on the back" when you have reached the limit. Try this and discover for yourself how truly worthwhile a pastime can be!

!! The Spotlight !!

'Elo folks! 'Ow are you? I 'opes you are hall feeling fine. (I've been listening to the Henglish 'ouse-keeper in the Senior play.)

Leave it to the Freshmen to do something dumb. What do you suppose they did? On the day that it began to thaw, they started planning a sleigh-ride. And after all the snow we've had, too. But of course there was a stretch of zero weather. Well in the end they didn't go because they couldn't find any wheels to put on the bobs.

I went to the Senior dance Saturday night and it turned out to be a grand affair. I overheard one of our post graduates exclaim at the door as he came in that he would look the crowd over before he came in. Who said it? Why, there's only one person on the face of the earth who would say it—I might tell you that he was escorting Regina Lynch. For the benefit of those who weren't there, I might also tell you that George Joyce and Charlotte Cook were together. Bruce McGill was escorting Rita Dean and Marilla Ianson was with Don Joyce. Eddie Kemp brought Gertrude Dean (that isn't the first time I've seen them together, either.)

Besides taking the chance of breaking our necks every time we stepped outside this week, we've been having five-weeks tests. Woe is me! You know, when I become president, that's one thing I'm going to declare unconstitutional.

Did you say that the girls were to play Hornell Friday night? I won't believe it until I see it! It's only been postponed three times.

K. Vars, why don't you "fermez la bouche"? Don't bother R. Lynch any more, and talk to some "fem" that will listen to you. Such as C. C?

Eddie Alderson couldn't get any girl to go to the senior dance with him. He even went to Wellsville to get one. Such luck "Red."

Anna Mitchell certainly does like to be called "Aunt Anna."

So, Thelma Callaghan and Jackie Greenan are often seen together?

Henry Antan gave Charlotte C. a recipe with directions on how to become a blonde like he is. Better tell us all, Henry.

Well, well—Basil R. you certainly did make a hit with the "fems" who were visiting us Monday, even if you did get a calling down by Miss O'Connell.

"Jo" Baker had a box of candy out in her locker and someone ate it up. Are you the guilty one, Elbert?

Ray Briggs is a very stubborn little boy. "Ray" you mustn't talk back to Mr. McGee like that.

Why didn't "Don" O. ask the out of town girls to visit the general science class?

Yours,
