SUNSHINE

By Beatrice Sly

How much better it makes us feel to get up in the morning to see the sun shining than to get up to a gloomy, showery day! The sunshine has a tendency to make us feel cheerful and gay, while on dreary days we're very apt to be grouchy and rather discouraged.

There are two kinds of sunshine. One is the sunshine which is the shining light and radiance of the sun, regarded either as passing thru or filling the air. This kind of sunshine, we all know, does not and can not appear every day. As that is so, some days must be dark and dreary and we should therefore adapt ourselves to them.

The other kind of sunshine is that which has an enlivening or cheering influence. This is not produced by the sun but is brought about by people themselves. The particular thing about this kind of sunshine is that no matter when or under what circumstances, it CAN appear. It can shine during dark and stormy days, at night or at any time. Notice, I said "CAN" and not "DOES," for it doesn't always shine under these circumstances. When people do not give off rays of cheerfulness, they make the days which are naturally sunshiny seem storm and disagreeable.

Those with bright and sunshiny faces have a great influence on the people about them. It effects them in the same way that the sunshine produced from the sun does. It cheers them up and takes the gloom out of the day for them. For this reason, since it is impossible to have the one kind every day, we should all do our part in seeing that the sunshine which we ourselves bring about, gleams three hundred and sixty five days a year.

"WE LEAD — OTHERS FOLLOW"

By June Babcock

Now that it is so near graduation time, the subject of a class motto comes up. This year's class chose "We Lead; Others Follow." Now, let's see what prompted it to choose this motto:

The first thought that comes, is that this class is graduating and there will be other classes to follow. Some people may think the class chose this motto because of its content and vanity. But the latter is not so.

"We Lead; Others Follow," shows the high aspirations and ambitions of the class.

It wants to be great so the school can be proud of the class of '36. The class is small, but it has lived up to and will continue to live up to the goal set for it. When this class entered high school it was told to be "Quality, Not Quantity."

So you can see how perfect the goal "Quality, Not Quantity" fits in with the motto "We Lead; Others Follow."

HOW 'M I DOIN'

Continuing the series of suggestions by J. C. Wright, Home Director, Senior High School, Keokuk, Iowa, of Common-Sense Conduct and Fundamental Manners for High School Pupils, we offer the following this week, and are glad to state that the majority of our students already observe the suggestions here offered concerning—

- "Manners in the Halls"
1. Keep to the right and pass quickly and quietly.
2. Watch where you are going to avoid collisions.
3. Remember to apologize if necessary.
4. Step to the side of the hall and speak quietly instead of shouting at a distance.
5. Keep the halls clean by placing candy wrappers, apple cores, and similar refuse in the wastepaper baskets.
6. Do not deface or mutilate the walls of the building.
7. Keep your lockers locked and clean.
8. Boys, do not leave your hats in the halls.

PLAYGROUND FIXTURES DELIGHT YOUNGSTERS

The school children of Andover were greatly delighted at finding brand new playground apparatus awaiting them upon their return to school following the Easter recess. A long line of children could be seen awaiting their turn for a trip down the 16-foot slide. A healthy group of older pupils were enjoying the thrill of a ride on the Merry-Go-Round and realizing that it takes hand and arm muscle to hang on. A group of little tots and some not so little were amusing themselves on the four-beam teeter, and many, both old and young were eyeing longingly the 10-foot swing frames, the proper parts for the swings not having arrived yet.

Among those who were particularly delighted were the 30 or 40 younger pupils who bring their lunch each day. A playground period, under the supervision of a teacher, is provided for these pupils.

GRADE OPERETTA TO BE APRIL 28th

The grade operetta, "At the Rainbow's Edge," under the direction of the music instructor, Miss Leona Marsh, is to be presented Tuesday evening, April 28th at 8:15 p. m., and the admission will be 25c for regular admissions and 35c for reserved seats.

A matinee for children will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will also be short skits taken from the operetta presented in both the grade and high school assemblies Friday, April 24th at 9 o'clock.

These young people have been working for some time on this colorful presentation in which Jack Frost and his helpers make unsuccessful attempts to keep spring from coming and to prevent the growth of flowers "At the Rainbow's Edge."

ALFRED GLEE CLUB

The Alfred University Men's Glee Club under the direction of Professor Ray Wingate, is to be the main feature of the assembly program Friday morning, April 24th at 9 o'clock.

This Club has made personal appearances thruout New York State, and has broadcast from Radio City. Their coming here will, therefore, bring great pleasure to the students of Andover High School.

WE NEED YOU!

The editor wishes to thank those who have shown school loyalty in contributing suggestions and articles for the Hi Herald. From the contribution box we have published two editorials, humorous items, news for the Spotlight, poems and numerous other things. So you see, it is really worth your while to drop items in the box. Ideas for the improvement of the paper or school or appreciation of the same would be welcomed. There has not been as much material as is available and it is hoped that more students will use the talents they possess in behalf of their school—that they may be proud of its publication.

LIBRARY FINES

Bringing back library books on time is the personal responsibility of each individual who has and uses the privilege of borrowing books from the school library. If the privilege is abused, naturally a slight penalty must be exacted, as keeping books overtime deprives others of the use of them. It is hoped that the following people will tend to the paying of their fines as soon as possible:

Philip Lynch, Edna Fairbanks, Donald Joyce, George Joyce, Maxine Crandall, Leo Fulkerson, Donald Dean, Leo Baker, Kenneth Vars, Raymond Briggs, Charles Spicer, Gerald Dolan, Marjorie Nevel, Louis Fulkerson, Regina Richardson, Anna Mitchell, Bernadine Briggs, Charles Burgett, Gertrude Schoonover, Gerald Wahl, Donald Lynch, Kaliopi Karcanes, Helen Dean, Leo Nobles, Laura Backus, Catherine Barber, Donald Edwards, Mary Greenan, Beatrice Sly, Fred Ellis, Marian Swartz, Charlotte Cook, John McDonough, Bernice Conrad, E. Teribury, L. Teribury, Lester Regan, Orville Measler, Donald Hardy, Alan Tuttle, Bernice Cooper, Josephine Baker, Sybil Winchell.

!! The Spotlight !!

Well, here I am, after a nice long rainy vacation.

Joe McAndrew, will you ever grow up? Taking a certain Senior girl's bracelet! The idea! Ask Bea Kruger if she knows Peter! (Don't let her kid you, for 'tis only Peter Rabbit.)

I believe the Spotlight will have to take some action. The action will be to allow the Juniors and Seniors to have a playground during school hours. That might give the youngsters a chance at the school's newly acquired and popular equipment.

I noticed some of the high school girls came back with their hair all "frizzed up." I guess they have the "spring fever" all right, all right!

K. Vars has been stepping out with Miss Conley these days. Will you ever settle down, Ken? Such a fickle man!

Boy, if you want to see something that is really something, be sure and come to the grade operetta on the evening of April 28th. It is going to be "swell elegant."

Something terrible happened the other day, folks. I broke my Spotlight. All of which being the case, I won't be able to see as much. It will therefore be necessary for you to help a person in distress by letting me know of anything that happens thru the contribution box in the library. Write up the funny things that happen around school and let us all in on the fun. Thanks!

What is the younger generation coming to? I saw Tommie O'Hargan, Richard McAndrew and the younger of the Karcanes girls out strolling around the other night. And they aren't even in high school. I didn't think you could learn bad habits 'til you got in high school.

Ida C. seems to enjoy her Sunday rides on her boy friend's bicycle. I also notice Marion B. enjoys riding.

The Junior play is now under way and it promises to be good, so don't forget to make a date to see this rip-roaring comedy.

I hear the Athletic Association is having a dance. George is thrilled—why? Because he's taking Char-lotte.

Don D. and Gertie seem to be turning their affections to each other again.

Now that summer is coming, we see many fair couples waiting the streets—Maxine and Leo leading the gang.

Boy! The girls' basketball pictures were a knock-out! Just ask the boys!

I wonder how some of you spent your Easter vacation? I noticed Charlotte stayed home to keep Eddie company.

I hear Ray and Laura are going to the dance a week from Friday. Am I correct, children?

The Ianson girls seem to have quite a fancy for rings. How many have you got now girls?

Lester can hardly wait till Social Hour so he can dance with Veronica Lynch. Nice going, Regan.

There will be more dirt next week—but you'll have to help me dig it.

—THE SPOTLIGHT—

GUESS WHO?

Yes, and it's a lot of guessing you must do if you discover this person's identity!

Take a peek into the Freshman home room (just for fun) before the bell rings. The first thing you find is laughter, everywhere. Then you uncover the cause for all this boisterousness. He is quite small in stature, possesses a squeaky voice whose tone quality rivals that of the soprano section of the Girls' Glee Club! (Don't tell Miss Marsh this, please.)

His is a shock of light, yes, almost white, hair. One may distinguish him from those about him (may he be hidden), by merely noting the strange "brogue" which gives to his voice a very youthful characteristic. Practically all the larger boys (there are no smaller than he) delight in playing pranks on him, but he is of the sort that never gets angry.

Now for the real clue—he imitates "Tommy" Donsey of the famous Dorsey Bros. orchestra. "Tommy" plays the trumpet, and likewise does (?)

Answer to last week's Guess Who—Jean Millsap.

BEST SPELLERS TO COMPETE FRIDAY

Pearl Goodrich and Betty Greene, best spellers in the grade department of Andover High School, will journey to Belmont Friday evening, April 24th, to take part in the county spelling contest sponsored by the Buffalo Evening News. The winner of the county contest will enter the Western New York contest at Buffalo and the winner of that will be awarded a free trip to Washington.

The two local winners were determined by a spelling contest held in the eighth grade room, April 7. The two alternates are Betty Jo Ludden and Fred Ellis, both of the seventh grade, who won third and fourth places in the local contest.

Dr. Robert B. Gordon Appointed New Director For Allegany School

The appointment of Dr. Robert B. Gordon of the Botanical Department, Ohio State University, as new director for the Allegany School of Natural History, was made in connection with the announcement that July 5 thru August 22 are the dates for the tenth season of the school. Dr. Gordon has been a member of the school's faculty during five of the nine previous seasons.

The school, which is called "The School in the Forest," is in Allegany State Park, New York, and makes it possible for advanced students and for beginners with little or no experience out-of-doors, to study under experienced naturalists in the field.

A copy of the announcement for 1936, giving full details, is available upon request, and application for registration may be filed with Harold T. Clement, registrar, Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences, Buffalo, N. Y.

Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook Orchestra at Coliseum, April 26

As a special spring feature, the Coliseum ballroom at Ceres, has contracted for the appearance of Frank Dailey and his Meadowbrook orchestra of 15 artists, for a dance Sunday, April 26th. Frank Dailey, who is heard six times weekly over the Columbia Broadcasting coast to coast network, will bring his orchestra direct from the Meadowbrook Club, located in New Jersey, across the river from New York City, just for this particular engagement.

With the orchestra will be Ann Davies, incomparable singer of the air waves, and the present sensational feature at the Meadowbrook Club. Frank Dailey has been the star attraction at this club now for six years, leaving it only to play a winter's engagement at the McAlpin Hotel in New York City. He has never been on tour, consequently it is a distinct pleasure for the Coliseum to be able to offer their patrons the only engagement of this orchestra outside of the metropolitan district. The orchestra, after concluding their engagement at the Coliseum, will leave immediately to return to New York City.

The management of the Coliseum announces the engagement of Jan Garber and his orchestra to appear at the Coliseum May 10. This will be the only single engagement of this orchestra enroute to Catalina Island in California, where they will appear for the summer.
