CO-OPERATION

How many of us stop to think about the word "co-operation"? It means a great deal, but to some people nothing. People who co-operate seek for better profits and dividends of life—just as the community and your parents give you opportunities and enjoyments in your school or home. They have been making an investment in hopes that you will co-operate and bring yourself big dividends in the end, as well as a promoter to the community.

To do this co-operation is necessary and has to be carried out. If you co-operate with people, business affairs, politics and other affairs of the community, you are looked upon as a worthwhile citizen who in co-operation is trying to help the community as well as yourself.

How many of you do co-operate? Do we do it in a way that you like to do it or as social pressure? Perhaps most of you because you like to boost your community as well as making profits for yourself and seeking more knowledge to help you understand more thoroughly, co-operation.

PEP

During the next two weeks of school we will have to know all that we have studied this year. To some of us this will only mean a chance to refresh our memories of the things that we have been over earlier in the year. To others it will mean that they will have to study harder than they have before in order to pass their examinations or Regents.

A person can accomplish a great deal in two weeks time if he only tries, and if he puts enough pep in his work, he will not have to be afraid of not passing.

It is very easy for some to say that they will wait until the day before the exams and then briefly review the subject, but this does not always work out. If you try to cram all the contents of a subject in your mind at once you will be more liable to fail your exam.

You have to know everything about the subject you are going to take at least a couple of days before the final test in order that your mind will be clear. By doing this you will be able to go thru your examination with pep and vigor and your chances of passing will be much better.

Don't wait until the last minute—learn all you can now while you have a chance.

ANDOVER REPRESENTED

AT ENDICOTT MEET

Two representatives from the Andover track team, Joe McAndrew and Don Lynch, entered the Enjoie Interscholastic Meet at Endicott on Saturday, May 23rd and succeeded in scoring five points, to place Andover eighth out of the 16 schools in their division.

Joe McAndrew finished third in the 100 yard dash in an exceptionally close finish and placed fourth in the 220 yard event. Lynch made a strong finish in the half mile to capture third place and jumped 18 feet 9 inches for fifth place in the broad jump. Both boys received medals for their third place efforts.

This track meet is considered to be the best scholastic meet in New York State and attracts the outstanding athletes in this section of the country.

Among the schools represented were Schenectady, Albany, Binghamton, Brooklyn Tech, Syracuse, Scranton, Ithaca, Endicott, Corning, Johnson City and many others. The feature of the meet was the breaking of the world's record for the interscholastic mile, which was run in 4 minutes, 24.4 seconds.

Both Lynch and McAndrew deserve a great deal of credit for the fine showing made against outstanding competitors.

This week Friday afternoon, the Andover track athletes will enter the Allegany county track meet held at Wellsville. Winners of this meet will have the privilege of entering the sectional finals at Rochester, June 6th.

GUESS WHO?

Perhaps you haven't seen this girl, but I have no doubt but what you've heard her. She can be heard at all times of the day from all parts of the school building. This girl is in the Junior home room. She has dark, curly hair (a permanent, I think). She is a very jolly sort of person, for which reason her friends are numerous. Another favorable characteristic of this girl is that she is very frank and outspoken, which is something that most people like. She is ———, well that's up to you.

Answer to last week's Guess Who—Jean Baldwin.

CONVENTION OF PRESS

ASSOCIATION IN BUFFALO

Saturday, May 23, 1936, the convention of the Western New York Interscholastic Press Association was held in Hotel Statler, Buffalo. This convention is held twice yearly for the purpose of improving the amateur journalism in the Western New York High Schools.

The representatives from Andover High School who attended this convention were Miss Mary L. Day, faculty advisor for the Hi Herald and Jean Millsaugh.

Students chosen from various schools in Western New York told in a very interesting manner the problems which confronted them in the editing of their school paper and how they overcame their difficulties.

Some of the helpful suggestions given by these students were:

Faculty Editorials, at least once a month, persuade a faculty member to write an editorial.

Surveys—Ask the various students in the high school such questions as: What they wish to do when they graduate; their opinions on certain school projects, and organizations. These and many other interesting questions may be asked them and a truthful, sensible answer must be given. Then, particular stress was placed on original humor, how much more humorous and funny it is if it is original. Get things that happen in and around school—witty remarks and the like. These go over big with the general public. Then, too, cut out so much of this slander. Have gossip, but have it fresh, not stale.

These and other helpful suggestions given will be used in the Hi Herald the remainder of the year and next, for the purpose of making more interesting our school paper.

As Andover's school paper is printed in the town paper, it is impossible to receive a prize from the association, although high credit may be received for it.

At the convention many fine examples of school newspapers, school magazines and mimeographed editions were shown, proving that "it can be done."

HOW 'M I DOIN'

The following, taken as have been the previous articles of this series, from "Common-Sense Conduct and Fundamental Manners for High School Pupils," by J. C. Wright, can be applied to not only baseball at the present time—but daily classwork, coming examinations and everyday life:

Sportsmanship

"If you can't learn self-control, fair play and clean sportsmanship, try 'solitaire,' where you can fight and cheat the 'dummy'."—Selected.

A good sportsman plays fair. He does not cheat, but plays the game hard, according to the rules. He treats his opponents with courtesy. When he plays in a group game, he plays not for his own glory, but for the success of the team. In his work as well as in his play, he is sportsmanlike, generous, fair and honorable.—Remember:

"When the one great Scorer comes to write against your name, He writes not that you won or lost, But how you played the game!"

Also remember the words of Edgar Guest:

"They may sound your praise and call you great;

They may single you out for fame; But you must work with your running mate.

Or you'll never win the game; For never the work of life is done By the man with a selfish dream; For the battle is lost or the battle is won

By the spirit of the team."

!! The Spotlight !!

Here's to you once more, with the news flashes of the past week.

Well, as you all must know, tonight and tomorrow night are the nights of nights, for 'tis the nights that the Junior play, "The Arrival of Kitty" is to be presented.

I stepped in to the matinee yesterday—no, I'm not a grader—but as I was saying, I stepped in to the matinee yesterday and saw the play. And say, that is some play. For goodness sakes don't miss it. It's very humorous. All you girls would like a husband, had better come and see how Leo Fulkerson gets Hilda Clarke a husband—(girls are always looking for just such suggestions). It might help you boys, too!

While we're on the subject of the Juniors, they have finally decided on the date for their prom. It's to be the third of June. So all you guys and youse'gals had better get your tux and long dresses out of the moth balls.

Thru this column, the whole school wishes to congratulate Donald Lynch and Joe McAndrew who highly represented Andover at the track meet at Endicott, Saturday.

Instead of saying "nice going, boys," I think it proper in this case to say "fast going, boys."

Say, those of you who haven't should see the smile that Johnny C. gives James Lynch in the fifth period study hall. I can't figure out whether they are smiles of affection or whether it is something about James' face.

Can you imagine Eddie Kemp making love to Alan Tuttle? Well, you just venture up to the Junior play and you'll see just such a thing in reality.

The children who are in the kindergarten class are well taken care of while on the playground by the two old maids, Neval and Greene.

It seems that some of the high school boys had a chill Friday noon and started a fire in the boys' dressing room by burning a pair of basketball trunks. Quite dangerous, boys.

Well, I guess the Girls' Glee Club must have gotten along all right at Houghton, for I haven't heard tell of any rotten tomatoes or anything having been thrown.

Here's something very amusing that happened this week—Cleon P. was misbehaving in citizenship class the other day. Mrs. Joyce told him if he didn't quit making such noises that he would have to come up and sit with her. Yes, Cleon is a Junior this year. (I sometimes wonder.)

George and Helen, I think, after having been sent out of Harry's the other night, you'll refrain from making such noises. Not only in Harry's, but in the Sophomore home-room.

"Dreaming—Just Dreaming"—Katherine Barber, while dreaming, fell down out in the hall the other day. Giving her a penny for her thoughts, I learned that "Vic" Yannie was occupying her mind.

Clyde, you seem to have a very good time during the seventh period study hall, talking to Dolores F. Yours until Mary Etta quits chewing gum.

BOE ZECKELY COLUMN

Dear Boe:

If your supposedly good advice doesn't help me this time, I'm going to swear off all females forever. I am a forlorn junior, and, as yet, my luck has not changed. I asked a very attractive freshman to go to a basketball game one Friday night, but one of my rivals (a Junior), beat me to it. I am very unhappy. Can't you give me some encouraging words.

One Who Doesn't

Want to Give Up.

I have advised you many times before and have almost run out of advice. I am sorry about your bad luck. It isn't because you're not good looking; it might possibly be because of your bashfulness. Also, I would watch that rival, because the Friday night incident didn't look good, did it? Wishing you success with your problem,

Handshake Is an Ancient

Gestures of Friendliness

The handshake is an outgrowth of the old caveman custom of extending the right hand, the weapon hand, unarmed, as evidence of peaceful intentions. It is an instinctive gesture of friendliness, and it carries the same significance today, writes Helen Bartlett in the Chicago Tribune.
