Sunday School Lesson

By REV. CHARLES E. DUNN

The Macedonian Call.

Lesson for Oct. 4th. Acts 16:6-15.

Golden Text: Matt. 28:19.

After a short visit in Antioch, Paul set out on his second missionary tour, taking Silas with him. Passing thru Syria and Cilicia they came to Lystra where Paul found Timothy, an attractive youth whom he persuaded to accompany him.

Upon reaching the harbor of Troas in the northwestern corner of Asia Minor, not far from the scene of the Trojan war, Paul had a dream in which he saw a man from the province of Macedonia, across the Aegean Sea, begging for help. It has been surmised that this Macedonian was none other than St. Luke, the beloved physician, who apparently joined Paul's party at Troas. However this may be, Paul at once answered the call, crossed the sea, and landed at the important city of Philippi, situated about ten miles inland. Its inhabitants enjoyed Roman citizenship, spoke Latin, and lived under Roman law.

Apparently Philippi had no synagogue. So Paul went down to the river bank and preached to the women who liked to gather there to bathe and to pray. His first convert was a prosperous woman, Lydia by name, who hospitably entertained Paul and his companions in her home.

It is significant that a woman should be the first person in Europe to be won to Christ. Christianity, we must remember, brought to women a more honorable standing and gave them greater freedom.

It would be hard to overestimate the services rendered by the Christian faith to the gentler sex. In the time of Jesus it was the custom to expose female babies to die at the hands of the pitiless elements. What a far cry it is from this barbarous habit to the deference, sympathy and consideration manifested everywhere toward women today! It is not too much to say that Christ has emancipated woman from the brutal thralldom of a pagan past.
